POOR LAW (ABLE-BODIED PAUPERS).

RETURN of the Number of Men and Women in each UNION WORKHOUSE of England and Wales, on 1st March 1865, who were not Disqualified by any Mental or Physical Infirmary from Earning the fair Average Wages of ABLE-BODIED Persons in the Class to which they belong.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,

AGRICULTURAL PARISHES.

RETURN to Two Orders of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 27 February and 6 March 1865;—for,

(ORDER, 27 February 1865.)

RETURN “showing the Names of the 821 AGRICULTURAL PARISHES stated as having decreased in HOUSES and increased in POPULATION between 1851 and 1861, and the Counties in which such Parishes are situated.”

(ORDER, 6 March 1865.)

RETURN “showing the Number of INHABITANTS and INHABITED HOUSES in each of the 821 AGRICULTURAL PARISHES stated as having decreased in HOUSES and increased in POPULATION between 1851 and 1861, in each Census from 1801 to 1861.”

NOTE.—The President of the Poor Law Board has furnished me with the names of the parishes comprised in this list as being those supplied by Dr. H. J. Hunter in relation to a Report made by him on the house accommodation had by the rural labourers in different parts of England, and which will be found appended to the Seventh Report of the Medical Officer of the Privy Council, about to be laid before Parliament. Parts of parishes are sometimes named separately in the Census Report, and in a few instances Dr. Hunter appears to have treated such parts as separate places. It should also be observed that Dr. Hunter's table includes all houses whether inhabited or not.

The places included in this Return are parishes, excepting where otherwise indicated. The letter T. after the name denotes that it is a township; TY., that it is a tything; C., that it is a chapelry; and H., that it is a hamlet. In all cases where a parish or township has been divided for registration or other purposes, it is here given entire.

GEORGE GRAHAM,
Registrar General.

BRADFORD UNION, YORKSHIRE.

LETTER from the Clerk to the Guardians of the Bradford Union to the Poor Law Board.*

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Bradford, 26 April 1865.

I BEG to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 3d instant (No. 10,998—1865), enclosing copy of an Order of the House of Commons made on the motion of Mr. Ferrand, and requesting that I would furnish your Right Honourable Board with the particulars called for by such Order.

In reply, I regret to have to report to the Poor Law Board that the nature of the Order is such that I am compelled to state that it is altogether impracticable for me to comply with it with any degree of accuracy.

In the first place, the Return extends over a period of 16 years, requiring the same particulars for each of those years.

To enable me to give anything like an approximate return would require that I should devote more time than the probable length of the present Session of Parliament would allow.

It would require that I should analyse the case of every applicant for relief during the 16 years, probably in the whole numbering upwards of 100,000; these applications are contained in about 150 books, each comprising about 200 pages; and then when I have gone through the whole of these books I should find that in very many instances the "callings" of the paupers are not given, yet the terms of the Order require me to specify their different callings. Supposing the several callings to be ascertained, the Return next requires that the amount of relief, as well in-door as out-door, to paupers of those several callings should be given; this would require reference to another 150 books, and the case of each individual pauper being found and referred to, and so far as the in-door relief is concerned a calculation would be required of the cost per diem of each pauper, and the total number of days that the paupers of the several callings were in the workhouse during each half-year, and then a calculation made of the cost of relief of the in-door paupers of such different callings, so that your Right Honourable Board will see that it would be necessary to go through every application book and take in writing: First, the name of each applicant during the 16 years; second, the calling of each applicant, and then refer to the relief list, and having found the name to take the amount of relief afforded, or if the pauper be an in-door one then to refer to the in-door relief list and take the number of days and work it out by the cost of the whole inmates during each half-year.

The documents in my possession do not enable me to answer the question as to the rate in the pound; the overseers of the several townships have greater facilities for obtaining information on this head than the Board of Guardians, but I do not feel myself justified in asking them to devote the great length of time and labour which would be entailed upon them in searching for and working out the rate in the pound for those 16 years.

I am sure your Right Honourable Board will give me credit for being at all times ready and willing to comply with any order emanating from the Poor Law Board, and that I would not have been induced thus to reply to your present application had I not felt that I was asked to do what was utterly impossible and impracticable for me to comply with.

LETTER from the Clerk to the Guardians of the Keighley Union to the Poor Law Board.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It appeared on referring to the number of books for the period stated that they were of the aggregate thickness of upwards of five yards, and in some of them many of the "callings" of the applicants were not stated.

THOMAS GEORGE BARING.

— No. 1. —

The Coroner for the Lynn District of the County of Norfolk to Sir George Grey, Bart., M.P.

Sir,

The Plain, Lynn, 25 March 1865.

I AM coroner for the Lynn district of the county of Norfolk.

The very large parish of Emneth is within that district.

The surgeon to the Union complains to me of the great mortality amongst children under six months old in that parish; and he attributes these deaths to the mothers of the children refusing them nourishment.

Fine healthy children wither and die without any disease, and in some instances surgeons out of the district have certified the cause of death, and the Registrar has thereby been misled.

Mr. Maynard of Wisbech is the parish surgeon, and my informant.

The Rev. J. Berryman is rector of the parish, and he has, as I am instructed, in vain denounced the conduct of the inhuman mothers to whom I have alluded, from the pulpit.

I have promised Mr. Maynard that if any surgeon out of the district again certifies the cause of death of any infant in Emneth which the parish surgeon believes to have died from starvation, I will have the body exhumed and subjected to medical and chemical examination. In the meantime I have felt it to be my duty to call your attention to the matter. It is a remarkable circumstance, that although Emneth is one of the largest parishes in my district, I have not been called upon to hold an inquest there for two years until last Tuesday, when I held an inquest upon two children who were unfortunately killed by a cart wheel, in consequence of the horses running away with the cart.

For several years I found that many children died in Emneth from the indiscriminate use of “Godfrey’s Cordial,” and inquests were very frequent.

But, fortunately, I put a stop to its use by recommending verdicts of manslaughter in two or three instances.

I shall be happy to receive your advice and assistance in trying to suppress the inhuman practices above referred to.

I have, &c.

The Rev. J. W. Berryman to Sir George Grey, Bart., M.P.

Sir,

Emneth Vicarage, Wisbech, 3 April 1865.

My attention having been called to the statement of Dr. Brady in the House of Commons on Friday night, alleging "an enormous amount of infant mortality" in this parish, I beg leave to enclose an analysis of burials I drew up some time ago, by which you will see that the facts of the case have been very much exaggerated. At the same time I am bound to say that I am very strongly of opinion that an unusual proportion of infants are lost in this place through the neglect of the mothers.

In some cases I fear a stronger word may be used, but I hope not in many. The temptation to field work in these parts is very great, and then it is that infants are neglected, either by being left at home without the mother when constant nursing is needed, or by being exposed with the mother to all sorts of weather in the fields.

I have also reason to fear that cordials containing opium are much resorted to in these parts as a remedy for all ailments, and to lull the cries which are the necessary consequences of neglect.

I need hardly say that I have done what I could to bring moral and religious influence to bear upon this great evil, and I hope some improvement has been made.

But when I tell you that until my appointment to this living in 1859 there had been no resident clergyman within the memory of man, and no school, you will understand that the present generation of mothers has grown up under very unfavourable circumstances, ignorance and vice having been sadly prevalent with very little counteracting influence of any kind.

— No. 6. —

The Chief Constable of Norfolk to Mr. H. Waddington.Chief Constable's Office, Norwich, 5 April 1865.

Sir,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 29th ultimo, and to report, for the information of Sir George Grey, that, in compliance with your instructions, I have made enquiry into the alleged excessive mortality among infants in the parish of Emneth, in this county, as set forth in the letter from Mr. Wilkin, Coroner of the Lynn District.

I have had a personal interview with Mr. Wilkin, with Mr. Maynard the parish surgeon, and with the District Registrar of Births and Deaths, and I have been in communication with the Rev. Mr. Berryman, Vicar of the Parish, with the Guardian of the Parish, and with others. The Rev. Mr. Berryman has furnished me with some valuable statistical tables. These, with information, oral and documentary, received from other sources, leave no doubt as to the facts of the case, and show very clearly that the Coroner has been altogether misinformed.

According to a return of burials in the parish of Emneth for the last 20 years, it appears that the average number of those of children under a year old was in the following proportion :—

For the whole period of 20 years	-	-	-	34 per cent.
For the last 10 years	-	-	-	28 „
For the last 5 years	-	-	-	25·2 „
For the last 2 years	-	-	-	16·6 „

On examining the books of the Registrar of the district (comprising the parishes of Walsoken and Emneth in Norfolk, and Elm in Cambridgeshire), I found that the whole number of infants who had died under a year old were separately classed, but not by parishes. The average of infant mortality in the district during the last 20 years has been as follows :—

For the whole period of 20 years	-	-	-	30 per cent.
For the last 10 years	-	-	-	30 „
For the last 5 years	-	-	-	28·2 „
For the last 2 years	-	-	-	21·2 „

It is manifest, therefore, that during the last 10 years the mortality of infants at Emneth has been below the average of the district at large, and very different from the rate of 80 per cent., which the coroner has allowed himself to believe has been the true proportion.

It is stated that children have been suffered to die by the mothers refusing them their natural nourishment; that “fine healthy children wither and die without any disease, and, in some instances, surgeons out of the district have certified the cause of death, by which the Registrar General has been misled.” Mr. Maynard, to whom I was referred upon this point, instanced only two cases. The first was that of a woman named Barker, who has had three illegitimate children, all of whom have died. The cause of death of the last was certified by a surgeon out of the parish, for the probable reason, as Mr. Maynard alleges, that he had threatened the woman that if another child died, he should have an inquest on the body. The surgeon who gave this certificate, Mr. Fawcett of Wisbech, a gentleman of the highest respectability, on being applied to by me, asserted that he was ready to make oath that the child died of diarrhoea from natural causes, and that if it had been neglected he must have been aware of it. In the other case, that of a woman named Hicks, the child is still alive, but the parents are themselves in a state of great destitution.

There can be no doubt that Emneth has been for many years a neglected parish: until recently there was no resident clergyman and no school. Religious duties and moral obligations have not been much regarded, many mothers of families living in a state of concubinage. Their necessities compel the mothers to work hard, and work is only to be had on the land. As a consequence, young children are at times left without that care which, under other circumstances,

circumstances, they might receive. It is one of the evils attendant upon the condition of agricultural labourers, whose wages are low ; still, nowhere have I found it insinuated even, that the deaths of children in this parish are brought about by the administration of any noxious drug, excepting the general remark of Mr. Wilkin, that for "several years he found that many children died in Emneth from the indiscriminate use of Godfrey's Cordial, and inquests were very frequent." In the same paragraph that gentleman says, "I have not been called on to hold an inquest there for two years." Mr. Maynard, the parish surgeon, states unhesitatingly, "If there be any fault it is one of omission, not commission."

Finally, I cannot discover anything at all calculated to excite suspicion in the number of deaths among children in Emneth. For the last two years they have been little more than 16 per cent. of the whole mortality. I would say that the parish is steadily and satisfactorily improving, and I am satisfied that nowhere have the coroner's remarks excited more surprise than in Emneth itself.

* There are only two beds in each ward. The calculation upon which the return forwarded to Mr. Farnall, a month since, was based upon the supposition that two of the beds in the male wards are large enough to accommodate three persons, thus making accommodation for 14 persons; that five of the beds in the female wards are large enough to accommodate two persons, so that 11 persons could be accommodated. There are five male wards and three female wards.

It will be seen by the annexed Return, that it is a very rare occurrence that the vagrants admitted exceed the number for which accommodation is provided.

Mr. A. O. Charles to the Secretary of the Poor Law Board.

Reformatory and Refuge Union,
26, Suffolk-street, Pall Mall East, S. W.
14 March 1865.

Sir,

REFERRING to the Order of the House of Commons of the 10th February last, for a Return of certain particulars as to the working of the “Metropolitan Houseless Poor Act, 1864,” I beg to enclose, for the information of the Poor Law Board, a similar Return concerning some of the Night Refuges in London.

I have, &c.
(signed) A. O. Charles, Secretary.

To the Secretary of the Poor Law Board.

2.—THE Number of Persons of each Sex admitted during the Month of January 1865.

	Males.	Females.	TOTAL.
Dudley Stuart Night Refuge - - - - -	1,867	1,376	3,243
Field-lane Night Refuges - - - - -	1,736	2,474	4,210
Houseless Poor Asylum - - - - -	9,309	5,506	14,815

Ratcliffe Cross Night Refuge - - - - -	1,000	- - - - -	1,000
	16,778	10,805	27,583

Details as to the number accommodated on each night of the month are given in pages 3 to 5.

- 3.—THE Number of Persons who have applied for a Night's Lodging during the Month of January, and have been refused, with the ground of refusal.

Dudley Stuart Night Refuge.—About 20, drunk and disorderly.

Field Lane Night Refuges.—No account is kept of the number of applications after the Refuges are full, which (excepting by mistake in counting) has been during the whole year. The number of applications, however, for lodging after the Refuges are full have been very numerous, especially on the part of females.

Houseless Poor Asylum.—None have been refused except where the applicants have applied too frequently.

Newport Market Night Refuge.—126 males and 55 females have been refused admission during the month, chiefly on account of the Refuge being full; a few cases however have been refused on the ground of having been in the Refuge a short time previously.

Ratcliffe Cross Night Refuge.—Not any.

- 4.—THE Nature and Amount of Relief given to Persons admitted.

Dudley Stuart Night Refuge.—Bread, gruel, and coffee.

Field Lane Refuges.—The object of the Refuge being to give shelter, and restore the inmates to the occupation they have formerly followed (where upon investigation there is good character), clothing is given. The men sleep on a wooden bed, with a rug to cover them. During the three winter months they have bread and coffee night and morning, and during the remainder of the year bread and water. There is an enforced use of the lavatory night and morning. The females have bread and coffee night and morning throughout the year. Those who have characters are supplied with clothes and sent to domestic service.

Houseless Poor Asylum.—A waterproof bed and leather covering in a large apartment heated and well ventilated. Half a pound of bread at night and half a pound in the morning, and on Sundays an extra ration of bread and three ounces of cheese for the Sunday's dinner to all who wish to avail themselves of it. In addition to which, gruel and gruel and brandy are given in cases of exhaustion, by medical direction, also simple medicines to relieve urgent symptoms; but cases are not treated medically. When cases are sufficiently developed to require it, they are sent to institutions appropriate to their respective natures. They are admitted for seven nights, and after a fortnight's absence are eligible for re-admission, where the reasons assigned for the application are deemed satisfactory.

Newport Market Night Refuge.—A hammock bed of cocoa-nut matting 22 inches wide, with a strong grey rug. Eight ounces of bread and half pint of coffee at night, and the same in the morning.

Ratcliffe Cross Night Refuge.—Eight ounces of bread each.

- 5.—THE Nature of the Labour required from them in return; its duration, the number of exemptions from such labour (if any) during the said month, and the grounds of exemption.

Dudley Stuart Night Refuge.—No labour required.

Field Lane Refuges.—The cleaning of the Dormitory, &c., in turn, repairing their own clothing and boots, for which purpose material is provided. The majority of the males requiring to leave at the early hours of four, five, and six o'clock to find work, to detain them would prevent their getting employment, and any detention for labour in the morning would, as a rule, keep the men from finding employment at the various markets, and in most other cases where this class of labour is concerned. If a test is to be applied, it would as a rule be willingly supplied, if the inmates could do the work overnight, so as to be ready to seek early employment. The men who come here are found most anxious to get work. For women it is more difficult to help them, and their stay is longer. Idlers do not like the fare.

Houseless Poor Asylum.—No labour is required for the relief given at this Institution.

Newport Market Refuge.—No labour test.

Ratcliffe Cross Night Refuge.—No labour required.

By the same Act the maintenance of Pauper Lunatics in Asylums was cast upon the Common Fund. The annual cost of such maintenance, amounting to 395,985 l., is not included in the above column (a). If this sum is added to the cost of Irremovable Paupers in 1864, the ratio will be increased from 36 to 42 per cent., or double the ratio of the charge on the Common Fund in 1855.

N.B.—The total expenditure for relief in Unions for the year ended Lady-day 1864 was 4,835,953 l., of which 2,468,508 l., or 51 per cent., was charged to the Common Fund. This latter sum includes Salaries and Establishment Charges as well as relief.

dated 9 February 1865;—for,

COPY “ of REPORT of Robert Rawlinson, Esquire, C.E., to the Right Honourable
C. P. Villiers, M.P., President of the Poor Law Board, on the subject of the

Poor Law Board, }
February, 1865. }

HUGH OWEN,
Chief Clerk.

REPORT of Robert Rawlinson, Esq., C.E., to the Right Honourable C. P. Villiers, M.P.
President of the Poor Law Board.

Office of Public Works, St. Peter's Square,
Manchester, 25 January 1865.

Sir,

I HAVE again the honour further to report to you, that on the expiration of the borrowing powers provided by these Acts, upon the 1st instant, the total sum appropriated by the local authorities of the district is 1,846,082 l. The total amount devoted to the purposes of these Acts being 1,850,000 l. (1,500,000 l. Act 1863, and 350,000 l. Act 1864), there remains an unappropriated balance of 3,918 l.

Table I. annexed to this report shows that the 1,846,082 l. above referred to has been taken up in 155 separate loans. This Table also includes the names of the boroughs, townships, and districts to which loans have been ordered, the local authority from which the application has issued, the date of the Board's order, together with a statement of the character and estimated cost of the public works which it is proposed to execute by means of loans under the provisions of these Acts.

Table II. shows the total amount granted to each place, the amount of separate loans, the amount of instalments advanced, the date of advance, together with the residue at the call of each placé, to be paid over as the works progress. The total amount already advanced is 805,802 l. The total residue to be advanced, as the works progress, is therefore 1,040,280 l.

Table III. shows the quantities of the sewerage, street, and highway works, together with the cubical contents, in millions of gallons, of the reservoirs, all of works are to be executed and constructed in respect of the sums placed in the first three columns of Table I. With reference to the character of the works undertaken, the larger portion of the expenditure is upon sewerage and street improvement works, including the formation, paving, flagging, channelling, and kerbstones of streets, and also the widening, re-forming, and improvement of highways in the rural districts. Of the 1,846,082 l. ordered by the Board, 370,946 l. will be expended in the former, and 839,007 l. in the latter class of works. The length of sewerage works thus undertaken (exclusive of house drainage) is 534,445 yards, or about 304 miles. The area of paving, and other works of street and highway improvement, undertaken in respect of the above-mentioned sum, is 3,708,393 square yards, or about 766 acres; the total length of these streets and highways being 485,560 yards, or nearly 276 miles.

The cubical contents of the reservoirs forming the storage of the waterworks, which have been undertaken in respect of the sum of 414,629 l., is about 1,480,675,000 gallons.

Table IV. shows the number of men, distinguishing factory operatives from skilled labourers, who were employed upon public works during the week ending 31st December 1864, together with the amount of wages paid and average earnings of the factory operatives. The numbers employed are less than at the date of my last Report. Unquestionably they would have been considerably larger but that this return was taken for Christmas week, when the numbers were reduced by the holidays, and also by three or four days of severe frost.

The distribution of the loans is shown by Table II. to have been equitably made, although it was not possible entirely to control this, because the special circumstances of each district in some respects compelled the immediate sanction of proper applications as they were made. The following abstract refers to 14 places having municipal government, which have obtained loans to the aggregate amount of 1,272,858 l. The Table, as abstracted, shows the amount borrowed per head upon the population of each place, and also the amount borrowed in respect of every 100 l. of the rateable value of property assessed to the relief of the poor within the respective municipal boundaries.

The remainder of the sum appropriated, amounting to 573,224 l., which has been borrowed by 33 Local Boards of Health, 3 Boards of Improvement Commissioners, and 7 Boards of Guardians, will, I estimate, be expended among a population at the rate of about 1 l. 10 s. per head.

In former Reports I have made reference to the quantity of stone used in these public works, and the large amount of unskilled employment which the getting and conveyance of it afforded. With the exception of a very small quantity of Welsh and Scotch stones, the whole of the unsquared and a very large proportion of the squared and hewn materials used in these works have been obtained within the district. I estimate that the quantity of stone so quarried, squared, hewn, and used cannot now fall far short of 500,000 tons.

In regard to the execution of works for which the sum of 805,802 l. has already been advanced to local authorities, it has been found that the great demand for materials and for skilled labour has raised the price of both to the extent, on an average, of about 15 per cent., and where the employment of unskilled hands has been very great and wages liberal, that this has also increased to some extent the cost of the works.

On the subject of the works already executed, I have the honour to append reports from the local surveyors of several of the larger towns, where the operation of the Acts has been most extensively developed. Their concurrent testimony is valuable in respect to the operation of these Acts in the localities named.

The Surveyor of Ashton-under-Lyne reports, that "the necessity for these works cannot be overrated in a sanitary point of view;" and with reference to the 351 factory operatives employed by the corporation upon public works, he doubts if more than one-third of them will "return to the factory when this cotton depression ceases." The Surveyor of Oldham also states, that such was the condition of some of the streets and roads in that borough, "that the railway companies had absolutely refused in some instances to allow their horses and luries to pass over them." The Surveyors of Bury and Burnley both express an opinion to the effect that public works in those boroughs, necessary for the health of the population, must have been postponed for an indefinite period, but for the provisions of the Public Works Acts.

The Engineer to the corporation of Blackburn states, with reference to the very extensive public works which have been already executed in that borough, that "words can scarcely convey an idea of the change; however, it is most gratifying;" and the Borough Engineer of Preston acknowledges "the timely assistance rendered by means of the Public Works Act." The Surveyor of Stockport bears testimony "to the admirable manner in which the cotton operatives have executed their work;" and in this opinion the Borough Engineer of Wigan, with all the surveyors previously mentioned, gives a cordial concurrence.

Of the sanitary benefits of these public works I can report with the most hopeful confidence. The mortality of Lancashire has hitherto been about one-half per cent. above that of other portions of the kingdom. It has been estimated by very competent authority, that throughout the population of this district there have been yearly, on an average, some 14,000 "preventable" deaths, and probably not less than 400,000 "preventable" cases of sickness. No one familiar with the absence of drainage, or with the condition—the sometimes impassable and always unwholesome condition—of the street surfaces, which existed in most of the townships, and in portions of all the towns throughout this district, can doubt that the last success of these Acts and works will be plainly declared in the Registrar General's tables of mortality. Probably it will take some years for this improvement so to manifest itself. The reports of the borough surveyors appended to this Report, serve to show with what satisfaction the measure is locally regarded. With an experience confirmed by the continued testimony of the entire district, I can only repeat my opinion as to the benefits of the Public Works Acts.

The borrowing powers given to Boards of Guardians, and of which they have readily availed themselves, as far as practicable, for the execution of works under the provisions of these Acts, have rendered most valuable assistance in removing one great difficulty which had been experienced; namely, providing labour for the able-bodied poor. The prevention of pauperism, through the medium of these works, has, I am informed, been at the least to an extent of three times the number of men actually employed upon them; and, besides providing wages for the sustenance of from 30,000 to 50,000 persons, the value of the public works in preserving the health, energy, and independence of those employed, and, more indirectly, in fixing the attention even of those who were unemployed, has been and is very considerable.

The public works in Lancashire have served to prove that willing and intelligent men can soon learn a new occupation, when stern necessity forces them to it, and a fair opportunity is afforded them. It was said previous to this great trial that cotton factory workers were entirely unfitted for any other sort of labour than that of attending to machines, in heated factories, or of working at the loom. It was also asserted, that using the pick and the spade would ruin their hands and fingers, by destroying that delicacy of touch required in manipulating cotton thread. Experience, however, teaches the contrary, and further shows that, in a month or six weeks, the cotton worker's hands harden to rough out-of-door work, and breathing fresh air, under the excitement of a new exercise, helps to set the muscles, and speedily to strengthen both the appetite and the man's bodily frame. It must, however, be remembered, that this is not true of all factory workers, but only of a portion of them, and these the best, morally and physically. The public works executed in Lancashire have been in a great degree undertaken by volunteers from amongst the distressed factory operatives. That is, by men willing and wishful to escape from dependence on either the dole of charity or the taint of pauperism. The work has not been "test-work," and yet it has proved the most effective form of test. Willing men have accepted the work so soon as it has been offered to them, and they have striven to the uttermost of their ability to earn an honest and independent living at it. Unwilling men have moved away to some other district, or have managed to do without this form of labour, and thus the Local Relief Committees and the Poor Law Guardians were, for the most part, as effectually relieved from their presence as if they had remained at work. It will be, however, a great mistake to look on this Lancashire experiment as proving that large numbers of men may suddenly be turned from one occupation to another wholesale. This has not been accomplished in Lancashire, nor will it ever be practicable. Out of thousands of men involuntarily idle, hundreds only have had profitable work found them. This has indeed been brought as a charge of failure against the Public Works Act. The notion seems to have been prevalent that all the distressed men, as enumerated and published in the weekly returns, could and would be set to work at once, on the passing of the Act; and when this was seen not to be the case, a charge of "failure" has been made. The experiment of attempting to provide labour wholesale for large numbers (whole masses of men) was tried in Ireland during the years of famine, and utterly failed. If any similar attempt had been made in Lancashire, the failure must have been as palpable. If Government Engineers had been sent down to set out works on which to find employment for all the distressed men, the best and the worst alike, there could have been no choice, no independence, no emulation, so that the incapable, the unwilling, and the idle would have leavened the entire mass. Fortunately for this Lancashire experiment, the works have been divided and subdivided, so that men in small gangs could be employed, and there duly mixed with skilled workmen and entirely directed by local superintendence. The list of names of places in which works have been undertaken and are in progress, will show that the works are general over the entire area of the distressed cotton manufacturing district; and the reports by the several local surveyors also show that, in many instances, the progress of the several works has been quite as fast as it has been found possible to obtain suitable materials, stone-flags and bricks. Then, in street and road works, local traffic, in some degree, controlled the numbers of streets it was possible to take possession of and shut up at one time; and, in the formation of public parks, markets, cemeteries, and waterworks, where there was wider scope for numbers of men being employed, negotiations as to land had to take place, and then delay as to plans deferred active operations, so that this form of obstruction should not be charged to the Public Works Act. The local authorities have, for the most part, been in earnest in desiring to provide useful employment; and the local surveyors bear testimony to the great value of the several works undertaken, as also to the industry and good conduct of the men. I beg, also, to bear my testimony to the earnest and indefatigable zeal of the local surveyors in devising and setting out works, in making plans and estimates, and in teaching and in superintending the men. The Central Relief Committee have throughout rendered all the assistance required in the most prompt manner and practical form. An allowance, to supplement wages, for the first six weeks of training was made, with suitable warm clothing for winter wear, and waterproof boots for those men who were required to work with their feet in water. In my opinion, the public works in Lancashire have been a great success; but I also consider that all the contingencies must be taken into account. It will not be wise either to praise them extravagantly or to blame them unduly, but fairly to examine the experiment in its strength and in its weakness. The several reports by the local surveyors set forth and describe the extent and utility of the works undertaken.

I find, on comparing my estimates by the actual cost, that they are considerably exceeded, in consequence of the increased cost of material, occasioned by the great demand for these kind of materials in the manufacturing districts. Our employment of skilled labour will average about 110, and of cotton operatives about 130. These numbers would be considerably increased if we were not limited in our operations by the great scarcity of sets and kerbstones. The necessity of these works cannot be overrated in a sanitary point of view, nor their permanent usefulness lightly esteemed, as is abundantly proved by the very general satisfaction manifested by almost the whole of the inhabitants. The work is fully appreciated by the cotton operatives themselves, who thereby obtain remunerative employment; and I very much doubt if more than one-third of those we employ would return to the factory when this cotton depression ceases.

The Ashton and Stalybridge Waterworks are not under my immediate control; but for your information, I beg to state that there are employed at present 221 operatives, of whom not more than 12 are skilled; that the amount expended weekly will be about 107 l.; and that in a short time a considerably increased number will be employed as the work becomes more developed.

The works have been carried out in a substantial and satisfactory manner, and the factory operatives have exhibited a willingness and perseverance which has been most encouraging. They have throughout conducted themselves very well.

Future statistics will undoubtedly show the beneficial result of these works in a reduced local death-rate; present observation entirely confirms the opinion as to the effect they have in improving the domestic and social condition of the labouring classes. Properly to appreciate the greatly improved condition of this borough (Blackburn) through the operation of the Public Works Act, it is only necessary to inspect some of the newly sewered and paved districts, and contrast them with the state of those not yet so improved. Words can scarcely convey an idea of the change; however, it is most gratifying.

No other combination of circumstances but those arising from a vast number of able-bodied men being out of employment, and a great stimulus being given to the production of the required materials, could possibly, in so short a time, have accomplished so great and so beneficial a change—the completion of a perfect system of sewers, embracing upwards of 30 miles.* The drainage of dwellings in every locality, rich and poor alike—the paving and flagging of $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles of new streets—are results of the Public Works Act, without which these improvements would have been left undone, the population would have been impoverished, and the dead weight of the panic have been felt in all its severity; therefore, out of the evil of this crisis, there has come much and lasting good. To accomplish this has required united action, and the sinking of every minor point of difference; and in this borough there has been everywhere exhibited a willingness and heartiness which have not a little contributed to produce the good results attained.

P. S.—I may add, that at Great Harwood, Clayton-le-Moors, and other places for which I also act as Engineer, similarly favourable results have, in degree, obtained.

BURNLEY.

Borough of Burnley, Surveyor's Office,
17 January 1865.

DETAILS and PARTICULARS of Works carried out in this Town under the provisions of "The Public Works (Manufacturing Districts) Act, 1863."

Improvement and Sanitary Department.

In this department 44 streets have been put under notice to sewer, pave, flag, &c. Of this number 26 are finished, and the cost apportioned upon the respective owners, and the remainder are in progress. The sum expended upon this work is about 8,000 l., and a very large proportion (about three-fourths) has been paid in wages to working men in and adjoining the district. In this proportion I include factory operatives, labourers, quarrymen, boatmen, carters, pipe-makers, paviors, masons, &c. The excavating for sewers, and ballasting, &c., of streets, have in several cases been let to factory operatives, who have worked willingly and well, and earned, upon an average, 2 s. 4 d. per day.

Summary of Materials used.

Paving.	Flagging.	Kerbstones.	Sewer Pipes.	Street Gullies.
27,712 square yards	10,820 square yards	5,534 lineal yards	6,640 lineal yards	196 in number

* This refers to the complete system, now completed very nearly.

In sewerage the streets, all the old square flat-bottomed stone drains are taken up, and small-pipe drains substituted; every house is properly drained into the new sewers. The combined works of paving, flagging, and sewerage costs about 6 l. per cottage house, being an equivalent to nearly three-halfpence per week of additional rental, required to repay the owner of property for money expended.

Gas Department.

In this department a new gas tank has been constructed to contain 475,000 cubic feet, at a cost of upwards of 2,000 l. This was much required, as the storage capacity for gas was inadequate to the requirements of the town.

On this work about 12,000 cubic yards of excavating has been done entirely by factory operatives, and 575 l. 7 s. 9 d. has been paid to them in wages. The residue of the 2,000 l. has been expended on skilled labour (principally masonry), stone, other materials, and implements.

Water Department.

In this department, a covered reservoir at Walshaw Clough, and the laying of 3,300 lineal yards of iron pipes, have been completed. The works in progress consist of the construction of a compensation reservoir and other works at Lee Green; the enlargement of an old compensation reservoir, by raising the embankment, and preparing the seat of another compensation reservoir; the making of a flood watercourse to convey flood-waters past the two reservoirs above alluded to, into the compensation reservoir to be made at Lee Green. About 44,500 cube yards of earthwork have been executed in connexion with these works, as also a large amount of masons' work in constructing stone culverts, valve house, valve well, fence walling, &c. The money expended is about 5,900 l., of which sum about 2,800 l. has been paid for labour alone. The necessity of these works being proceeded with will be shown by the fact that at present there is only about 14,000,000 gallons of storage room for water in reservoirs for the use of the town, while within the district of water supply there is a population of near 40,000, and also by the fact that there are no means of separating the pure from the flood-water. This state of things will be remedied by the works in progress, ample storage room will be obtained, storm-waters will be passed directly to the compensation reservoirs, for the use of mill-owners, and the pure water to the town for domestic consumption.

These works, like the preceding ones, have been the means of employing a large number of men, such as factory operatives, labourers, carters, pipe-layers, and masons.

That the operations of the Public Works Act in this town have been beneficial no one can deny. For my own part, I cannot see what would have been done without the Act. Public works could not have been carried out by imposing additional taxes, which, during the depression of trade, would have been unjustifiable. To carry out private improvement works would have been equally so. The provisions of this Act, by advancing money at a low rate of interest, and deferring the repayment over a number of years, made these works possible. From the description already given of the works, it will be seen that they are entirely of practical utility, and possess the recommendation of improving the appearance and cleanliness of the town, as also the health and comfort of the inhabitants.

BURY.

Borough Surveyor's Office, Bury,
10 January 1865.

REPORT respecting the carrying out of the Public Works Act at this place since the commencement of operations in May last:—

WORKS EXECUTED.

Brick sewers	-	-	-	2,360 lineal yards.
Pipe sewers	-	-	-	1,910 „
TOTAL				4,270

Cost about 4,500 l., including all materials, implements, timber, and salaries.

I may mention that some portions of the main sewers have been very difficult to execute, on account of quicksands; but I am glad to state that the whole of the sewerage works have been executed in a most substantial manner, of the best materials; and, taking all into account, I think the estimates for this work will have been exceeded very little.

As to the unemployed operatives, I have found a great portion of them very willing and ready to work, and, after a few weeks' experience, they have generally turned out fair workmen; and there cannot be a doubt that the great bulk of these operatives would have had to have been relieved from either the guardians or some of the Relief Committees had they not been employed upon such works.

There is also another great fact, that the making of these sewers has relieved many of the undrained and unhealthy districts, which would not have been the case for years had not the Public Works Act been passed.

As to paving, very little has yet been done, on account of the ground over the sewers in the streets not having yet sufficiently subsided since the making of the sewers, but a large amount of materials have been got ready for this work. The amount of expenditure, under this head, amounts to the sum of 2,160 l., and nearly the whole of this sum has been expended in purchasing materials.

The draining of land for the cemetery is progressing, but great difficulties have had to be overcome in making the main drain, on account of the treacherous nature of the ground. The sum expended up to the 31st December last amounts to 9,300 l., and out of this sum 8,500 l. has been expended in purchasing the land, and in settling compensation claims, &c.

OLDHAM.

REPORT on the operation of the Public Works Acts, 1863-4, within this Borough.

Borough Surveyor's Office, Town Hall, Oldham,
11 January 1865.

I MAY premise that from the year 1826 to 1863 no additional powers had been obtained for the sanitary regulations of the borough of Oldham, and that at the latter period the town council felt themselves in no position to carry out, compulsorily, the works of improvement they desired to effect. This want of power on the part of the council accounts, no doubt, for the condition of the town, in a sanitary view, on my appointment in October 1863; that in August 1863 the council adopted some of the clauses of the "Public Health Act, 1848," and of the "Local Government Act, 1858," and the "Local Government (Amendment) Act, 1861," and took the necessary steps for carrying out the provisions of the "Public Works (Manufacturing Districts) Act, 1863."

At this time (1863) there were 1,204 streets and courts in the borough, 125 of which were highways repairable by the inhabitants, and in good condition; 1,079 were private streets and courts, none of which were wholly paved, sewered, or flagged; many of them, in bad weather, were almost impassable, and in some cases the railway companies had absolutely refused to allow their horses and luries to pass over them. Unavoidable accidents, delay, annoyance, and expense, not to be ascertained, were the results.

The borough was greatly in need of public sewers, as may be supposed from the fact that the town council have borrowed money under the last-mentioned Act for the construction of main sewers, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles in length, which are far from being sufficient for the full requirements of the borough. The sewers then in existence were not of a satisfactory character, either in size, depth, construction, or direction.

Though this condition of things is far from being remedied, the Table below, stating the works executed during the last 12 months, will show that the council have undertaken the work in an earnest and energetic manner, and that within a reasonable period the town will be greatly improved.

With regard to the description of labour employed in the execution of these works, and of those in the public park, Table No. 1, shows the number of skilled and unskilled workmen engaged at the dates specified; and though it is found necessary, for the direction of the cotton operatives, to employ skilled men in the cutting of trenches for sewers, especially in bad ground, yet I can bear witness to the patience, the perseverance, and the actual skill the operatives have displayed in carrying out work so trying to untrained men, and feel convinced that, should the necessity for their employment in this particular manner exist much longer, no distinction will have to be made between the skilled and unskilled workmen.

In the number of skilled workmen included in the last return, 10 are paviors, 22 flaggers, 4 bricklayers, 7 gangmen, 10 stone getters, and 60 labourers.

Table No. 2 shows the quantities of the various works executed, exclusive of those in the park; the number of men includes those employed in the park; and the amount of money expended includes that expended for materials and labour alone in the park, and in the carrying out of the other works.

PRESTON.

NOTES on Preston, and the Public Works Act.

BEFORE the adoption of the Public Works Act, the Local Board had executed main sewerage works at a cost of 49,414 l.; also private street improvements, namely, sewerage, levelling, and paving, 265 unadopted streets, at a cost of 26,477 l.; they had also drained 13,973 houses, at an average cost of 1*l.* 15*s.* each;* making a total exceeding 100,000 l. expended upon sanitary works alone. They had, moreover, expended nearly 100,000 l. in extending the waterworks which were purchased in 1853 for the sum of 135,225 l.

Notwithstanding the great extent to which improvement works in Preston had thus been carried, the Local Board were the first to avail themselves of the advantages offered by the Public Works Act. Desirous, in the first place, of providing, as far as possible, employment for the indigent cotton operatives, they were, moreover, desirous of completing the sanitary arrangements of the town, under the valuable provisions of the said Act. With these objects in view, on the 11th of August 1863 they applied for 28,500 l., to enable them to make additional street improvements, and to lay out two public parks comprising about 150 acres; and on the 7th of October 1863 they applied for a further loan of 19,739 l., to complete the private street improvements. All these works are now in progress, the expenditure up to the present time having been about 24,000 l.: namely, for improvements in public streets and roads, 9,500 l.; private street improvements, including formation of new streets on the corporation estates, 11,300 l.; and for laying out public parks, 3,200 l. Nearly one-half of these amounts has been paid in wages, and the remainder for materials.

The

* The addition to the rent of a cottage required to pay interest of money and to repay the capital, 35*s.*, in 30 years, will not be quite $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per week.

The greatly increased demand for paving sets, flags, and other materials, has retarded the progress of the works herein referred to.

The number of men at present employed under the Public Works Act is 320; and as only one of the public parks has hitherto been in hand, and as the corporation are now in a position to commence work upon the other (containing 120 acres), more men will shortly be employed.

The works now in progress are all works of permanent utility, but their accomplishment would have been deferred till a more convenient season had it not been for the timely assistance rendered by means of the Public Works Act.

STOCKPORT.

Borough Surveyor's Office, Stockport, 11 January 1865.

PARTICULARS of the Public Works executed within the Borough of Stockport, the Amount of Money Expended, and a Statement of Facts relative to the Quantity of Material used, and to the Labour Employed, both Skilled and Unskilled, up to the 5th of January 1865.

The total length of brick and pipe main sewers executed is $4\frac{3}{4}$ miles and 648 feet; number of street and house draining junctions inserted, 1,665; branch drains, $\frac{3}{4}$ mile and 540 feet; 312 gullies, 61 manholes, 49 ventilating shafts, flushing valves, and lampholes, at a cost 19,068 l. 14 s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., together with a sum of 2,373 l. 0 s. 7 d., laid out in general street improvements, purchase of property, &c.; making a total cost of 21,441 l. 14 s. 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. expended since the adoption of the Public Works Act in this borough.

The size of the sewers varies from three feet to two feet egg-shaped in brickwork to nine inches; pipes in glazed earthenware. The sewers are laid at an average depth of 15 feet below the surface of the streets; in many instances in quicksands and other treacherous ground.

The materials used have been of the best quality, and in all cases, in the construction of brick sewers, radiated bricks have been adopted, built in hydraulic lime and Portland cement, with inverts of glazed earthenware.

The average daily number of skilled and unskilled labourers employed during the whole period of the prosecution of these works has been 280 men, and out of this number only an average of 12 were skilled, the remainder being, with very few exceptions, cotton operatives.

The average earnings of the skilled men were 3 s. 10 d. per day, and of the unskilled 2 s. 2 d. per day.

I also submit the following particulars, showing how the money has been expended:—

In conclusion, I have much pleasure in bearing testimony to the admirable manner in which the cotton operatives have executed their work, and to the good order and regularity existing amongst them.

(signed) Alexander Taylor,
Borough Surveyor.

I AM enabled entirely to confirm the report of Mr. Taylor, Borough Surveyor, as to the conduct of the operatives employed upon the public works at Stockport, and generally to observe that the works in that borough have been carried out in a most satisfactory manner. The ultimate result must be greatly to improve the sanitary condition of Stockport. There yet remains a large amount of work to be done, including outfall works, and those connected with the disposal of the sewage. Plans and particulars of these are in preparation, and will shortly be submitted to the town council.

WIGAN.

Local Board of Health, Engineer's Offices, Wigan,
19 January 1865.

REPORT upon the Operation of the Public Works Acts (1863-64) in Wigan.

THE public works carried out under the provisions of the above Acts in Wigan are exclusively of a surface character, and refer to paving and flagging only, as the following quantities will show, viz. :—

Kerb or side stones	-	-	-	-	5,060	lineal yards.
Channel	-	-	-	-	4,371	ditto.
Block or squared stones paving	-	-	-	-	15,696	superficial square yards.
Boulder paving	-	-	-	-	6,013	ditto ditto.
Flagging	-	-	-	-	6,338	ditto ditto.
The amount paid for labour is	-	-	-	-	£. 2,574	s. 4 d. -
Ditto - ditto carting	-	-	-	-	764	12 3
					£. 3,338	16 3
Materials	-	-	-	-	5,339	15 10
Total	-	-	-	-	£. 8,678	12 1

About four-tenths of the amount paid for labour has been paid to the factory operatives. I do not find much difficulty now in securing a supply of squared paving blocks, kerb and channel stones, but considerable difficulty in obtaining the necessary quantity of flags; in consequence, our flagging is greatly behindhand.

The factory operatives, as a whole, have conducted themselves in a most exemplary manner, and I believe I can say that their attention, during working hours, has met with the approval of the ratepayers of Wigan generally.

The paving works are being carried on as quickly as materials can be obtained, and many of our streets, which were last winter unpaved and knee-deep in mud, are now well paved, and in a good sanitary condition; of course there are others that require attention as soon as it is possible to get at them. Many marked improvements have been made in widening and otherwise improving our streets, and probably no town in the kingdom, of the same importance, required so much to be done; much, however, remains to be done hereafter.

Waterworks.

These works, for increasing the supply of water to this town, were commenced in October 1863, and are progressing as favourably as could be reasonably expected.

I have for many years past urged upon the Local Board the necessity of carrying out these works, but the wet years of 1860, 1861, 1862, 1863, produced such an enormous flow of water into the present reservoir, that my calculations were considered by many members of the Local Board as fallacious; however, the drought of last year proved that there was undoubtedly a necessity for increased storage. When completed we shall have a storage of 38,000,000 cubic feet of water. The estimated cost of the works now in progress is 32,200 l., and a little over half this amount has been already expended. Owing to the peculiar character of the work, I have not been able to employ as many factory operatives as might have been expected, above one-half of the estimate being absorbed by iron castings, masonry, and brickwork, all requiring skilled labour for their production. The number of men now employed on the works, by day wages, is 140, and includes masons, bricklayers, carpenters, smiths, carters, and others; of this number 49 are factory operatives, earning on average, 2 s. 9 d. per day, a few of the handiest men earning 3 s. per day; none less than 2 s. 8 d. per day. Within the last four months about a dozen of the factory operatives have left the works, having obtained work at the collieries and other places, where I presume they are earning better wages. With very few exceptions the factory operatives have behaved well; and I feel sure a goodly number of them will never return to work in the mills unless the millowners can tempt them by giving higher wages.

The physical condition of the factory operatives is much improved—a glance is sufficient to show this—produced, no doubt, in a great measure, by the men working in the open air, instead of in the hot suffocating cotton-mill.

The public now seem alive to the wisdom of the Legislature in providing the means, at a moderate rate of interest, for carrying out public works of a beneficial character, particularly sanitary works, the present high rate of interest in the open market having no doubt materially added to the burdens of many local boards; and it is very desirable that the Legislature should continue the powers given to the Poor Law Board, or some other proper authority, to advance loans to local boards at such a rate of interest as will not cause any loss to the taxpayers of the kingdom generally.

It is gratifying to be able to say that all the works carried out under the provisions of this Act have met with the approval of our Local Board and with the public of Wigan also.

Borough Engineer.

COPY of the CORRESPONDENCE which passed last Year between the Poor Law Commissioners of Ireland and any Local Authorities in the County of Wexford relative to the Resignation and Re-election of a DISPENSARY PHYSICIAN for the District of Fethard in that County.

(No. 10,36164.)

No. 1.—EXTRACT from Minutes of Proceedings of the Board of Guardians of New Ross Union, on Wednesday, 18th May 1864.

Proposed by Mr. Byrne ; seconded by Mr. Maddock.

Resolved,—That the cases and statement brought forward before the Board this day by the Reverend Mr. Codd, P.P. &c., Warden, relative to the conduct of Dr. Biggs, be laid before the Commissioners, and their particular attention be called to same.

STATEMENT of the Reverend William Codd.

To the Chairman of the Board of Poor Law Guardians of New Ross Union.

Sir,

Fethard, County Wexford, 17 May 1864.

I BEG to call your attention to the constant complaints of the sick poor as to the gross neglect of duty towards them by the medical officer, Dr. Biggs ; this cry of complaint is universal from the two districts of Fethard and Templetown. I enclose two of the latest, the sickness having terminated fatally in both cases, the doctor refusing in both cases to treat the sickness seriously (insisting in the case of one of them, Kitty Doyle, that she had only eaten too much). In the beginning of the complaint, then, when the signs of death began to appear, he would not visit till it would suit his convenience. Typhus fever was the sickness in both cases. I beg to enclose the declaration of the facts in both cases, signed by the parties who are to prove the truth of the complaint.

The refusing to attend patients on visiting tickets is frequent. Thomas Doyle, of Boleyhill, was in fever 28 days ; the doctor went only once, though called again and again. John Ryan, of Fethard, two perches from the doctor's door, was seven weeks on his back in the bed, with rheumatism in the head, and never was visited only twice during the sickness. This man's wife went repeatedly for the doctor : on one occasion, being told at the front door that the doctor was not at home, she went round to the yard, and found him there ; but he would not go across the street to see her husband, he having got a visiting ticket for this case. These two cases occurred in or about last harvest.

This same cry of the sick poor about the gross neglect of duty to them on the part of Dr. Biggs reached the Commissioners in March 1861. They ordered an investigation, which investigation ended in a censure being recorded against Dr. Biggs by the Commissioners. The ink was scarcely dry when the following outrageous fact took place. A girl named Alice Walsh, of the Quay of Fethard, had the calf of her leg shot off. A messenger ran to the doctor, with visiting ticket in hand, but the doctor would not go. This girl, in that condition, had to go to the Dispensary, about an English mile, leaving a trail of her blood from her own door to the door of the Dispensary ; then, instead of curing the limb, it should be cut off. Why should it be cut off ? "The inflammation could not be got under, and it must go up into the body and cause death." Yet this very thing was done by this poor ignorant family which the doctor said was impossible ; by simply keeping a stream of cold water constantly falling on the wound, the leg the doctor would have cut off is sound and active to-day.

But there is another ground of complaint against Dr. Biggs, still more serious, in every one's mouth, man, woman, and child: the doctor is given to drink. When a man is always in the public-house, there is but one opinion, and every one has this opinion of the doctor; and, as a matter of course, a universal want of confidence grows out of this opinion. This universal want of confidence reveals itself by a public fact. All those who have a fee to give take good care not to give the fee to Dr. Biggs. A doctor from another district is called by all this class; even the coast-guard people, at his very door, call on another doctor. These certain extravagances, so completely at enmity with all the official ways of the profession, confirm this universal impression of the doctor being under the influence of drink.

For instance, last week, he went into the cabin of the Widow Fardy, of Gurtins, brought in his horse—her daughter, dying of consumption, was sitting at the fire—into the place where the girl was; then he took off his hat and put it on the horse's head, and then insisted that the horse should take off the hat and put it back on the doctor's head.

I have known him to do the same in the case of a fever patient in the crisis, and with empty out-house at hand. Also, some short time ago, he brought his horse alongside of the bed of a dying man, Patrick Kelly, of Corse, the room being about 12 feet by 10, while there was a set of empty out-offices a few yards off.

Yours, &c.

William Codd, P.P.

No. 1 Case, read by the Reverend William Codd.

"My wife, Kitty Doyle, took sick on Saturday, 26th December 1863; one side of face swelled and she became very hot and sick; the Monday following, December 28th, I was advised to send for Dr. Biggs; I was told it was probable she had scarlatina, as she was attending for some time a person who was very ill with it. I went on Monday, 28th December, to Mr. Murphy, of Ralph; got a visiting ticket for Dr. Biggs; I brought it to him about 11 o'clock a.m.; he came to my house that evening about 6 or 7 o'clock p.m.; I was not within at the time he came; I was told that he said she ate too much on Christmas-day. I did not hear him saying this myself; he left word for me to go to Fethard that night for medicine; I did so; he gave me two small powders with directions to take one of them that night and the other in the morning; she did so; they produced no effect either for the better or worse, as far as I could find out. This was the only medicine he gave or sent; I am quite certain of this; in the meantime she was growing gradually worse; seeing this I went for him myself on Wednesday, 30th December, about 9 o'clock a.m. He said he would come but that he should go to another place first; he came about 8 o'clock p.m. on the same evening; I was in bed when he came; I don't know what he said, but he left no medicine; my wife was gradually sinking still; I went for him again on Friday, New Year's-day, about 11 o'clock; he said he would not come nor send medicine; he said medicine would make her calloused,* and make her lose her teeth. He kept his word; he did not come nor did not send medicine. Dr. Long was visiting Mrs. Barden of Casso, who was bad with scarlatina at the same time, and from whom I suspected my wife took the same. Dr. Long, I say, was visiting her; on Wednesday, 29th December, he was asked by one of Mrs. Barden's family to go see my wife; he did so and pronounced her to have the scarlatina. But to return to Dr. Biggs, I sent Michael Parle for him again on Sunday, 3d January, about 3 o'clock, as my wife that day became exceedingly bad; the doctor only began to make fun of him; however, he came that night about 7 o'clock; he said she had typhus fever, ordered her wine, and came the next morning about 8 o'clock, but she was dead; she died about 7 o'clock the same morning.

"I am prepared to prove to every sentence of the above on oath, when required.

"Little Graigue, 3 May 1864."

Case No. 2.

"My daughter, Catherine Devereux, alias Mrs. Handrick, took sick about the 1st April last; she was obliged to stop in bed on Monday, 4th April. I got a visiting ticket to bring the doctor from Mr. Murphy, of Ralph, on Tuesday, 5th April. I brought this ticket to Dr. Biggs, on the same day, about 10 o'clock a.m.; he came to my house about half-an-hour afterwards, saw and examined my daughter; he was asked what was the matter with her; he said, in my hearing, that she had only a cold, and that there would be no fear of her; he also told us to send him word on the Thursday morning following how she would be; she became a great deal worse on Wednesday, and Wednesday night she was very bad. On Thursday morning my wife, Mary Devereux, went to Fethard for the doctor; about nine or ten o'clock on Thursday morning, 7th April: the doctor said he could not go to see her, as he

* Sic in orig.

he wanted to go to Arthurstown to sessions; she asked him would he come when he would come home on the evening; he said he did not know whether he could or not, that he had too many places to go. I think it would not be more than a mile or a mile and half longer for him to go by my house to Arthurstown than to go the direct road from Fethard to Arthurstown. My wife came home immediately, and when she came home she saw for the first time spots out on my daughter's whole person. In the meantime, my daughter was growing worse, sinking more and more, becoming quite heavy and stupid. On the evening of the same day, Thursday, April 7th, I was advised to go for the doctor again, as it was said that the doctor would scarcely say then that it was a mere cold she had, because the spots on her person indicated something more; I went immediately to Fethard; about seven o'clock I saw the doctor lying on a sofa in his own parlour reading a newspaper; I asked him to come and see her, that her life lay in his hands, as there were spots out on her; I am not certain whether I said spots or a rash, but it was spots I meant. He said he would not go that night. He came the next morning, Friday, about half-past ten o'clock; he brought her some powders; did not say what was the matter with her: he did not visit her any more; left no instructions; she died on Sunday morning, 10th April, at the hour of about 1 o'clock.

“ Saintstown, 3 May 1864.”

Ordered, that in reference received of the Fethard Medical district on the subject of John Sinnot's case, the guardians request the Commissioners to order a sworn inquiry to be held at Fethard, County Wexford, and also to include the general conduct of Dr. Biggs, and that due notice be given to all parties concerned or required.

COMPLAINT of John Sinnot.

I, John Sinnot, was attacked on first week of November last with erysipelas in the head; called for the Doctor Biggs by a ticket on Friday same week; doctor attended, gave two powders, promised to attend the next day; did not attend; a messenger reminded him twice of the disease increasing; he said he would come, and did not any more, but totally abandoned me to the disease, which he declared to be a dangerous case.

Dr. Biggs' Reply. (Dated 9 May.)

To the Committee of Management.

Gentlemen,

IN reply to the charge brought against me by John Sinnot, of Fethard, for neglect of duty, I beg to state I have done my duty for him in accordance with the requirements of the case.

(signed) H. S. Biggs,
Medical Officer, Fethard Dispensary District.

COPY of Resolution of Committee of Management.

Resolved, That the statement of John Sinnot, charging Dr. Biggs with neglect, together with Dr. Biggs' answer thereto, be forwarded to the Commissioners; and the Committee wish to add, that from the long period that has elapsed from the time the alleged neglect is said to have taken place and the lodging of the complaint, a period of five months, they consider the complaint should have been lodged long since. And they are of opinion, that in future all complaints against medical officers should be lodged with the Committee within one month after the occurrence.

Gentlemen,

I HAVE the honour to inform you that, in pursuance of the instructions conveyed in your letter, No. 10,361, of the 23d ultimo, enclosing papers relating to charges preferred by the Rev. Mr. Codd against Dr. Biggs, one of the medical officers of the Fethard Dispensary District in New Ross Union, I held an inquiry at Fethard on the 2d and 3d instant into the charges referred to. At the termination of the proceedings on the second day, the investigation was, at the request of Dr. Biggs, and with the concurrence of the Rev. (No. 13,569/64.)

No. 4.—REPORT from Dr. Hill to the Commissioners.

2, Morehampton-terrace, Donnybrook,

6 July 1864.

Gentlemen,

ADVERTING to my letter of the 6th ultimo, on the subject of an inquiry commenced by me on the 2d ultimo, into charges preferred by the Rev. W. Codd, P.P., against Dr. Biggs, one of the medical officers of the Fethard Dispensary District in New Ross Union, I have the honour to inform you that on the 23d ultimo, pursuant to adjournment, I resumed the inquiry, and concluded it on the following day. I beg leave to transmit to you the accompanying minutes of evidence taken by me at the inquiry, and to return herewith the papers which were forwarded to me for my information.

The complaints preferred by the Rev. Mr. Codd against Dr. Biggs, as contained in the minutes of proceedings of the Board of Guardians, on the 18th May, involve charges of neglect of duty in numerous instances, and of indulgence in habits of intemperance, whereby the medical officer is alleged to have forfeited the confidence of the inhabitants of the district.

The first complaint of neglect of duty has reference to the case of a woman named Catherine Doyle, in which the Rev. Mr. Codd states that the medical office officer refused to treat the patient's sickness seriously, insisting that she had only eaten too much, though the disease proved to be typhus fever, terminating in death.

In this case, it appears from the evidence of John Doyle, that his wife, Catherine Doyle, was taken ill on the 26th December last; that he obtained a visiting ticket on her behalf, and presented it to Dr. Biggs on the 28th December; and that the medical officer visited her on the same day and supplied her with medicine; that on the 30th December, Doyle went again to Fethard for the medical officer, and that Dr. Biggs visited the patient that night, but did not order anything for her. It also appears that on the same day, the 30th December, Dr. Long, medical officer of the Arthurstown portion of the Fethard Dispensary District, at the request of a private patient whom he was attending, visited Catherine Doyle, and found her suffering from low fever and a very badly ulcerated throat. He prescribed for her, and directed her husband to go for Dr. Biggs, who, he was informed, was attending her. Doyle states that as Dr. Biggs did not return, he again went to the Dispensary on New-year's day, and asked him to visit his wife or send her some medicine, and that he refused to do either, saying that the woman wanted no medicine, that she would become "calloused" and lose her teeth. On the following Sunday a messenger, named Michael Parle, was sent for the medical officer, and the latter visited the patient about six or seven o'clock that evening. He said she had typhus fever, and ordered wine for her. On the next morning, about sunrise, Dr. Biggs again went to see her, but she had died at seven o'clock, about half an hour before his visit. Doyle states that in his presence Dr. Biggs never said that there was nothing the matter with his wife but having eaten too much.

With reference to this complaint, the medical officer states that he visited Catherine Doyle on the 28th December, the day on which the ticket was presented to him, and found her suffering from fever; that he ordered her powders composed of calomel and James's powder, and that he did not visit her again until the 3d January. He states that during the interval between his visits he had been informed by one of her neighbours that she had been seen by Dr. Long, of Arthurstown. He also states that he has no record or recollection of having visited her on the 30th December, as deposed by her husband, or of having been requested by him to do so either on that day or on New-year's day, and he denies having, in any conversation with Doyle, made use of the expression "calloused," or of anything like it. On the evening of Sunday, the 3d January, a man named Parle came to him and requested him to go and see Doyle's wife, and he went the same evening, and ordered her wine; and he states that on the following morning he again went to see her; but she had died about half an hour before he reached her house.

The second complaint of neglect of duty is in the case of a woman named Catherine Handrick, who, it is alleged, died of typhus fever on the 10th April last, the medical officer having on his first visit informed her friends that she had only a cold, and having subsequently refused to visit her until it suited his own convenience.

It appears from the evidence of William Devereux, father of the deceased woman, that his daughter Catherine Handrick was taken ill about the 1st April last. A few days subsequently, on a Tuesday, he obtained a visiting ticket and presented it to Dr. Biggs; and it appears that the medical officer visited the patient in about an hour afterwards, and left medicine for her use, telling her friends that she was suffering from a heavy cold, and directing them to let him know on the following Thursday how she might be. Accordingly on the following Thursday, between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning, Mary Devereux, the patient's mother, went to the medical officer and informed him that her daughter was worse, that she was sinking, and asked him to go and see her. She states that he replied that he could not go to see her daughter, as he was going to the sessions at Arthurstown, having been summoned thither. On her return home she observed spots on her daughter's body, and in the evening her husband went again for the medical officer. William Devereux states, that on that occasion he saw Dr. Biggs and told him that his daughter was worse, and that her mother had observed some spots or a rash on her body. The medical officer said that he was not able to go, that he was too ill with a cold and too wearied, but that he would visit her the next day: to which, Devereux replied that he did not think he would find her alive. On the following morning, Friday, about 10 o'clock,

Dr.

Dr. Biggs went to see Catherine Handrick and left medicine for her; and on the next day her father went to Fethard for a liniment, and told the medical officer that she had a choking in her throat and that he did not think she would live, but did not ask him to see her. The medical officer gave the liniment as requested, but did not again visit the woman; she died about two o'clock on the following morning, having been seen only twice by the medical officer during her illness.

In reply to this charge, the medical officer states that on the 5th April last he received a ticket to attend Catherine Handrick; that he visited her on the same day, and that he did not again see her until the 8th April. He states that on the morning of the 7th the patient's mother came to him and asked him to go and see her daughter, and that he told her he could not, as he was going on a summons to the sessions at Arthurstown; that on the evening of the same day William Devereux came to him and requested him to visit his daughter, but that he did not, having just returned from the sessions and being unwell. He states that on the following day, the 8th April, he visited Catherine Handrick, and found her ill with fever and ordered wine for her, and that he did not go to see her again.

In the third charge, a man named John Synnot reports to the Fethard Dispensary Committee in the following terms:—"I, John Synnot, was attacked in the first week of November last with erysipelas in the head. I called for Dr. Biggs by a ticket. On Friday in the same week the doctor attended and gave me two powders, and promised to attend on next day. He did not attend, and a messenger reminded him twice of the disease increasing; he said he would come, but did not attend any more; he totally abandoned me to the disease, which he declared to be a dangerous case."

It appears from the evidence of John Synnott, who lives in the village of Fethard, that he was taken ill with erysipelas of the head. He states that he got a visiting ticket for the attendance of Dr. Biggs, and that the medical officer visited him on the same day and gave him two powders, promising to see him again on the following day. Synnott states that on the following day he sent two messengers for the medical officer, but that the latter never went near him afterwards. Synnott did not, according to his evidence, make any further application to the medical officer, but placed himself under the treatment of a woman "who was acquainted with erysipelas," who cured him in about three weeks. Mary Synnott, wife of John Synnott, states that Dr. Biggs visited her husband on Friday, the day that she gave him the ticket; that on the next day, as he had not returned according to his promise, she went to him twice, and that on each occasion he promised to go down after her, but never went; and that on the following day, Sunday, as he did not come, she sent for an old woman about the place, who attended her husband every second day until he was cured.

As regards this charge, Dr. Biggs states that he has no record of any visit to John Synnott, except his first visit; but that he is positively certain that he attended him two or three times afterwards, and he thinks he visited him on the day that his wife came twice for him. He states that he continued his attendance upon Synnott occasionally for four or five days until the disease, which was erysipelas of the face, was beginning to subside.

The fourth charge has reference to the case of a young man named Thomas Doyle, residing at Bolyhill.

In this case the Rev. Mr. Codd states that the patient was ill in fever 28 days, and that the doctor went only once to see him, though called on again and again.

It appears, from the evidence of James Doyle, that his son, Thomas Doyle, was taken ill on the 10th June 1863, and that a few days afterwards he obtained a visiting ticket on his behalf, and presented it to Dr. Biggs. He states that the medical officer came to see his son on the same day, but never visited him again; that he afterwards went several times for the doctor, and requested him to come and see the boy, and that every time he asked him to come the medical officer promised to do so, but never went. Thomas Doyle states that Dr. Biggs, on the day that he visited him, told him that his stomach was out of order, and desired him to send to the dispensary for medicine, at the same time giving him instructions for the regulation of his diet. He also states that on that occasion he was lying on a bed placed on the floor, with a form by the side of it, and that the medical officer stumbled over the form, and fell across the bed upon him; that that he "got a heavy smell of drink off the doctor at the time," and had reason to think that he was drunk.

The medical officer states, in explanation, that he received a ticket dated 22d June 1863, requiring him to attend Thomas Doyle; that he visited him on that day; that the case was one of dyspepsia; and that he did not consider it requisite to see him a second time, and has no recollection of having been requested by the young man's father to visit him again. He denies positively that he was in a state of intoxication when he went to see Thomas Doyle, and declares that he did not fall over a form, or across the bed, but thinks he knelt down on one knee to feel the patient's pulse, as the bed was on the ground.

In the fifth charge, the Rev. Mr. Codd states that "John Ryan, of Fethard, two perches from the doctor's door, was seven weeks on his back in the bed, with rheumatism and a nervousness (?); was visited only twice during the sickness. This man's wife went repeatedly for the doctor. On one occasion, being told at the front door that the doctor was not at home, she went round to the yard and found him there; but he would not go across the street to see her husband, he having got a visiting ticket for this case."

From the evidence of John Ryan, it appears that he was taken ill about 12 months ago, and that, a ticket having been obtained on his behalf, Dr. Biggs attended him on the day that it was presented to him, and supplied him with medicine. The medical officer, it is stated, did not go again to see him for three or four days, and not until Ryan's wife went for him twice. Ryan states that he was 11 weeks ill, and that he cannot tell how long Dr. Biggs was attending him; but he declares that he came to see him only four times altogether. Ryan's wife states that, one day, when she went for the doctor, she was told that he was not at home; but that, on going round to his back door, she saw him standing there, and that on that occasion the medical officer followed her to her house and saw her husband; and that when he came in he annoyed her very much by saying that the house was stinking. It appears that Dr. Biggs insisted on the windows being opened and the patient's head stripped; and Ryan declares that he caught cold and got a pain in his head which has never since left him. He also states, in the first portion of his evidence, taken on the 2d ultimo, that the doctor was so violent in his manner on the occasion of his second visit, when he opened the windows, that he thought he was under the influence of drink, but never thought so at any other time. Mary Ryan also states, in her evidence of the 2d ultimo, that she thinks the medical officer must have been drinking, or he would not have said that the house was stinking, and that she was killing her husband; and she adds that, though Dr. Biggs annoyed her at his house, by not coming to her husband when she went for him, he never annoyed her at her own house, except on that occasion. When the inquiry was resumed on the 23d ultimo, these two witnesses were again brought forward by the Rev. Mr. Codd, and John Ryan swore that he had seen Dr. Biggs tipsy on two occasions in his (Ryan's) own house, when he was not attending any person in it; and Mary Ryan swore that, one evening she saw the medical officer really drunk in her house during her husband's absence; that he was staggering, and that she smelt liquor off him; that he came to her house and wanted to fight her little dog with his stick, and frightened her so very much that she went upstairs and cried. She also states that she had often seen Dr. Biggs tipsy in the street.

In reference to this charge, the medical officer states in his evidence that on the 9th June 1863 he received a ticket to attend John Ryan, and visited him on the same day. He visited him, he thinks, about three times, though only his first visit is recorded in his attendance and prescription book. He states that Ryan was suffering from debility, and mental depression caused by pecuniary difficulties, and that on the first day that he visited him he had an altercation with Mary Ryan about opening the windows. He states the atmosphere in the house was very impure, and that as she refused to open the windows, he expressed himself angrily and annoyed her by saying that "in so stinking a place he had never put his foot." But he declares positively that he was not under the influence of drink at the time, and that he knows nothing of her statement that he wanted to fight her little dog one evening. He also states that he thinks Ryan's wife asked him about three times to visit her husband, and that he went on every occasion.

In the sixth charge, it is alleged by the Reverend Mr. Codd that "a girl named Alice Walsh, of the Quay of Fethard, had the calf of her leg shot off. A messenger ran to the doctor with a visiting ticket in hand, but the doctor would not go. This girl, in that condition, had to go to the dispensary, about an English mile, leaving a trail of her blood from her own door to the door of the dispensary. Then, instead of curing the limb, it should be cut off. Why should it be cut off? The inflammation could not be got under, and it must go up into the body and cause death. Yet the very thing was done by this poor ignorant family which the doctor said was impossible : by simply keeping a stream of cold water constantly falling on the wound, the leg the doctor would have cut off is sound and active to-day."

It appears from the evidence of Alice Walsh, that five years ago last March she was shot in the calf of the leg; that her uncle obtained a visiting ticket and took it to Dr. Biggs, and that the message which he brought back was that she was to be sent up to the doctor, for that he could not come to see her. She states that she had to get a car and go to the dispensary, and that her leg was bleeding all the way; that the medical officer dressed her leg at the dispensary, and she then returned home. That night Dr. Biggs visited her at her own home, and, as she states, told her he could do nothing for her wound, and that she would have to go to the Wexford Infirmary, and that her leg would have to be cut off. According to her evidence, Dr. Biggs attended her at different times from the 24th March until the day of the regatta at Fethard, which, it appears, took place about the end of June or beginning of July; but she states that he never did her any good; that she was going on two sticks when he left her, and that it was nearly a year and a half before she recovered the perfect use of her leg. She also states that while Dr. Biggs was attending her she never thought he was tipsy or that he had been drinking. The Reverend Percival Weldon, rector of Fethard, states that he assisted Dr. Biggs in dressing this girl's wound, and that the medical officer bestowed much care and spent a considerable time in the process. As regards this charge, Dr. Biggs states in his evidence that, on the 24th March 1859, he received a ticket requiring him to visit Alice Walsh; that having ascertained from her uncle, who brought the ticket, the nature of the injury, he requested him to have her brought to the dispensary, because he could obtain therein all the appliances which might be requisite. He states that her uncle made no objection, and that the girl was at once brought to the dispensary on a car, and her leg was dressed. He visited her at her own house that evening, and continued his attendance upon her almost daily for about two months, and subsequently up to the time of the regatta. He states that he did not at first recommend amputation, but advised her removal to the Wexford Infirmary, telling her friends that amputation might become necessary in the event of bad symptoms intervening.

The Reverend Mr. Codd's seventh charge is that Dr. Biggs "is given to drink;" that he is always in the public-house, and that universal want of confidence has been the result. He also mentions certain "extravagances completely at enmity with all the official ways of the profession, which confirm this universal impression of the doctor being under the influence of drink." He states that "last week the medical officer went into the cabin of the Widow Fardy, of Gurtins, brook in his horse (her daughter, dying of consumption, was sitting at the fire) into the place where the girl was, when he took off his hat and put it on the horse's head, and then insisted that the horse should take off the hat and put it on the doctor's head. I have known him do the same thing in the case of a fever patient in the crisis, and with an empty outhouse alongside at hand. Also, some short time ago, he brought his horse alongside of a dying man—Pat Kelly, of Croose—the room being about 12 feet by 10, while there was a set of empty out-offices a few yards off."

In support of this series of charges, the Reverend Mr. Codd produced a considerable number of witnesses, some of whom keep public-houses in the village of Fethard and its vicinity; others are persons who at various times have been patients of Dr. Biggs, and whom, it is alleged, he attended while in a state of intoxication; and one is a nurse, named Margaret Macnamara, who practises as a midwife in the Fethard Dispensary District.

Peter Foley, who keeps a hotel, public-house, and grocer's shop in the village of Fethard, states that some time ago Dr. Biggs was in the habit of drinking ale in his shop, his usual quantity being a pint bottle; that he once saw him take punch; and that he could not say that he ever saw him under the influence of drink,

drink, though he has seen him in such a state that he would not have liked to employ him as a doctor. Foley states that Dr. Biggs and he had "a difference" on the 25th September last, since which date the medical officer has not taken any drink in his house; and he declares that since the medical officer discontinued his visits to his house, he has seen him go into five public-houses in Fethard on the same day, one after another, but could not say that he was drinking in any of them.

Ellen Caulfield, who keeps a public-house at Saltmills, about three miles from Fethard, states that Dr. Biggs passes her house every Wednesday, when going to his dispensary at Ballycullane, and used "mostly" to call at her house, but never took more than a small bottle of ale at a time. She declares that he never drank whisky in her house, and that she never saw him under the influence of drink.

Mary Chapman states that she keeps a public-house in Fethard; that Dr. Biggs would sometimes call three times in the week; sometimes he would not call for a fortnight, and "of an odd time" he was in her house more than once in the day. He never drank spirits in her house, and she never saw him take more than a small bottle of ale at a time but once, and then he took a second. She also declares that she has never seen the medical officer under the influence of drink. In reply to these charges, Dr. Biggs states that he has occasionally been in some of the public-houses in Fethard, and taken a glass of ale in them, but that he does not now go into them at all; and that it is about two months since he was in a public-house in either Fethard or Saltmills.

Mary Fardy, of Gurtins, states that one day, a few weeks ago, Dr. Biggs came to her house and requested her to allow him to take shelter during a shower of rain, and that she gave him permission to do so. He then asked leave to bring in his horse, and she told him he might. Her daughter, who is ill in consumption, was sitting near the fire, and it appears that Dr. Biggs exhibited the docility of his horse in a variety of ways; but Mary Fardy states that neither she nor her daughter was frightened, and that she did not suspect the doctor of being under the influence of drink. It appears that Dr. Biggs was not attending any person in the house at the time.

Mary Spratt, residing at Saltmills, states that about three years ago her son Edward was ill of fever, and that one day, when it was raining, Dr. Biggs came to see him, and without knocking at the door, or announcing himself in any way, drove in his horse before him into the cabin, into a room adjoining that in which the sick boy was lying. She states that she was frightened, and that her son was very much frightened, and after the doctor was gone "began romancing about horses." Her son died seven days afterwards. She also states that Dr. Biggs was in a passion, and spoke angrily to her, and that she "got the smell of liquor on the doctor, and thought he must have been under the influence of drink."

Anty Kelly states that her late husband, Patrick Kelly, of Corse (or Croose), died about a year and a half ago, and that Dr. Biggs attended him during his illness. It appears from her evidence that a shower of hail was falling when the medical officer paid his first visit, and that he brought in his horse with him into the room where her husband was lying. There was only one room in the cabin, and no out-offices connected with the premises. She states that her husband was not annoyed, as he was then just at the commencement of his illness, and lying on the bed with his clothes on, and that, for her part, she was not annoyed, having been always accustomed to horses. She also states that she did not think that Dr. Biggs was under the influence of drink.

With reference to the charges relating to his horse, the medical officer states that he has frequently taken his horse into houses where he was attending patients, but always led him in by the bridle, and never drove him in before him; and that he has no recollection of the occurrence referred to in Mary Spratt's evidence as having taken place about three years ago.

A woman named Catherine Power, residing near Fethard, states that about last Christmas she was ill, and obtained a visiting ticket for the medical officer to attend her; that when he came to see her, about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, he was "in a terrible state of drunkenness," and "nearly stupid with liquor;" and that, on being asked by her what was the nature of her ailment, he said that she was suffering from "divinity of the heart." She also states that the medical officer did not return to see her again, but sent her a bottle of medicine cine which was the cause of her nearly losing her life, though she took only one tablespoonful of it. She further states that she had been in bed six weeks when she sent for the medical officer; that she would not have sent for him then, but that she was afraid that her illness might extend to her children; and that it was not for love of the doctor that she sent for him. This woman's evidence is generally corroborated by that of Johanna Murphy and Mary Rossiter, who were present during part of the medical officer's interview with Catherine Power. They state that the medical officer was very funny, and appeared to be under the influence of drink; that he told them he was in a great hurry and could not stop a minute, for that he was going to Loftus Hall to pay a visit to Lady Ely. Johanna Murphy also states that she administered the medicine which Dr. Biggs sent for Catherine Power; that the first dose did not seem to disagree with her, but the second caused violent vomiting, and that Catherine Power refused to take any more of it.

With reference to this case, the medical officer states that on the 14th of December last he received a ticket on behalf of Catherine Power, and visited her on the same day; that he informed her that she was suffering from a heavy cold, and prescribed for her a pectoral mixture, and that he did not consider it necessary to see her again. He denies having told her that she was suffering from "divinity of the heart," and declares that he was perfectly sober on the occasion, but objects to state whether he had drunk anything that morning before visiting her. He states that after he had seen Catherine Power on the 14th of December, he attended his dispensary at Fethard, and that when his business there was over, at one o'clock, he went to Loftus Hall to pay a visit to Lady Ely; that he did not see Lady Ely, as she was out walking, but that as he was leaving the Hall he met the Rev. Mr. Weldon, with whom he had a brief conversation, and that he did not again pay a visit to Lady Ely during her stay at Loftus Hall. It appears from the evidence of the Rev. Mr. Weldon, that one day, about last Christmas time, he went to call upon Lady Ely, and met Dr. Biggs at Loftus Hall, and considered him perfectly sober, and not at all under the influence of drink. He also states that on one occasion he was in a house where Dr. Biggs was attending, and the people seemed to think that the medical officer was intoxicated, but that his impression was quite the contrary. He gives a generally favourable report of Dr. Biggs' character for kindness, attention, and sobriety, but states that he once had reason, in his own house, to suspect that the medical officer was under the influence of drink; and that about a year ago, in consequence of statements made to him, he had spoken to Dr. Biggs on the subject of his drinking.

From the evidence of a man named John Foley it appears that about seven years ago he was attended by Dr. Biggs on a visiting ticket. He states that he had been ill about two months when he sent for the doctor, and that when the latter came to see him the first time he was drunk, and fell off a chair, and that his (Foley's) friends would not allow him to take the medicine which the medical officer prescribed, or to send for him again, because they had no confidence in him. With respect to Foley's statement, Dr. Biggs declares that he has no recollection whatever of the circumstances of the case.

A woman named Anne Ryan, residing in the village of Fethard, states that in the month of May 1863, her father, Daniel Ryan, was taken ill; that she obtained a visiting ticket on his behalf, and presented it to the medical officer, who came on the same day to see her father, and gave him medicine; that the medical officer subsequently visited her father several times, and that one evening he came down to her house and abused her; she does not know why, and that she thought he must have been under the influence of drink, for abusing her without any reason. She also states that on the following morning he came back to see her father, when he abused and cursed her for the manner in which she had poulticed her father's eye, and said that she had caused his sore eye by putting a pin into it; but that she did not think he was drunk when he said so. The medical officer, in reply to this charge, states that on the 7th May 1863 he was required to attend an old man, named Daniel Ryan, 75 years of age; that he visited him on the same day, and found him suffering from ectropium, but that his ailment was chiefly old age. He states that during his attendance he ordered a poultice to be applied to the patient's eye, and that on one occasion he scolded Anne Ryan for having tied the poultice too tightly on her father's eye, and for having left it on so long that it became hard and dry, and was like so many flints pressing on his eyeball; but he denies having cursed cursed her, and declares positively that he was not under the influence of drink when attending her father.

Margaret Macnamara, a midwife, residing in the village of Fethard, in her evidence given on the 3d ultimo, states that she had observed an unwillingness on the part of women in their confinement to have Dr. Biggs to attend them; but could not exactly say why, though she has heard that there was a want of confidence in the medical officer, arising from an impression that he was addicted to drink. She states that she had never seen Dr. Biggs drunk, but that on one occasion, in her own house, she "judged" that he was under the influence of drink from his manner, and from his saying that he was attending a man whose daughter had turned his eye inside out. She also states that she had not been under the necessity of sending for Dr. Biggs on many occasions; but that whenever she had sent for him he had always performed his duty satisfactorily, and that he had attended her in her own confinement. This witness, however, when brought forward by the Rev. Mr. Codd for re-examination, on the 23rd ult., gave very different testimony. In her evidence on the 23d ult. she states that she has often seen Dr. Biggs under the influence of drink; that the first time was in his own house, during his wife's confinement; that on another occasion, about five years ago, he was attending a private case of midwifery, and came to the house tipsy, and failed in the performance of his duty, and that the patient suffered laceration in consequence. She also states that, three or four years ago, she saw Dr. Biggs tipsy in the street of Fethard, in the middle of the day; that the class of women whom she attends have an abhorrence of being attended by him, declaring that they would not like to have a drunkard about them; and that she herself would be afraid to take any medicine that he might order for her. She also refers to the case of a woman named Brien, whom the medical officer, about seven years ago, refused to attend in her confinement, though the woman's husband presented a visiting ticket to him, unless she, Margaret Macnamara, went first and sent for him. She states that she visited the woman, and, finding her in great danger, sent for Dr. Biggs; and that he came in the evening. She also states that the patient was delivered of a still-born child, and that the medical officer did not return to see the woman again, though she called on him on the third day and informed him that puerperal fever had set in. It is alleged by Margaret Macnamara that the patient died a few days afterwards. No witnesses were produced to corroborate this woman's evidence.

With reference to the statement of Margaret Macnamara, the medical officer denies positively that she ever saw him under the influence of liquor, either in his own house or anywhere else. He declares that he has no recollection of the case of Brien's wife; and that he does not remember ever having told Margaret Macnamara that he was attending a man whose daughter had turned his eye inside out.

Two sub-constables of police were examined, on the part of Dr. Biggs, and gave evidence to the effect that they had been stationed at Fethard for a considerable period, and had never seen the medical officer under the influence of drink in the street of Fethard, or anywhere else.

I have, &c.

John Hill, Inspector.

P.S.—I beg leave to enclose the accompanying communications, marked A, B, C, and D, which I have received from Dr. Biggs, on the subject of the inquiry into his conduct as medical officer.

MINUTES of EVIDENCE accompanying the foregoing Report.

NEW ROSS UNION.—FETHARD DISPENSARY DISTRICT.

MINUTES of EVIDENCE taken at an Inquiry held at Fethard on the 2d, 3d, 23d and 24th June 1864, into Charges preferred by the Rev. W. Codd, P.P., against Dr. Biggs, one of the Medical Officers of the District.

Rev. WILLIAM CODD, sworn and examined at request of Inspector.

I AM parish priest of the parishes of Fethard and Templetown, and a warden for the district. At a recent meeting of the Board of Guardians of New Ross Union, I submitted to the guardians complaints of neglect of duty on the part of Dr. Biggs, one of the medical officers of the Fethard Dispensary District, and other charges affecting his conduct as medical officer. The charge of neglect of duty came within my personal knowledge. The other charges are, that the medical officer is given to drink, and that universal want of confidence in him has been the consequence. I have never seen the medical officer in a state of inebriety, but I found my statement of his being given to drink on the fact of his being constantly in the public-house, and on patients whom I have attended having complained to me of his having been under the influence of drink when he visited them. I am prepared to prove all these charges by witnesses. The people told me of the doctor's neglect and of his being under the influence of drink, voluntarily, when I was visiting them, and without any instigation or solicitation on my part.

William Codd, P. P.

J. Hill, 2 June 1864.

Rev. WILLIAM CODD, re-examined.

I AM perfectly willing to state that when I saw sickness spreading in the district, and had reason to believe that the medical officer had been guilty of neglect of duty, I publicly called on the people in the chapel to bring forward any just complaints which they might have against Dr. Biggs, and I requested Father Kelly, my curate, to get the parties who made the complaints, and let them add their names to their own statement.

J. Hill, 2 June 1864.

JOHN RYAN, sworn, and examined.

I LIVE in the town of Fethard. About 12 months ago I was taken ill; I could not tell what ailed me, and Dr. Biggs never told me. My wife got a visiting ticket from Mr. Murphy, of Ralph, and Dr. Biggs came to see me on the same day, and he gave me a bottle of medicine on the same day; he did not come then to see me for three days. In the meantime, I sent my wife for him; my wife is not in attendance here to day; she is not able to come. I don't know how often my wife went for the doctor; she went of herself. When the doctor came the second time to see me he said the house was stinking, and pulled open the windows, and ordered my head to be stripped, and I caught a cold in my head, and got a pain in it to this day, and only for other treatment I got from another person, I would not be living this day. The doctor came to see me four times altogether. I could not tell how long the doctor was attending me, but I was about 11 weeks sick. My complaint against the doctor is, for not having attended me sufficiently often, and for not having given me any medicine, but a bottle of medicine, which he himself, at his second visit, said was doing me harm, and two small powders which did me harm. On the second visit the doctor paid, my wife was annoyed at him for the violent way that he came up to my room, but was not annoyed at his wanting the windows to be opened. I did complain to Father Codd of Dr. Biggs' treatment at the time I was sick. I had no one else to complain to. The doctor was so violent in his manner on the occasion of his second visit, that I thought he was under the influence of drink; I never thought so at any other time.

J. Hill, 2 June 1864.

John Ryan.

JOHN RYAN, re-sworn (23d June).

I HAVE seen Dr. Biggs tipsy, but I could not say that I have often seen him so. I saw him tipsy in my own house twice; I could not say the day or the month; I could not tell how long ago that was, but it was over 12 months ago. He was not attending me or any one else in my house at the time. The reason I thought he was tipsy was that I saw him stagger, and I desired him to take care that he did not fall over some of the things—tubs, and such like, that were lying about.

J. Hill, 23 June 1864.

John Ryan.

MARY RYAN, sworn and examined.

I AM wife of John Ryan. I recollect when my husband was ill, about 12 months ago; I got a ticket from Mr. Murphy for the doctor, and took it to the doctor. The doctor came that day, and that evening he gave him some medicine in a bottle. He did not come back for four days, and he did not come back then till I went for him twice; he came four times altogether. He gave my husband some powders, only one of which he took, and I threw out the other. One day that I went for the doctor I was told by the girl that he was not within, and I went round to his back door and saw him standing there. He came over after me on that occasion, and when he came he said that the house was stinking. I was very much annoyed at his saying that the house was stinking. My husband was 11 weeks ill. The doctor used to annoy me at his house by not coming when I went for him, but he never annoyed me but that once at my own house. On the day that Dr. Biggs said that the house was stinking, there was something strange in his manner. I think he must have been drinking, or he would not have said that the house was stinking and that I was killing my husband. The doctor was annoyed at the windows being shut. The doctor did not mention Father Codd's name at all to me. I went several times for the doctor, but I could not tell how often.

J. Hill, 2 June 1864.

Mary Ryan (her + mark).

MARY RYAN, re-sworn.

I HAVE seen Dr. Biggs tipsy in my own house. I was sick at the time, but he was not attending me; he never attended me. The reason that I considered the doctor tipsy was, that he came into my house and raised his stick and wanted to fight our little dog, and I could not get him out. He was staggering upon the floor, and I smelled the liquor off him. I was very much frightened, for I could not get him out and I was afraid the dog would bite him, and I went upstairs and cried. I live next door to this house. It was eight o'clock in the night, and dark. My husband was out at the time. I have often seen Dr. Biggs tipsy in the street, but I never saw him tipsy in my own house but that once, and then he was really drunk.

JOHN SYNNOTT, sworn and examined.

I LIVE in the town of Fethard. I was taken ill in the first week of November last with erysipelas in the head. The doctor told me it was erysipelas. I got a visiting ticket for Dr. Biggs from the Rev. Mr. Lymberry of the Castle, and the doctor came to see me on the same day. He gave me two small powders, which I took according to his directions. That was on a Friday. He promised to come back to see me on the next day, but he did not. I sent two special messengers for him on that day, and I heard that he was reminded a third time on the same day. He never came near me afterwards, but abandoned me to the disease, which he had told me was a dangerous one. He said in my presence that it was the worst case of the disease he had ever seen except one, and that one was fatal, because the person exposed himself to the air. He told me that by way of caution. I did not send for the doctor after the Saturday, because I lost confidence in him for not keeping his promise. I was three weeks before I was able to go to the door. On Sunday evening, two days after the doctor's visit, my wife sent for a woman that she heard was acquainted with erysipelas, and she came to see me on Sunday night, and she ordered me medicine, and poulticed my face immediately. She came to see me several times afterwards, and I recovered. When I was sick I complained to Father Codd, the same as I have now stated; but I did not make the complaint to the committee until March last. In April I lodged the complaint with the committee. I don't recollect having ever complained to Dr. Biggs of want of attention or unkindness to me.

J. Hill, 2 June 1864.

John Synnott.

MARY SYNNOTT, sworn and examined.

I AM wife of John Synnott. I recollect when he was ill in last November. He was taken ill in the first week of November. On a Friday we got a visiting ticket for the doctor, and I took it to the doctor. The doctor came that day, and he promised to come back the next day; he did not come the next day; he came but the once. On Saturday morning I went to the doctor to let him know how my husband was. I told him that my husband was very bad, and that his head was steaming. He told me not to put anything to it, and that he would be down after me. As he did not come I went over again in the evening at night-fall, and told the doctor that my husband was worse, and asked him to come and see him. He said he would come down after me; he never came. I did not send anyone else for the doctor; it was too late. I sat up till past 10 o'clock, thinking he would come. The next day, Sunday, I was expecting him after prayers, but he did not come. I did not go for or send to the doctor afterwards, but I sent for an old woman about the place that I heard had cured some cases of erysipelas with poultices and vegeto water, and she came to see my husband on Sunday night, and came back every second day until he was cured.

J. Hill, 2 June 1865.

Mary Synnott (her + mark).

JOHN DOYLE, sworn and examined.

I LIVE at Little Graigue. My wife, Kitty Doyle, took ill on St. Stephen's day last, the 26th December. On Monday, the 28th December, I got a ticket from Mr. Murphy for Dr. Biggs to visit her. I took the ticket to Dr. Biggs on that day, and Dr. Biggs came between six and seven o'clock that night. I did not see him; I was not at home at the time. He left word for me to go after him to Fethard for medicine, and I did so, and he gave me two powders. On the following Wednesday I went back to Fethard for the doctor. I saw him, and he came out and saw my wife that night. He did not order anything for her that time. He did not return, so on Friday, New Year's day, I went to the dispensary for him, and asked him to come and see my wife, or to send her some medicine. He said that he would not go or send medicine. He said my wife wanted no medicine; that she would become "calloused." I don't know what he meant by that, and that she would loose her teeth. On Wednesday, the 30th December, Dr. Long had been to see my wife, but he did not give her any medicine, or order any medicine for her, but he said that she had the same complaint as Mrs. Barden. No medicine was got from Arthurstown. My wife got no medicine at all but the two powders that Dr. Biggs sent her. On Sunday, the 3d January, I sent Michael Parle for Dr. Biggs, and the doctor came about six or seven o'clock the same night. He said she had a typhus fever, and he ordered wine for her, but no medicine. My wife died at seven o'clock the next morning; she got the wine. The doctor came out to see her about eight o'clock on the 4th January, about sunrise, but she was dead about half an hour. Dr. Biggs did not visit my wife from Wednesday, the 30th December, until Sunday, the 3d January, though requested to do so. The doctor did not, in my presence, say at any visit that there was nothing the matter with my wife, only that she had eaten too much.

J. Hill, 2 June 1864.

John Doyle.

RICHARD LONG, M.D., sworn and examined.

I AM one of the medical officers of the Fethard Dispensary District. I live at Arthurstown, five miles from Fethard. I knew a woman named Doyle, who lived near Templetown. Sometime near the end of December last I was attending a Mrs. Barden in that neighbourhood, who was ill of typhus fever, which had commenced as scarlet fever, and I was asked by Mrs. Barden's daughter to see the woman Doyle—I don't know her Christian name—who, she stated had been sitting up with her mother, and was supposed to have taken the same disease. I saw the woman accordingly, and found her suffering from low fever, with a very badly ulcerated throat. I prescribed for her, and directed the woman's husband to go for Dr. Biggs. It was three or four days after Christmas day that I saw Mrs. Doyle. I heard that Dr. Biggs had been attending the woman, and that was my reason for telling the husband to go back for him. I did not see the woman afterwards. Neither the woman or her husband made any complaint to me of Dr. Biggs. I am Admiralty agent and surgeon for the Arthurstown District, which comprises Fethard, Templetown, and Ballyhack, and it is my duty to attend the coast-guard of these localities when required to do so. I could not tell how many cases I have attended among persons who pay fees in Dr. Biggs' district during the last 12 months. My private practice extends over the whole of this and the adjoining districts, and into the county of Waterford. I cannot say whether there is any want of confidence in Dr. Biggs, as a medical officer, on the part of the poor. I have occasionally been called to attend patients living in the town of Fethard, close to Dr. Biggs' house.

I LIVE in the town of Fethard. I heard Dr. Biggs, on his return from visiting John Doyle's wife, say, in my shop, that there was nothing the matter with her, only that she had eaten too much. I keep a hotel, public house, and grocer shop. Dr. Biggs has been in the habit of drinking ale in my shop; I saw him take punch once. His usual quantity of ale was a small bottle called a pint bottle; but I have sometimes seen him take two. He was generally by himself; but occasionally he had friends with him. I could not say that I ever saw him under the influence of drink: I never saw him drunk. I certainly have seen him in such a state that I should not have liked to employ him as a doctor. There are, I believe, five public houses in the town of Fethard; I have seen Dr. Biggs go into every one of these public houses on the same day, one after another, but I could not say that that he was drinking in any of them ; that was not uncommon, it was rather usual. Dr. Biggs has not taken any drink in my house since the 25th September last. I have ascertained that fact by reference to my books. Dr. Biggs and I had a difference at that time. I have seen him going into the other public-houses since that date.

ELLEN CAULFIELD, sworn, and examined.

I LIVE at Saltmills, about three miles from Fethard. I keep a public-house. Dr. Biggs passes my house every Wednesday when going to his dispensary at Ballycullane. He used mostly to call in at my house ; but there were days he did not. His horse was standing at the door while he was inside. The doctor never took more than a small bottle of ale in my house at a time. I never saw him under the influence of drink. He never drank whiskey in my house. He never sat down in my house to drink.

(To Rev. Mr. Codd.) He never took off his coat in my house to drink.

MARY SPRATT, sworn, and examined.

I LIVE at Saltmills. I recollect when my son Edward Spratt was ill of fever ; that was about three years ago. Dr. Biggs was attending my son, and one day he came on a wet day, and he drove in his horse before him into the cabin, into the room adjoining that in which the sick boy was lying, though there was a stable and a forge in the yard of the house. I was frightened myself, and my boy was very much frightened ; and, after the doctor was gone, began romancing about horses. The boy died seven days after. I got the smell of liquor on the doctor, and he was in a passion, and spoke angrily to me, and I thought he must have been under the influence of drink. He had visited my son before, and he then examined him ; but on the day that he drove in his horse before him he did not ; he was angry, I think, because he was wet and his horse was wet. I don't think I complained to anyone at the time, except that I told the priest. On the day that Dr. Biggs drove in his horse to the cabin he did so without rapping at the door, or announcing himself in any way.

MARY FARDY, sworn, and examined.

I LIVE at Gurtins. One day, two or three weeks ago, Dr. Biggs came to my house, and asked me if I would let him in out of a shower of rain ; it was raining at the time. My daughter, who is ill in consumption, was sitting at the fire. I told him to come in. He asked me leave to bring in his horse ; I told him he might do so. He took off his hat, and put it on the horse's ears, and sat down on the horse's gams. He then told the horse to kiss him ; the horse put over his head to him. The doctor told him he wanted his hat, and the horse bowed down his head and gave it to him. I don't think my daughter was frightened ; I was not frightened. I did not suspect the doctor of being under the influence of drink at the time. I could not say whether he had been drinking or not, as I am no judge.

MARY CHAPMAN, sworn, and examined.

I LIVE in the town of Fethard. I keep a public-house. The doctor used not to call at my house every day in the week ; sometimes he would call three times in the week, and sometimes he would not call for a fortnight. He used to drink a small bottle of ale, nothing more. I never saw him take more than a small bottle of ale at a time but once, and then a man persuaded him to take a second. He never drank spirits in my house : I do not sell spirits. I never saw the doctor under the influence of drink. Of an odd time the doctor was at my house more than once in the day. I never saw the doctor give or take a treat from any one.

ANTY KELLY, sworn and examined.

I LIVE at Corse. My husband, Pat Kelly, is dead nearly a year and a half; Dr. Biggs attended him. The first visit that the doctor paid was one day when there was a hail shower; and when the doctor came in he brought in his horse along with him into the room where my husband was lying; there was but one room in the cabin. The doctor did not ask if he might bring in the horse. My husband was not annoyed at it, for he was then just at the beginning of his ailment, and was lying on the bed with his clothes on. I was not annoyed at the doctor having brought in the horse, for I was always used to horses. There were no out-offices connected with my house, except a little place that was full of all kinds of things; but on the other side of the road, up at Mr. Barden's, there was a barn. When the doctor came that day I did not think he was under the influence of drink.

MARGARET MACNAMARA, sworn, and examined.

I LIVE in the town of Fethard. I am a midwife. I am in the habit of attending the wives of the poor in their confinement. I have observed on the part of women in their confinement an unwillingness to have Dr. Biggs to attend them; I could not exactly say why, but they said they would rather not have the doctor if they could do without him. I suppose it was from want of confidence. Women in general prefer a female to a doctor; the exceptions are very few. In one case that I was attending I recommended that a doctor should be called in, and the patient and her friends said, that they would like to have Dr. Long; I proposed Dr. Biggs, as he was at hand, and there was no time to be lost; so Dr. Biggs was sent for and attended, and performed his duty well. I have often heard that the want of confidence on the part of women was owing to an impression that the doctor was addicted to drink. In one case the patient's sister refused to administer the medicine that had been sent by Dr. Biggs, but I could not tell for what reason, and she did not give any reason. I never saw the doctor drunk, but I have seen him so that I would know he had been drinking. I have seen the medical officer under the influence of drink; it was in my house, and I judged he was under the influence of drink from his manner, and from his saying that he was attending a man whose daughter had turned his eye inside out. I have not had to send for Dr. Biggs on many occasions, but whenever I have had to send for him he has always performed his duty satisfactorily. Dr. Biggs attended me in my own confinement.

MARGARET MACNAMARA, re-sworn.

ABOUT seven years ago a man named John Breen came to me to attend his wife, telling me that he had presented a visiting ticket to Dr. Biggs for her, and that he had refused to go unless I went first and sent for him; the woman had been three days ill, and when I went I found her in great danger, and I sent for the doctor and he came in the evening. The doctor did not go to see the woman again, though I called to tell him on the third day that puerperal fever had set in; she died a few days afterwards; the child was still-born. I have known patients refuse to take medicine which had been ordered by Dr. Biggs, because they were afraid to take it. I never had anything to say to Dr. Long. I have often seen Dr. Biggs under the influence of drink; the first time was in his own house during his wife's confinement; on another occasion about five years ago, as well as I can recollect, he was engaged to attend a private case, and when he came I saw that he was tipsy, and in my opinion he failed in his duty. It was a first case, and the patient was about 23 or 24 years of age; laceration took place. I have seen Dr. Biggs tipsy in the street of Fethard about the middle of the day; I think it is some time ago, three or four years ago at any rate. Since that I have seen him tipsy in my own house, as I stated when last examined. I have not seen him tipsy since then, but I have seen him in such a state that I would know he had been drinking. I could not exactly state the date of the time when I saw Dr. Biggs tipsy in my own house, but it is at least six months ago. The class of women whom I attend have an abhorrence of being attended by Dr. Biggs; they state that they would not like to have a drunkard about them; I myself would be afraid to take any medicine that Dr. Biggs might order for me.

Since my last examination on the previous inquiry I have not had any communication with Father Codd on the subject of my evidence. I told him that since the previous inquiry I had recollected a great many things that I did not recollect on that day, and that it was on my conscience that I had omitted them; I did not speak to or see Father Codd to my knowledge for the last fortnight.

I LIVE at Lambstown; I had a daughter named Catherine Handrick; she lived with me; she is dead. She took ill about the 1st of April; a few days afterwards I got a ticket from Mr. Murphy, of Ralph, and took it to Dr. Biggs. That was on a Tuesday. The doctor came to see my daughter in or about an hour afterwards, and left some powders to be given to her. He said that it was a cold ailed her, and told me to let him know on the following Thursday how she was. On the following Thursday my wife went for him in the morning; I saw her when she came back. She told me that the doctor could not come and see my daughter, because he had been summoned to sessions at Arthurstown that day; on the same evening, Thursday, as my daughter was sinking more and more every hour, Father Kelly advised me to go for the doctor again, and fetch him to see her. I went and saw the doctor about seven o'clock, or something after it. He was sitting in his parlour, and I told him that my daughter was worse, and that her mother had observed some spots or a rash on her body. The doctor said he was not able to come; that he was too bad with a cold, and too wearied after the day, but that he would come the next day. I then told him that I did not think he would find her alive, and that her life was in his hands; he did not give me any medicine or anything that night; I then went home. Dr. Biggs came to see my daughter the next day about 10 o'clock, or it might be after it. I did not hear him say anything that day, but I suppose he told my wife. On the following day, Saturday, I went into Fethard and saw the doctor. I did not ask him to come and see my daughter, but I asked him for something to rub her neck, and he gave me something in a bottle; I told him that I did not think she'd live, and that she had a choking in her throat; I don't recollect what he said. The doctor did not go again to see my daughter; he saw her but twice. She died on the following day, Sunday, about two o'clock in the morning. It was between Thursday night and Friday morning that the change took place in my daughter. She was insensible when the doctor came to see her on Friday morning.

I AM wife of William Devereux, the last witness. I recollect when my daughter, Catherine Handrick, was ill. Dr. Biggs was attending her on a visiting ticket. He saw her for the first time on the day that the ticket was presented to him—on a Tuesday, I don't remember the day of the month; I was at home. My daughter was very ill then. She had been ill about a week or 10 days, but had been only two days in bed. The doctor said it was a heavy cold that she had, and he left some powders for her; and he told us to let him know on Thursday how she might be, but he did not say when he would come again. On Thursday morning I went to him, and told him that she was sinking, and getting worse, and asked him to go and see her. He told me that he could not go, as he was going to Arthurstown to the sessions, that he had been summoned there. I think I asked him to come in the evening, but I am not quite sure. I don't recollect whether he said he would come the next morning, for my memory is gone owing to the weight of my affliction. I did not ask him to go to Arthurstown by way of our house. As far as I could think, it would be about a mile and a half out of the direct road to Arthurstown. As far as I can recollect, it was between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning that I was with the doctor. I then went home, and soon afterwards, about 12 o'clock, I observed spots on my daughter's body. That Thursday night my husband went again for the doctor, and when he returned home I believe he said that he could not get the doctor to come. On Friday the doctor came. I could not tell at what hour; I forget. I don't recollect what he said about my daughter, but he left some more powders, and he did not come back again. She died on Saturday night. She was about 24 or 25 years of age. I think it was about Thursday night that she became insensible.

I LIVE at the Wood, about a mile from Fethard. I do not keep a public-house. The complaint that I have to make against Dr. Biggs is, that he came to see me some time about last Christmas while I was sick, and that he was in a terrible state of drunkenness at the time. I thought I had a pleurisy, and he was not in a state to tell me what ailed me. I could not tell exactly on what day of the month or in what month that occurred, but it was shortly after Christmas. It was on a visiting ticket from the Rev. Mr. Lymberry that the doctor was attending me. It was about 11 o'clock in the morning. The reason I considered the doctor drunk was that he was staggering, and I saw from his actions and appearance that he was nearly stupid with liquor. I asked him what ailed me, and he said it was from "divinity of the heart." I was sick, and a woman who was standing by said that it was not, nor from devotion either. A sister-in-law of mine, named Johanna Murphy, and a woman named Mary Rossiter, were present; they are not in attendance. The doctor did not come back to see me, but he sent me a bottle of medicine which was the cause of my nearly losing my life, though I only took one tablespoonful of it. My husband went for the ticket, and the doctor came the same day about 11 o'clock in the morning. I was in bed when the doctor came, and had been for six weeks, and would not have sent for him then, only I was afraid for the children, that they might take what ailed me. It was not for love of the doctor that I sent for him. On the very next morning I told Father Codd that Dr. Biggs had been to see me in a state of drunkenness. The women who were present live at the Wood, about a mile from Fethard.

JOHANNA MURPHY, sworn; and Examined.

I LIVE at the Wood of Fethard. I know a woman named Catherine Power. I recollect when she was sick; it was about last Christmas. I think it was some time after last Christmas. One day, at that time, I was going down to see Catherine Power, who is my sister-in-law, and Dr. Biggs passed me on the road. He was on horseback, and I thought he would have fallen off his horse; he appeared to be drunk; at least the impression that I took of him was that he was really drunk. I did not speak to him, or he to me. I went on to Catherine Power's house and found him there. I heard her ask the doctor was it a pleurisy she had; he said it was not; it was all from "the divinity of her heart." I think he was in fun, for he seemed very funny, and said he could not stop a minute, for he was going to see Lady Ely, who was at Loftus Hall at the time. I said that I did not think it was from the divinity of her heart, or the devotion of her heart either, that she was complaining. I did not say that in the doctor's hearing. I said it to myself. I don't know what Catherine Power said to him, for I was not in the room with her, and he only stayed a few minutes, as he seemed to be in a great hurry to go to Loftus Hall. I thought he was drunk in the house, on account of the way he spoke to the woman. I did not see him staggering in the house. I think that occurred between 11 and 12 o'clock. No person told me what I was to say at this inquiry. I did not speak to Father Codd about it at confession. When the doctor was at Catherine Power's house, I heard him tell her to send up to the Dispensary for a bottle of medicine, and he told her she was to take a tablespoonful of it. I gave her the first dose of it myself, and it did not seem to disagree with her; but when I gave her the second dose some hours afterwards it brought a great retching on her, and she would not take any more of it.

I LIVE at the Wood of Fethard. I know Catherine Power. I live next door to her. I recollect when she was sick some time after last Christmas. One day about that time I saw Dr. Biggs go into Catherine Power's house, and I followed him in, for I was ailing myself at the time. He was standing over at the bed talking with Catherine Power when I went in. I heard her ask him did he think it was pleurisy she had, and I heard him say that it was all from "divinity of the heart." I am sure it was "divinity" he said. I said nothing. I could not say he was drunk, but he was full of liquor at any rate, or he would not have gone on that way. He gave a sheer from the bed to the table as if he was staggering, and led me to believe that he was under the influence of drink. I was going to ask the doctor about myself, but I did not when I saw the way he was. I had not a Dispensary ticket. It was about 11 o'clock; the doctor did not stay long. When he went in first, he examined the woman; he went over to the bed and spoke to her; he said he was in a hurry and could not stop, for he was going over to see Lady Ely, who was going away in the morning.

The doctor came to see me on the day that the ticket was sent to him. He told me my stomach was out of order, and told me not to take anything but tea, or whey, or gruel, and he directed me to send to the Dispensary for medicine. He never came back to see me. My father went back twice for him, as I was informed. I was 31 days bad in bed. No other doctor attended me. I have reason to think that when the doctor came to see me he was drunk. He fell across the bed on me when he came into see me. The bed was on the ground, and there was a form by the side of it, and the doctor stumbled over it; the room was not very dark, for the bed was between the window and the door, and the door was open. I got a very heavy smell of drink off the doctor at the time. The doctor felt my pulse; he did not kneel down to feel my pulse. I did not complain to any gentleman of the committee about this; but I complained to the priest at the time. I took the medicine that the doctor sent me.

The doctor came to see my son on the day that the ticket was given him. He never came back to see him again. Immediately after that I went to look for the doctor, and saw him on the street in Fethard. I asked him to come and see the boy. He said he would, but did not. He sent medicine once. I went several times after that for the doctor; but I could not tell exactly the number of times, or when I went. Sometimes I saw the doctor, and more times I did not. Every time I asked him to come to see the boy the doctor would promise to come, but never went. I was not at home the day that the doctor visited my son. The reason I recollect that it was on the 10th June that my son took ill is, because I was covering potatoes on the 9th June, and he was complaining that day, and he lay down the following day. I think it was on the Monday after my son took ill that I got the ticket for him.

I LIVE at Spring, about a mile and a half from Fethard. It is seven years since I was ill. I think it was pleurisy that ailed me. Dr. Biggs attended me on a ticket. He came to see me on the day after he got the ticket, and did not return to see me again. I think that was in last November seven years. It was from Mr. Power, of Ralph, I got the ticket. I did not send back for the doctor after his first visit. He sent me medicine. I took a part of it—one powder. The boys in the place took the other four powders away, and would not let me take them. The reason I did not send for the doctor a second time was because he was drunk when he came the first time. When he came in to see me, I was sitting by the kitchen fire, and he went into the bed-room to look for me, and there was a chair in the bed-room standing next a table, and he took off his hat and put it on the table, and when he went to sit down on the chair, he tumbled off on to the floor. He got up very smart, and came into the kitchen and asked me if I was the boy that was sick, and when I said that I was, he replied that it was not worth while to apply any medicine, for that I was dead. That was all he said or did to me. He did not examine me. He sent me five powders afterwards. After the doctor said I was dead, he went away. I did not smell liquor off him. He was not near me. I was 11 weeks confined to my bed. I was not attended by any other doctor. The boys would not let me take the powders, because they said they were afraid to let me. They were afraid that the powders would kill me. I was eager enough to take them, for I was so long bad I didn't care. I would not doubt but I must have been two months ill when I sent for the doctor. I did not complain to any member of the committee at the time, but Mr. Hare, Lord Ely's agent, spoke to me about it the first time I was able to come in with the rent after that. My friends advised me not to send for the doctor again, because they had no confidence in him.

I LIVE on the Quay of Fethard, about a mile from the village of Fethard. Five years ago last March, on the 24th March, I was shot in the calf of the leg. I had to be carried home by two men. My uncle Michael got a ticket for the doctor to come to see me. The doctor did not come to see me. The message that was brought back from the doctor was, that I was to be sent up to him on a car, for that he could not come to see me. My uncle took the ticket to the doctor, and brought back the message; the doctor refused to come. I had then to get a car and go to the doctor, and my leg was bleeding all the way. When I came to the Dispensary, I saw the doctor. I forget what he said to me then, but he dressed my leg. He put sticking-plaster on it. I then went back to my own house, and that same night Dr. Biggs came to see me at our house. He did not tell me to put anything to my leg, but said that he could do nothing for it, and that I would have to go to the Wexford Infirmary, and that my leg would have to be cut off. The doctor came back different times to see me, and put some ointment to it one time. The leg was not healed when he left me. I could not put it under me at all. I was going on two sticks when he left me, and I had to get an ointment from Mr. Ross in the latter end, which cured me. I was nearly a year and a-half before I could rightly stand on and make use of my leg. I was confined to my bed between four and five months. The doctor attended me at different times up to the day of the regatta at Fethard. I don't know when that was. The doctor never did me any good with anything he did for me. I could not say that I ever got the smell of drink off the doctor. I could not make out that the doctor was tipsy at any time while he was attending me.

I LIVE in the street of Fethard. My father's name was Daniel Ryan. He was taken ill last May twelvemonths, and was buried the first day of June. On the second day of my father's illness, I got a ticket from Mr. Lymberry for the doctor to come and see him. Dr. Biggs came to see him on the day that the ticket was presented to him, and gave him medicine. He did not return for some days, but I am not able to say how many. I then went for the doctor, and he came to see my father on the same evening. On the next morning he came again, and he sent castor-oil down by my little child that evening, which gave my father present relief. That same evening, before he gave me the oil, he came down to the house and stood outside the door and abused me; I could not tell why, nor can I tell what he said. I thought he must have been under the influence of drink for abusing me without any reason. The next morning he came back to see my father, and he abused and cursed me for the way that I had poulticed my father's eye. I could not say that he was under the influence of drink on that occasion. A few days afterwards the doctor came again, without being sent for; it was on the Monday before my father died. My father died on the Wednesday night following. I did not go for the doctor again, but I sent three times to him for medicine, and he refused to give it. It was castor-oil I sent for. The doctor said that I had caused my father's sore eye by putting a pin into it; and that he would have me detected and prosecuted for it; I do not know why he said so. I could not say that I thought he was drunk when he said it, but I thought so the night before. The reason that I did not send for the doctor between the Monday that he called, and the Wednesday that my father died, was not that I had no confidence in him, but because I was afraid of him on account of his having abused me.

REV. PERCIVAL B. WELDON, sworn; and Examined.

I AM rector of the parish of Fethard. I have known Dr. Biggs ever since he came to this Dispensary. I am a warden of the district. Dr. Biggs has attended my family as occasion required, and I willingly state that I and my family have on various occasions experienced much of his professional zeal and skill, as well as personal kindness and attention under trying circumstances, for which we feel thankful and grateful. I remember Lady Ely having been at Loftus Hall about last Christmas time. She paid a very short visit; only a few days. I was at Loftus Hall one day during her visit; but I do not recollect how long before her departure. On that occasion I was there only once. It was before luncheon, I think; some time about the middle of the day. While I was there I saw Dr. Biggs at the Hall; he appeared to me to be perfectly sober, and not at all under the influence of drink. The day that the accident occurred to Alice Walsh, I happened to be with Dr. Biggs in or near the Dispensary when the girl came. I believe she had been brought into the Dispensary before I went into it. When I went in, Dr. Biggs had just commenced examining the wound, which had been covered with either clay or cow-dung, and he was washing it clean. It was a fearfully lacerated wound, the muscles were very much torn, and there had been considerable hæmorrhage. I assisted Dr. Biggs in dressing the wound, which he certainly took special care in doing, and it occupied a considerable time before the dressing was completed. The girl bore the dressing wonderfully well, and appeared surprisingly strong. I do not know whether Dr. Biggs had or had not visited Catherine Power on the day that I met him at Loftus Hall. As well as I recollect, Dr. Biggs dressed Alice Walsh's leg with sticking-plaster. On one occasion only had I reason to suspect that Dr. Biggs was under the influence of drink; it was in my own house. On every other occasion that Dr. Biggs has attended members of my family in my house I have never seen him intoxicated, or under the influence of drink. I have often offered Dr. Biggs a glass of spirits and water, or a glass of ale, when he has been attending at night, and I don't recollect his having ever availed himself of the offer. I have been asked to speak to Dr. Biggs on the subject of his drinking. I did speak to him. I think it was about a year ago. I believe he did amend in regard to the subject on which I spoke to him, that is, drinking spirits. I do not recollect having heard any complaint of neglect of duty on the part of Dr. Biggs with reference to any ticket that I have issued. I never saw the doctor's horse at a public-house door when I was passing. On one occasion I was in a house where Dr. Biggs was attending a case of midwifery, and the people of the house seemed to think he was intoxicated. My impression was quite the contrary. Some of my daughters have been attended by Dr. Biggs in their confinement. Some of my daughters-in-law prefer a female attendant; but I do not know whether they object to Dr. Biggs or not. I object to give statements as to mere hearsay evidence with regard to occurrences in my own family. In all the cases in my family where Dr. Biggs attended, a midwife also attended.

J. Hill, 23 June 1864.

HENRY THOMAS BIGGS, sworn : and Examined.

I AM one of the medical officers of the Fethard Dispensary district. I reside in the village of Fethard. I have heard the evidence of Catherine Power in which she charges me with drunkenness when attending her as a patient on a visiting ticket. I have to state that I was not inebriated on that occasion, that I was perfectly sober. I submit the ticket which I received on the occasion. It is dated the 14th December 1863. I have entered in the Medical Relief Register that her disease was bronchitis. On reference to my prescription book I find a corresponding entry, and the prescription which I wrote for her, which was a pectoral mixture, containing camphorated tincture of opium, Hipp's wine, and syrup of squills in water. When I visited her she asked me what ailed her, and I told her a heavy cold. I don't think I asked her how long she had been ill. It is stated in the ticket that she had been ill three weeks. I never made use of the expression "divinity of the heart" in her house. I never even heard of it until this investigation. I only paid her one visit. I did not think it requisite to go and see her again. She neither sent for more medicine, nor sent to ask me to see her again. I had attended her before at the Dispensary with a similar attack. Until this investigation I never heard a word of complaint from Catherine Power. After I had visited Catherine Power on the 14th December, I attended my Dispensary in Fethard. I see that there was only one ticket presented to me on that day, according to my Medical Relief Register. As soon as the Dispensary was over, at 1 o'clock, I went to Loftus Hall to pay a visit to Lady Ely, but I did not see her, as she was out walking. As I was going out the Rev. Mr. Weldon drove up to the door. I told him that her ladyship was out walking. I did not remain in conversation with him many moments. I then returned home. That was the only visit I paid to Lady Ely during her last stay at Loftus Hall. There was no conversation on that occasion between me and Mr. Weldon, except that he invited me to take a seat in his carriage to go and see Mr. Breen.

To Mr. Codd.] I object to state whether I had drunk anything that morning before I went to see Catherine Power.

With reference to the case of Thomas Doyle, of Boleyhill, from whose evidence it appears that I paid him only one visit during his illness, my explanation is, that the case was one of dyspepsia, or derangement of the stomach, and I did not consider it requisite to visit him a second time. I have no recollection of James Doyle, the boy's father, having applied to me to go and see his son afterwards. He says I promised to go, and did not; but if I promised, I am sure I would have gone. I positively declare that I was not in a state of intoxication when I went to see Thomas Doyle; I certainly did not fall across the bed upon him. I did not fall over a form, but I think that I knelt down on one knee to feel his pulse, as the bed was on the ground; I have nothing further to add with regard to that case. I visited Thomas Doyle on the 22d June, 1863; he had been then ill one week according to his ticket, which I submit. I never knew until this investigation how long he continued ill after I saw him. I object to state whether I drank any liquor that day before going to see Thomas Doyle. As regards the case of John Foley, of Speery, he says himself that it occurred seven years ago, and I have no recollection whatever respecting it. With reference to the case of Alice Walsh, who met with an injury from a gunshot wound, I received a visiting ticket to attend her on the 24th March 1859; I produce the ticket. I did not visit her at the time; but having ascertained from the person who brought the ticket that she had been shot through the calf of the leg, I requested the messenger, her uncle, to have her brought to the Dispensary, because I could have there all the appliances that I might require. Her uncle made no objection, and the girl was brought up at once on a car, and I dressed the leg in the presence of the Rev. Mr. Weldon, and the serjeant of police, and others. I went to see her at her own house the same evening, and continued my attendance upon her almost daily for about two months. The regatta occurred about the latter end of June or beginning of July, and Alice Walsh herself states that I continued my attendance until then. I did not at first recommend amputation; but I advised her removal to Wexford Infirmary, as it might be necessary that amputation should be performed in the event of bad symptoms setting in. The girl's friends told me that they submitted my proposal for her removal to the Infirmary to the Rev. Mr. Codd; I do not recollect having met Father Codd that evening when coming from Alice Walsh's. I might have met him. I do not recollect his having asked me my opinion as to the girl. In the case of Daniel Ryan, of Fethard, I received a ticket to visit him from the Rev. Mr. Lymberry; I submit the ticket, dated 7th May 1863. His ailment was chiefly old age; he was 75 years of age according to the ticket; he was affected with letropium, or turning out of the lining membrane of the eye-lid, for which I ordered powders and a poultice. I saw him two or three times, and supplied him with medicine. During my attendance upon him I saw his daughter, Anne Ryan, at the house; I have heard her evidence, and declare positively that I was not at all under the influence of drink when attending her father; but I certainly did scold her for having tied the poultice so tightly on her father's eye, and for leaving it on so long that it became hard and dry, and was like so many flints pressing on his eye-ball. I certainly did not curse her, or make use of any profane language to her; I did not refuse medicine to her when she sent up to the Dispensary for it.

With reference to the case of Catherine Handrick, I received a visiting ticket on her behalf from Mr. Murphy. The ticket which I submit is dated the 5th April 1864, and states that she had been ill six days. I visited her on the 5th April, and did not see her again until the 8th of April; I was, in the interval, requested once by her father to visit her, but did not. I had just returned from the Sessions of Arthurstown, and was lying down, unwell; that was on the 7th April. I visited her the next morning at 10 o'clock. She was ill in fever; I did not see her again. She died on the next day, the 9th April. I did not go to see her again. On the morning of the 7th April, Catherine Handrick's mother came to me and asked me to go and see her daughter; she did not tell me that the patient had spots or a rash on her. I told her I was going on a summons to the Sessions at Arthurstown, and could not go to see her daughter. She did not tell me I could call on my way to Arthurstown. The patient's father did not, on the 7th April, tell me that there was a rash on her; there was no mention of spots or a rash at all. When I saw her on the 8th she was much weaker, and, I thought, sinking. I ordered wine for her; I did not see any rash or spots on her. I did not examine her to look for any spots or rash. If I had gone to see Catherine Handrick on my way to the Sessions, it would, I think, have been two miles or two and a-half miles out of my direct road. I do not think Catherine Handrick was insensible when I saw her on the morning before her death; I visited her about 10 o'clock in the morning. With regard to the case of John Ryan, of Fethard, I received a ticket to attend him from Mr. Murphy; I submit the ticket, dated the 9th of June 1863. I visited the patient on the same day. He was, according to my Medical Relief Register, suffering from debility; I visited him about three times, I think, though I have only the first visit recorded in my prescription book. He was not suffering from erysipelas during any part of his illness. I did not refuse his wife to go and see him at any time. On the first day that I visited John Ryan, I had an altercation with his wife about opening the windows; she refused to open the windows. When I was going upstairs the atmosphere was so impure I could scarcely breathe, and I expressed myself angrily, and said that into so stinking a place I had never put my foot. When I complained of the impurity of the place, the man's wife was annoyed, and refused to open the window when I asked her to do so. I then opened one of the windows myself. I positively declare that I was not under the influence of drink at the time. I do not know anything about her statement that I wanted to fight her little dog one evening. I never went to her house to annoy her; but one day that I was there she began to abuse me, and said that I ordered nothing but whisky for any one.

Rev. Mr. Codd.] I did order her husband whisky-and-water, because he was labouring under mental depression caused by pecuniary difficulties. Ryan complained of a pain in his head at the time. I do not think that whisky-and-water would make it worse, when it originated in anxiety of mind. Ryan's wife asked me, I think about three times, to go and see her husband, and I went on every occasion.

Case of John Synnott.

As regards the case of John Synnott, I received a ticket from Mr. Lymberry to attend him. The ticket which I submit is dated the 6th November 1863. I visited him on the same day, and found him suffering from erysipelas of the face. He lives in the village of Fethard. I have no record of any visit to him but my first visit; but I am positively certain that I visited him two or three times afterwards. His wife came for me about twice, and requested me to see him; I think I attended him some time during the same day. I continued my attendance upon him occasionally for four or five days, until the cuticle was beginning to desquamate, and his eyes were open. I never refused to give him or supply him with medicine at any time. (To Mr. Codd.) He was attended by a woman after I ceased to attend him, and I suppose she had the credit of curing him. I gave him two powders containing calomel and James's powder, one to be taken on alternate nights; I did not give him any medicine but that. He was ill three days before I saw him, according to the ticket.

With reference to the case of Catherine Doyle, I received a ticket dated the 28th December 1863, from Mr. Murphy, to attend her; I submit the ticket. I visited her on the same day, and found her suffering from fever. I ordered her calomel and James's powder; I did not visit her again until the 3d January. I do not think that Doyle came to Fethard two days after my first visit to request me to go and see her; I have no recollection of having visited her on the 30th December. If I did, I did not enter it in my attendance book. On the 3d January, a Sunday evening, a man named Parle came for me to go and see Doyle's wife, and I went that evening; she died about 7 o'clock the next morning. I was out to see her about half an hour after her death. During the interval between my visits she was seen by Dr. Long, of Arthurstown. I was aware of the fact. I was told so by a neighbour of hers. I have no recollection of having been applied to by John Doyle on New Year's Day to visit his wife, or of having refused to do so. I have no recollection of having told Doyle that his wife was not in want of medicine. I never made use of the expression "calloused" to him, or of anything like it. I did not say that there was nothing the matter with her, only that she had eaten too much. I did not say anything to that effect in Foley's shop, down stairs, for Catherine Doyle's illness occurred in December, and I was not in Foley's shop since last September. When I visited Catherine Doyle on the 3d January, I ordered her wine; that was on the evening before she died.

I have occasionally been in some of the public-houses in Fethard, and taken a glass of ale in them, but I do not go into them now at all. It is about two months since I was inside of a public-house, either at Saltmills or Fethard. I used very frequently to call in at Mrs. Caulfield's and get a glass of ale when going to my Dispensary at Ballycullane.

I have

I have had ale in the parlour of Boyce's public house, when I was attending Mrs. Boyce. I have no recollection of the case of Breen's wife, referred to by Margaret MacNamara. She states that it occurred seven years ago, and I have no recollection of it. I have no recollection of having ever told Margaret MacNamara that I was attending a man whose daughter had turned his eye inside out. I positively declare that Margaret MacNamara never saw me under the influence of liquor, either in my own house or anywhere else. With respect to the charge of my having taken my horse into patients' houses, I wish to state that I was not attending any person at Mrs. Fardy's house when I brought the horse in. I have frequently taken my horse into houses, but I never drove him in before me, I always led him in by the bridle. I have no recollection of the occurrence mentioned in Mary Spratt's evidence.

LETTERS referred to in Dr. Hill's Report.

(A.)—From Dr. Biggs to Dr. Hill.

Sir,

Fethard, 26 June 1864.

IN the hurry of business I omitted laying those letters before you, but if it is not now too late I shall feel very much obliged if you will have the kindness to attach them to my defence, for the perusal of the Commissioners.

J. Hill, Medical Inspector.

I am, &c.
(signed) H. T. Biggs, L.D.C.

(B.)—From the Rev. P. B. Weldon to Dr. Biggs.

Dear Doctor Biggs,

Fethard Rectory, 2 June 1864.

As you expressed a desire that I should furnish you with a testimonial of your professional character in your attendance on myself and family, to be placed before the commission of inquiry about to be held this day in Fethard, I willingly state that we have on various occasions experienced much of your professional zeal and skill, as well as personal kindness and attention under trying circumstances, and for which we feel very thankful and grateful to you.

I am, &c.
(signed) P. B. Weldon,
Rector of Fethard, County Wexford.

P. S.—Illness prevents me being able to attend the investigation.

(C.)—From Mr. Robert S. Wilson to Dr. Biggs.

My dear Doctor,

Tintern, 2 June 1864.

I REGRET very much that it is not in my power to leave home to-day, so that I cannot attend at the Dispensary as I had hoped.

I would take this opportunity to state that your professional attendance on my family for nearly eight years has at all times been prompt and skilful; we have frequently been obliged to called upon you at night, and sometimes to require your aid during the whole night; we always found you ready immediately to respond to the most sudden call, and to render valuable services on your arrival.

With kind regards to you and Mrs. Briggs, in which I am joined by Mrs. Wilson,

I remain, &c.
(signed) Robert S. Wilson.

(D.)—From the Rev. John J. Lymberry to Dr. Biggs.

Fethard Castle, County Wexford,
26 June 1864.

My dear Doctor,

As you ask for my testimony in reference to the charge of insobriety recently brought against you, I have much pleasure in being able to declare that having known you for many years, both before and since your appointment to the Dispensary of Fethard, and having met you occasionally at almost every hour of the day, I have never seen nor for a moment suspected you to be in a state of intoxication. I was one of the persons who invited you to be a candidate for the Dispensary when it became vacant, having had a high opinion of your skill and talent as a physician; and I may add, that though you never were employed in my family in a professional capacity (my brother-in-law being our family physician), and I have had consequently less opportunities of judging as to the correctness of the opinion which I had formed, I have very frequently heard both of your skill and attention to those upon whom you were in attendance. Feeling deep regret for the very trying position in which you are at present placed, and the sincerest sympathy with Mrs. Briggs and your little children,

Henry Biggs, Esq., M.D.

I remain, &c.

Vicar of Hook, and Curate of Templeton, and Warden of the Fethard Dispensary.

No. 5.—LETTER from the Commissioners to the Fethard Dispensary Committee.

Poor Law Commission Office, Dublin,
20 July 1864.

Sir,

THE Commissioners for administering the Laws for the Relief of the Poor in Ireland desire to inform the Committee of Management of the Fethard Dispensary district, that in consequence of complaints preferred by the Reverend Mr. Codd, P.P., to the Board of Guardians of New Ross Union, on the 18th May last, against Dr. Biggs, the medical officer of the district, the Commissioners instructed Dr. Hill, medical inspector, to make inquiry, and report to them on the complaints referred to.

The complaints of the Reverend Mr. Codd involved charges of neglect of duty in several instances, and in indulgence in habits of intemperance, whereby he forfeited the confidence of the inhabitants of the district.

The cases of neglect of duty, as set forth on the Guardians' minutes, are,—

1. Neglect in the case of Catherine Doyle, the medical officer having, as alleged, refused to treat the patient's sickness seriously, insisting that she had only eaten too much, though the disease proved to be typhus fever, terminating in death.
2. Neglect in the case of Catherine Hendrick, who it is alleged, died of typhus fever, on the 10th April last, the medical officer having on his first visit informed her friends that she had only a cold, and having subsequently refused to visit her until it suited his own convenience.
3. Neglect of duty in the case of John Synnott, who was suffering from from erysipelas, the medical officer attending him only once, although he stated it was a bad case.

4. Neglect in the case of Thomas Doyle, who was ill in fever for 28 days, the medical officer only visiting him once, though called on again and again.

5. Neglect in the case of John Ryan, residing within a few perches of the medical officer's house, who was ill for seven weeks, and was visited only twice by the medical officer, although he was repeatedly called upon to visit the patient.

6. Neglect in the case of Alice Walsh, of the quay of Fethard, who had the calf of her leg shot off, and whom the medical officer refused to attend unless she were brought to the Dispensary, and then, instead of curing the limb, stating it should be cut off: and,—

7. That the medical officer is given to drink; that he is always in the public-house; that universal want of confidence has been the result; and that he has been guilty of extravagances, completely at enmity with all the official ways of the profession, which confirm the universal impression of the doctor being under the influence of drink.

Dr. Hill accordingly held an inquiry at Fethard, on the 2d and 3d ultimo, into the above charges, and at the termination of the proceedings on the second day the inquiry was adjourned, at the request of the medical officer, and with the concurrence of the Rev. Mr. Codd, to the 23d June, in order to enable the medical officer to prepare his defence, and obtain evidence in the charges preferred against him, some of which it was alleged had reference to cases of which he had not received previous notice.

The inquiry was resumed on the day appointed, and the Commissioners have received, and have had under consideration, the Minutes of Evidence, with Dr. Hill's report thereon.

The Minutes of Evidence are enclosed for the information of the Committee, and the Commissioners desire to state that in their opinion the evidence establishes the fact that Dr. Biggs is not a man of temperate habits, and that he has been guilty of neglect of duty in the several cases complained of.

The Commissioners, with such evidence before them, and taking into account the serious responsibility of permitting Dr. Biggs to have any longer the charge of the sick poor of the district, feel it to be their duty to request the Committee to call upon Dr. Biggs for his resignation of the office of Medical Officer of the Fethard Dispensary District, and to take the necessary proceedings in accordance with Articles 22, 23, and 18 of the Dispensary regulations for the appointment of his successor.

The Commissioners request you will return the Minutes of Evidence when done with.

Poor Law Commission Office, Dublin,
16 September 1864.

Sir,

THE Commissioners for administering the Laws for Relief of the Poor in Ireland acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 12th instant, forwarding answers to queries relating to the reappointment of Dr. Biggs as medical officer of the Fethard Dispensary District, and they desire to state that for the reasons set forth in their letter of the 20th July last, requiring Dr. Biggs's resignation of the office in question, the grounds of which are detailed in the evidence taken at the inquiry lately held by Dr. Hill, the Commissioners must decline to approve Dr. Biggs' reappointment; and they therefore request that the committee of management will proceed to another election of a medical officer for the district.

The Commissioners request that they may be informed of the day fixed for the election.

To Abraham Stephens, Esq.

IN reply to your letter, dated the 16th instant, No. 17,541, 1864, relative to Dr. Biggs,—

(No. 19,182/64.)

RESOLUTION of the Fethard Dispensary Committee, forwarded with the foregoing Letter.

Fethard Dispensary Committee,
7 October 1864.

Resolved,—THE Committee, in re-electing Dr. Biggs, beg to state to the Poor Law Commissioners that, in the investigation into the character and conduct of Dr. Biggs as dispensary doctor of the Fethard District, entered into by Dr. Hill, feel first that it was unprecedented and a hardship to Dr. Biggs to go back for six or seven years in that investigation, particularly as there had been an investigation under Captain Hamilton in 1861.

Secondly, that from the expression of opinion and local knowledge of the members of the Committee who re-elected Dr. Biggs and been residents of portions of the district, and from their knowledge of the witnesses who gave the evidence taken under Dr. Hill, they are convinced that the statements contained in their letter of the 20th July 1864, 13,569, are very much ex parte and overdrawn.

For the above reason the Committee request the Commissioners will reconsider their letter, 16th September 1864, 17,541, and sanction the re-election of Dr. Biggs.

Jacob Powell, Chairman.

Fethard Co. Wexford,

Gentlemen,

In compliance with the request of the Chief Clerk, Mr. Banks, to inform the Commissioners, in case typhus fever should spread in the district of Fethard, I beg to state that yesterday I visited John Whitty, Ramstown, Ned Flynn, and Richard Howlett, Carnivan, all three in fever. Dr. Biggs has been in attendance on Ned Flynn, and on Wednesday last gave him a small porter bottle of wine, with this remark, "that he gave that out of his own pocket, and could give no more. They should get it (the wine) themselves." Ned Flynn got no more wine since. These three cases are all destitute.

Rev. Sir,

THE Commissioners for Administering the Laws for the Relief of the Poor in Ireland, acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 17th instant, in reference to the occurrence of some cases of fever in the Fethard Dispensary District, and to the supply of wine in such cases; and the Commissioners desire to state that the medical officer of a dispensary district has no authority under the Medical Charities Act to order wine for the use of the dispensary patients under his care.

In any case of sudden and urgent necessity, the relieving officer of the district has power under the 7th Section of the Irish Poor Relief Extension Act, to afford provisional relief in such cases, and report the circumstances to the Board of Guardians at their next meeting.

The Commissioners will call the attention of the Board of Guardians to the subject of the spread of fever in the district referred to.

Fethard, County Wexford,
20 October 1864.

Gentlemen,

FEVER still extending in the Fethard Dispensing district.

Widow Furlong, attending one of the fever patients, is a new addition to those I mentioned in my last.

If the Poor Law Commissioners were themselves now in the condition that these fever patients are in, and abandoned altogether as they are in the hour of their extreme danger by those who can and ought to give them medical aid, then the ways of the Circumlocution Office would appear to them in the light of the horrid reality that it is.

I will never write again to the Commissioners on this matter.

To the Poor Law Commissioners, I am, &c.

N.B.—I have just learned from the relieving officer, that the New Ross Board of Guardians did not meet yesterday, on account of the heavy rain, and I beg to ask the Poor Law Commissioners, are the poor in fever to wait till the next meeting of the Board of Guardians before they will get medical relief?

No. 28.—LETTER from Dr. Long to the Commissioners.

Sir,

Arthurstown, 27 October, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to report that in compliance with the request of Committee of Management of the Fethard Dispensary District, I have taken on the medical charge of the Fethard portion thereof, until a medical officer shall be appointed thereto, in the room of Dr. Biggs.

I yesterday visited the only two patients in fever pointed out to me on the dispensary books, John Whitty, of Ramstown, and Edward Flynn, of Caherciveen; they are both proceeding to a favourable convalescence, and the patients and their friends spoke to me in the warmest terms of the attention and care of Dr. Biggs; another fever patient, named Richard Hawlett, of Caherciveen, had been removed to the Union Fever Hospital.

My attention was, however, accidentally called to a house in Caherciveen, in which are two families, Condon and Howlett, all the members of which have either passed, or are now passing through the disease; there are now four individuals viduals actually ill, one of whom will, I think, die. I have had the attention of the relieving officer called to this house, so that the wants of the inmates may be looked to.

From inquiries I have made, I have reason to believe that the disease originated, or was rather spread, from this very house. An old man named Whitty, a mendicant, I believe, and father to one of the women now ill there, having died some weeks since therein, and all the persons since taken ill being proved to have attended the wake, or otherwise held communication with the family.

Enclosure 1 in foregoing Letter.

REPORT from RELIEVING OFFICER.

Gentlemen,

Fethard, County Wexford, 22 October 1864.

DR. BIGGS having ceased to be dispensary medical officer of the Fethard District, in which there are several cases of fever, I called upon Dr. Long on the 21st, to ascertain if he would take charge of the patients; he expressed an unwillingness to do so, and deeming it necessary that the patients should be attended, I issued a ticket to Dr. Biggs, who continued to attend the patients.

On Wednesday the 26th, I brought the matter before the Board of Guardians, who considered Dr. Biggs was not a responsible person, and directed me to employ the services of a medical gentleman, he to report on the state of the district, and attend the patients.

I employed Dr. Howlett, of the Houghton Fever Hospital, New Ross, who, accompanied by me, visited on this day the following persons:—

John Whitty, recovering from fever; Edward Flynn and Patrick Condon, also recovering; Mary, John, and Peter Condon, and Johanna Howlett, in fever; Mary Shea and Catherine Breen, chest affections. Dr. Howlett, with the view to prevent the spread of contagion, recommends that the houses of the poor be whitewashed, and if there are any new cases of fever, that there will be a temporary hospital provided for the accommodation of the patients.

Having learned to-day that Dr. Long was appointed at a special meeting of the committee held on Monday last, to discharge the duties of medical officer in the Fethard District, I intimated to Dr. Howlett that his further services would not be required. I received no application from the widow Breen, to whom your letter refers, but I visited her to-day, and found she was not destitute.

I have, &c.

To the Poor Law Commissioners.

Enclosure 2 in foregoing Letter.

REPORT from Dr. Howlett.

Sir,

New Ross, 28 October 1864.

At the request, and accompanied by relieving officer Berney, I proceeded to Fethard on yesterday, to examine and report on some cases of fever said to be extending in a portion of that district.

I visited John Whitty, of Ramstown, Edward Flynn, of Carinsore, and Patrick Condon, of Great Graigue, all convalescent from fever; John, Mary, and Peter Condon, and Johanna Howlett, in the same house at Great Graigue, in fever; none of the Condons' are bad cases, and two of them are very young; they were unwilling to go to hospital. Johanna Howlett, who case is likely to be bad, I recommended the relieving officer to send to hospital. Mary Shea, of Great Graigue, and Catherine Breen, of the Quay of Fethard, whom I also visited, are suffering from chest diseases.

I understood, upon inquiry, there were no new cases of fever for some days, and therefore I think it likely the epidemic will not extend further, but I recommended the relieving officer to have the houses of the poor, in the locality where the fever existed, whitewashed; they require whitewashing badly.

Should any new cases of fever break out in the district, I would earnestly recommend the opening of some temporary hospital, as I consider the removal of a patient in fever so long a distance as from Fethard to New Ross most injurious.

M. P. Howlett, Physician and Surgeon.

To Giffard Carr, Esq., Clerk of Union.

(No. 20.613/64.)

No. 30.—LETTER from Dr. Biggs to the Commissioners.

Gentlemen,

Fethard, County Wexford, 27 October 1864.

In consequence of three letters having been written to you lately, stating that several cases of fever have broken out in and about Fethard, and that they are left destitute for want of medical aid, and that in reply to those letters you have called on the Committee at once to hold a special meeting, in order to afford medical aid to the patients; and as the result of the meeting was that Dr. Long was to take charge of my portion of the district until another election would take place, which is appointed for the 11th of November,—

I beg to inform you, truthfully, that no such state of things has existed in my portion of the district. We have had two cases of typhus fever maculated, and one of gastric fever; those are all I am aware of. The two cases of typhus I received tickets for, and never missed a single day in my attendance until they got the change and were out of danger.

In the gastric case I was discontinued by Mr. Codd's instrumentality; for this case I had no ticket, but expected remuneration.

On Wednesday, Dr. Long visited the patients that were stated to have been neglected, and received from both themselves and families the most satisfactory accounts of my treatment. They said I treated them with skill and kindness, and saved their lives; to the truth of this Dr. Long can bear testimony.

I would ask you, Gentlemen, if, after proving the utter falsity of Mr. Codd's statement as to the destitution and neglect of those patients, is his word to be relied upon, to the perfect ruin of my character, which, whether professional or otherwise, was never before called in question during the 21 years I have been in practice?

I ask nothing to be taken on my own word, but am satisfied to await the result of the closest inquiries into my conduct from any respectable persons in the district, particularly those who know me best; I mean all who are not under Mr. Codd's influence.

I should have made this appeal before, but was advised to leave myself in the hands of the Committee, who proved their confidence in me by the way in which they acted.

I knew nothing about the meeting on Monday last until I received a letter from Dr. Long saying he was appointed to do my duty.

Had I been present I could have shown the Committee that I was not guilty of the charges contained in the three letters which you received, and therefore they would not have come to the conclusion which they did, namely, appointing Dr. Long to do my duty until the 11th of November, but, of course, when I was not there to defend myself, they were under the same impression that you were, not knowing the total absence of truth in those three letters mentioned above; but this I do not regret, as I consider that the information which I now give may show you more fully than the Committee might have done the real state of the position in which I am placed. I have entries in my book of the exact hours that I paid my daily visits.

It would seem that Mr. Codd was not even satisfied by Dr. Long's doing my duty, as he on Wednesday last went to the Board of Guardians, New Ross, and Thursday they sent down Dr. Howlett who visited round the district accompanied by the relieving officer.

Dr. Howlett is the man who was put forward by Mr. Codd to oppose me, when I was elected to this Dispensary on the 3d December 1855. On that occasion

Mr.

Mr. Codd offered me money to let Dr. Howlett enter in my place; this I refused, and hence the commencement of the bitter enmity with which he has ever since endeavoured to crush me, never allowing me to have any private practice, and from the altar and from all other quarters forbidding any of his people to come to me for advice. It was stated at the investigation that I had lost the confidence of the people; I never possessed the confidence of any one over whom he had power, therefore could not lose it.

On several occasions Mr. Codd proposed my exchanging Dispensaries with Dr. Weldon of Gorey, not personally but through friends, and on the first day of the investigation here, sent a message by Mr. Darling of the National Bank, New Ross, to say that if I would resign he (Mr. Codd) would get me another appointment. I would respectfully beg to call your attention to this, for it must be an evident fact, that if I am unfit to attend to the requirements of the poor in Fethard, I must be equally so in any other Dispensary.

I beg to inclose a letter from P. Hare, Esq., J. P., agent to the Marquess of Ely, and trust it, in addition to what I have stated, will induce you to form a more favourable opinion of the manner in which I have attended to the poor of my district.

There can be no person more really interested in the welfare of the people than Mr. Hare, and as he is frequently in Fethard, no just and reasonable cause of complaint could fail to reach him, and he would be the very first to condemn me if I did not fulfil the duties of my office. I would be guilty of the basest ingratitude if I were to act in any way unworthy of the great kindness and support I have ever received from the Marchioness of Ely and Mr. Hare.

I felt myself bound, in honour to the nobility and gentry who had sufficient confidence in me to re-elect me, to leave nothing undone in the way of duty, but was painfully surprised to find how very differently my conduct had been represented to you.

I am at present in a most fearful position, and my only hope now is that you may be enabled to see, by my explanation of the last charges brought against me by Mr. Codd, how unrelenting and bitter is his determination to pursue myself and family to irretrievable ruin.

Before I conclude, I beg to inform you that since I commenced this letter, which was some days ago, Dr. Long informed me that fever was becoming very prevalent. If any of those cases existed before Dr. Long was appointed to do my duty, and if they were getting out-door relief, the neglect does not rest on me, but on the relieving officer for not sending me tickets or informing me of their illness.

I shall only add, when you have given the matter your kind consideration, that I trust you will have the goodness to restore me to my original position.

I have, &c.,

To the Poor Law Commissioners for Ireland.

LETTER from Mr. Hare to Dr. Biggs.

My dear Sir,

Dunrow, 24 September 1864.

I AM very sorry to find that the Commissioners have refused to sanction your re-appointment to Fethard Dispensary. I regret this for your own sake as well as for the estate generally, for I feel assured it would not be easy to find one better qualified or more skilful in your profession than you have proved yourself to be. It is very hard indeed to find you superseded for some (in my mind) unproved charges, after so many years, and the best of your life spent amongst us. I should hope that on your Memorial to the Commissioners, and which I would recommend you to send up, they would rescind the order they have now given, particularly if it was backed by the Committee, which I am sure it would be if you laid the laid the matter before them.

I am sure Lady Ely will be very sorry to hear of this reverse to you.

Sir,

Duncannon, 11 November 1864.

IN reply to your application calling my attention to a letter of the 20th ultimo from the Rev. Mr. Codd, respecting the attendance given to fever patients in the Fethard portion of the district by Dr. Biggs,

I beg to state that, on my taking on the medical charge of this portion of the district, I visited John Whitty, of Ramstown, and Edward Flynn, of Cahirvien, the only patients in fever recorded on the Dispensary books, and found them in a state of convalescence. The patients and their friends united in expressions of thankfulness to Dr. Biggs for his uniform attention and kindness during their illness.

To A. Stephens, Esq., Secretary.

I have, &c.

Enclosure 3, in foregoing Letter.

LETTER from Dr. Howlett to the Board of Guardians.

New Ross, 28 October 1864.

AT the request and accompanied by Relieving Officer Berney, I proceeded to Fethard on yesterday to examine and report on some cases of fever said to be existing in a portion of that district.

I visited John Whitty, of Ramstown, Edward Flynn, of Carnsore, and Patrick Condon, of Great Graigue, all convalescent from fever; John, Mary, and Peter Condon, and Johanna Howlett, in the same house at Great Graigue, in fever. None of the Condons are bad cases, and two of them are very young; they were unwilling to go to hospital. Johanna Howlett, whose case is likely to be bad, I recommended the relieving officer to send to hospital. Mary Shea, of Great Graigue, and Catherine Breen, of the Quay of Fethard, whom I also visited, are suffering from chest disease.

I understand, upon inquiry, there was no new cases of fever for some days, and therefore think it likely the epidemic will not extend further.

But I recommended the relieving officer to have the houses of the poor in the locality where the fever existed whitewashed: they require whitewashing badly. Should any new cases of fever break out in the district, I would earnestly recommend the opening of some temporary hospital, as I consider the removal of a patient in fever so long a distance as from Fethard to New Ross most injurious.

To Gifford Carr, Esq.,
Clerk of the Union.

Physician and Surgeon.

The Commissioners at the same time request that the Committee of Management will proceed to the election of a medical officer for the district.

No. 35.—LETTER from Dr. Long to the Commissioners.

Sir,

Arthurstown, 22 November 1864.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Poor Law Commissioners, that of the five persons stated to have remained under treatment in my report of the 15th instant,—

One, the little girl who had acted as servant and nurse to a family of five persons stricken down in one house, has died. Three are convalescent, and one is still in a doubtful state.

There has been no new case of fever.

The duties I am endeavouring, at the request of the managing committee of the dispensary, to perform, are most harassing, and far beyond the powers of one person to continue to contend with.

May I therefore hope that the Commissioners will please to direct such measures to be adopted as may relieve me from a prolonged charge of the Fethard portion of the district.

I have, &c.

I should not presume to make this application to you, had not the Committee, on more than one occasion, honoured me with their confidence and support during the trying circumstances in which I have been placed during the last six months.

Enclosure 1 in foregoing Letter.

LETTER from Dr. Long to the Chairman of the Dispensary Committee.

Dear Sir,

Arthurstown, 14 December 1864.

I BEG again to express my hope that the Managing Committee will relieve me from the charge of the Fethard sub-district on the expiration of this week. I would also beg respectfully to suggest that Dr. Biggs be placed in the medical charge of that district until the ultimate decision of the Commissioners shall be known.

On my last interview with the Managing Committee, I claimed as a payment for my services during the fearful outbreak of fever, 4*l.* a week, the sum offered to another medical gentleman. You suggested 3*l.*, and I said that I would leave the matter entirely in the hands of the Committee.

The Secretary, Mr. Stephens, has just informed me that they decided on two scales of payment, 3*l.* a week for the first five weeks, and 2*l.* a week for the last three weeks.

Considering all I have went through, it ought to be at least 3*l.* a week throughout.

You will, however, please to sign an order for my payment on whichever scale is right and just.

Believe me, &c.

To Jacob Powell, Esq., Chairman.

No. 46.—LETTER from the Rev. Richard Kelly, c.c., to the Commissioners.

Templetown, Fethard, Co. Wexford,
15 December 1864.

Gentlemen,

It appears that the Committee of Management for the Fethard District of the New Ross Union are still endeavouring to have Dr. Biggs returned as the medical officer of this same district. In reference thereto, I beg to state that, as Father Codd is now absent, it devolves on me to lay before you a few facts which challenge investigation.

First. The poor of this district, over which Dr. Biggs has charge, have no confidence in him as medical officer. If you entertain any doubt regarding this statement, you can have the signatures of all the poor declaring this to be the fact, and many of them will state in the most emphatic manner that they would sooner have no medical attendance, even in the most malignant cases of fever, than call in Dr. Biggs. This want of confidence has naturally arisen from Dr. Biggs' conduct towards them, as has been proved in the investigation held last summer, and an occurrence which has taken place since this investigation, which renders this want of confidence still more deep-rooted. A man named Martin Whitty took ill of typhus fever about two or three months ago; Dr. Biggs was called on to attend him, and in place of saying that he had fever, and that he should be separated from the family with whom he lodged, the doctor merely said that "he laboured under great debility and coldness of the extremities." This certificate of the doctor can be seen in Relieving Officer Berney's books. What was the consequence of this child-like decision? Eight families became infected with the fever; there were 22 cases of it, and three deaths; and were it not for Dr. Long's very great attention and skill in attending these patients afterwards, no one could tell how it would end, or how many it would have taken away. This fact is so public here, and so well known, that there would be no trouble at all in proving it. Dr. Biggs attended two cases of this fever afterwards, one of them Whitty's son, and another man named Edward Flynn; and he visited them more than once before he told what their complaint was, to the great danger of the community who were frequently going in and out of these houses, not knowing the danger of taking and spreading the contagion. They were told by some common person they had fever before the doctor told it, or ordered any separation to stop the spread of the disease. These facts, combined with the startling events proved in the investigation, have, I say, most naturally created this want of confidence.

Secondly. The re-election of Dr. Biggs on the 14th instant cannot be said to be the free act of the majority of the Committee; it was the fully voluntary act of a few of the leading members, but not of the majority, as you yourselves will find if you investigate the matter. Many of the members are tenants of the Marchioness of Ely; the tenants of the Marchioness of Ely on this estate are tenants-at-will, without lease, without any other security than the land proprietor's will to retain them, or to turn them out, or raise their rents as he pleases; in a word, he is as absolute with regard to his tenants as the Emperor of Russia is over his subjects. Now this being the case, can these tenants be said to give a free vote, when they are called on by Mr. Hare, the Marchioness' agent, to vote for Dr. Biggs, adding, that the Marchioness is very interested in the doctor. It would be the height of imprudence to refuse; they did not refuse, for they knew that it is the general belief here that such a refusal, in similar circumstances, was visited by fearful retribution some years ago on the same estate. Therefore it is for you to consider whether an election in which such means are resorted to can be said to be the free act of the majority of the members, even though all the voters may be on the same side. Again, it may fairly be asked, why the leading members of this Committee, who are now so zealous to thrust Dr. Biggs on the poor against their will, did not attend at the investigation last summer to justify Dr. Biggs, if they bonâ fide believed that he was wronged. The answer is easy; they would have to disclose something, when on their oath, which would do more damage than service to his case, as you may see by reference to the investigation, in the evidence of the Rev. Mr. Weldon, who was brought in by the advice of the Doctor's attorney to give him a character.

You will be pleased, therefore, to investigate these facts before you sanction Dr. Biggs' re-election on 14th instant.

of the Poor Law Administration.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

APRIL 1864 and 1865.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

I. THE METROPOLIS. 1.*Middlesex (part of). 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of).	IV. EASTERN. 14. Essex. 15. Suffolk. 16. Norfolk.	VII. NORTH MIDLAND. 28. Leicester. 29. Rutland. 30. Lincoln. 31. Nottingham. 32. Derby.

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

MAY 1864 and 1865.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

M E M O R A N D U M.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

(Paupers in Lunatic Asylums and Vagrants not included.)

THE present Return completes the Monthly Series for the Quarter ended at Midsummer 1865. The four following Tables are given in continuation of those prefixed to the Monthly publication for March last.

The Tables are—

- 2d. ————— ; the comparative pauperism of the quarter.
- 3d. NORTH MIDLAND, NORTH WESTERN, and YORK DIVISIONS ; the comparative pauperism of the quarter.
- 4th. THE METROPOLIS ; the comparative pauperism of the quarter.

1.—In the 1st Table, each week is compared with its predecessor, shows a decrease in the number of Paupers : 959,903 were the numbers relieved in the last week of March (Lady-day) ; but in the 4th week of June (Midsummer) they had fallen to 853,073, which is a decrease of 106,830, or 11·13 per cent. less at Midsummer than Lady-day.

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

I. THE METROPOLIS. 1.*Middlesex (part of). 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of).	IV. EASTERN. 14. Essex. 15. Suffolk. 16. Norfolk.	VII. NORTH MIDLAND. 28. Leicester. 29. Rutland. 30. Lincoln. 31. Nottingham. 32. Derby.
II. SOUTH EASTERN. 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of). 4. Sussex. 5. Southampton. 6. Berks.	V. SOUTH WESTERN. 17. Wilts. 18. Dorset. 19. Devon. 20. Cornwall. 21. Somerset.	VIII. NORTH WESTERN. 33. Chester. 34. Lancaster.

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

JULY 1864 and 1865.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

M E M O R A N D U M.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

The numbers in the last Table represent complete divisions; as it was impossible, from the manner in which the census of occupations is compiled, to make the same adjustment, in respect of the unreturned parishes, as that effected for the first Table.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

AUGUST 1864 and 1865.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,

M E M O R A N D U M.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

(Paupers in Lunatic Asylums and Vagrants not included.)

THE present Return completes the Monthly Series for the Quarter ended at Michaelmas 1865. The four following Tables are given in continuation of those prefixed to the Monthly publication for June last.

The Tables are—

- 2d. ————— ; the comparative pauperism of the quarter.
- 3d. NORTH MIDLAND, NORTH WESTERN, and YORK DIVISIONS ; the comparative pauperism of the quarter.
- 4th. THE METROPOLIS ; the comparative pauperism of the quarter.

1.—In the 1st Table, each week is compared with the one immediately preceding it; 853,073 were the numbers relieved in the last week of June (Midsummer); but in the 4th week of September (Michaelmas) the numbers were 835,005; which is a decrease of 18,068, or 2·12 per cent. less at Michaelmas than Midsummer.

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

OCTOBER 1864 and 1865.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

I. THE METROPOLIS. 1.*Middlesex (part of). 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of).	IV. EASTERN. 14. Essex. 15. Suffolk. 16. Norfolk.	VII. NORTH MIDLAND. 28. Leicester. 29. Rutland. 30. Lincoln. 31. Nottingham. 32. Derby.
II. SOUTH EASTERN. 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of). 4. Sussex. 5. Southampton. 6. Berks.	V. SOUTH WESTERN. 17. Wilts. 18. Dorset. 19. Devon. 20. Cornwall. 21. Somerset.	VIII. NORTH WESTERN. 33. Chester. 34. Lancaster.
III. SOUTH MIDLAND. 1.*Middlesex (part of). 7. Hertford. 8. Buckingham. 9. Oxford. 10. Northampton. 11. Huntingdon. 12. Bedford. 13. Cambridge.	VI. WEST MIDLAND. 22. Gloucester. 23. Hereford. 24. The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

NOVEMBER 1864 and 1865.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,681 of that number; 205 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1864), the number contained in the two classes was 2·2 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,695 of that number; 191 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

I. THE METROPOLIS. 1.*Middlesex (part of). 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of).	IV. EASTERN. 14. Essex. 15. Suffolk. 16. Norfolk.	VII. NORTH MIDLAND. 28. Leicester. 29. Rutland. 30. Lincoln. 31. Nottingham. 32. Derby.

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

JANUARY 1865 and 1866.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

MEMORANDUM.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1865), the number contained in the two classes was 2·6 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,695 of that number; 191 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

RETURN (A.)—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAUPERISM.

FEBRUARY 1865 and 1866.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
3 July 1865.

M E M O R A N D U M.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1865), the number contained in the two classes was 26 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,695 of that number; 191 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

I. THE METROPOLIS. 1.*Middlesex (part of). 2.*Surrey (part of). 3.*Kent (part of).	IV. EASTERN. 14. Essex. 15. Suffolk. 16. Norfolk.	VII. NORTH MIDLAND. 28. Leicester. 29. Rutland. 30. Lincoln. 31. Nottingham. 32. Derby.

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

* Many places, not heretofore liable to maintain their own poor, are becoming parishes, under the operation of the Extra-parochial Places Act; to what extent this will ultimately increase the number of parishes in England and Wales, cannot at present be stated.

AS TO THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE WEEKLY RETURNS OF PAUPERISM.

THE Returns of the Number of Paupers relieved on the last day of each Week, do not include the "Lunatic Paupers in Asylums and Licensed Houses;" nor, the number of "Vagrants" relieved. These classes form only a small portion of the entire pauperism of the country. According to the latest Returns (1st January 1865), the number contained in the two classes was 2·6 per cent. of the total pauperism.

The Pauper Lunatics in Asylums are not generally subject to variations in number, to the same degree, as the other classes of Paupers; and the number of Vagrants, relieved by the Unions throughout the country, has become too small to need a return so frequently as once a week. These considerations led to the exclusion of the two classes.

There are, at present, 14,886* parishes, inclusive of the Scilly Islands, in England and Wales, maintaining, or liable to maintain their own poor: returns of pauperism are received, weekly, in respect of 14,695 of that number; 191 parishes, incorporated under Gilbert's Act, or still under the provisions of the 43d Elizabeth, make no return of the number of paupers which they relieve.

The Returns are arranged under eleven divisions. The Union-Counties which fall under each are shown in the following view:

The following is a Tabular Statement of the Number of Unions and Parishes;

The Population, according to the Census of 1861, is printed opposite to each Union.

FREDERICK PURDY,
Principal of the Statistical Department.

Poor Law Board, Whitehall, }
7 November 1865. }

No. 2.—REMARKS on the INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS of 1861.

THE publication of the Occupations Census of 1861 has rendered it necessary to effect a change both in the form and the matter of the "Industrial Statistics," which, since 1857, has formed part of the series of Papers periodically laid before Parliament by the Poor Law Board under the title of "Poor Rates and Pauperism."

Industrial Statistics.

An explanation of the classes under which the occupations of the people in 1851 were arranged has prefaced the previous numbers of this Series, and therefore need not be repeated. The classification of 1861 differs in several important particulars from that previously employed by the Commissioners of the Census. The new system can be best explained in the words of its author,* premising that, in Dr. Farr's Report on the "Classification of Producers," the lowest groups, termed "Sub-Orders," are marked with a small Arabic numeral (2); that, these Sub-Orders are gathered up into "Orders," marked by a larger numeral (2); and, that, the Orders are collected into "Classes," marked by a Roman figure (II.)

New classification
of the Occupations
of the People.

CLASSIFICATION OF PRODUCERS.

I.—PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

(Orders 1, 2, 3). Andrici.

"This great class includes those persons who are rendering direct service to mankind, and satisfying their intellectual, moral, and devotional wants.

"The three first Orders consist of civil servants, national or local; the army and navy; the learned professions, with their immediate subordinates; literary and scientific men, as well as artists in the widest sense.

"The first Order (1; 1) includes the members of the Government, and the civil service; (2) the police and other local officers; and (3) the East India and Colonial Service.

"The army (2; 1) and navy (2; 2) are in the service of the Government, and are intimately connected with it in all states. And the clergy in the Established Church, as well as the lawyers in the courts of justice, are in official subordination to the Sovereign; but the great majority of the members of these professions are neither nominated nor paid by the Crown. Like the medical, the literary, and the scientific professions, which were at one time included in the Church, and were supported by its livings, the clergy and lawyers assert their independence, and are, therefore, made separate Sub-orders. So are authors, artists, musicians, actors, teachers, and scientific men. Nearly all the members of the class are paid directly for their services; and these services have no intermediary, being rarely fixed in any commodity. The pay varies in each Order, and it is either proportional to the time (salary, wages, pay), the job (fees), or the quality and quantity of work done (piecework)."

ORDER 1. Persons engaged in the General or Local Government of the Country.

" 2. Persons engaged in the Defence of the Country.

" 3. Persons engaged in the Learned Professions or engaged in Literature, Art, and Science (with their immediate Subordinates).

II.—DOMESTIC CLASS.

(Orders 4 and 5). Oikici.

"The persons in this Class are all employed, if they are employed at all, in houses. Some supply simply service, others with it supply board and lodging (Order 5). They are paid wages (servants), or they are paid for the board and lodging and attendance which they supply. The publicans and beersellers are so much associated and so often confounded with hotel and inn keepers that they are retained in the same Order; although the Order dealing in 'drinks' may claim them. The wife and grown-up children (Order 4) perform at home for the bulk of the population the same duties as the persons in Order 5; but they are not paid directly in money for their services, as they form a part of the natural family; consequently they are distinguished in a separate Order. The very young children properly belong to the non-productive class, and they may there constitute a section; scholars and other children are learning the the elements of their future occupations; but until that occupation is determined they remain in the same Order as their mothers."

ORDER 4. Persons engaged in the Domestic Offices or Duties of Wives, Mothers, Mistresses of Families, Children, Relatives (not otherwise returned).

" 5. Persons engaged in entertaining and performing Personal Offices for Man.

III.—COMMERCIAL CLASS.

(Orders 6 and 7). Agorici.

"The merchant buys any article like tea, abroad, transports it to England, and there sells it. He performs the like operation at home. But as a merchant he effects no change in any of the commodities in which he deals. He buys and sells, and is paid for his services by a varying but rated profit on the goods.

"The carrying order convey commodities, passengers, and messages by land or water, from one place to another. They also warehouse goods. They are paid for their services in fares, freight, and charges which bear some proportion to the weight, bulk, and other properties of the goods. They are all in Order 7, and are closely related to the Order preceding; hence the two Orders (6-7) together may be called the Commercial Class."

ORDER 6. Persons who buy or sell, keep or lend Money, Houses, or Goods of various Kinds.

" 7. Persons engaged in the Conveyance of Men, Animals, Goods, and Messages.

IV.—AGRICULTURAL CLASS.

(Orders 8 and 9). Georgici.

"We now come to a great class which is employed in producing grain, fruit, grass, animals, and other products from the soil. They may be called Growers; for their products grow and are obtained from the living kingdoms of nature. The heads of the Class are paid, not directly for their services, but indirectly in the price of the products which they sell in the market or elsewhere. Thus the price of a quarter of wheat includes the pay of the services of all the persons employed in its production as well as the cost of the tools and machines, including the land, by means of which it is produced and brought to market. Agricultural servants and labourers are paid in wages which the farmers advance. The persons engaged in gardens or woods are in separate Sub-orders.

"The men in Order 9 are employed in catching, training, or dealing in living animals of various kinds. They are the representatives of the hunters of the early stages of civilization, and may be considered an appendage to the previous pastoral and agricultural class, so forming Class IV., which thus includes hunting tribes, the pastoral clans and the agricultural people of the world."

ORDER 8. Persons possessing or working the Land, and engaged in growing Grain, Fruits, Grasses, Animals, and other Products.

" 9. Persons engaged about Animals.

V.—INDUSTRIAL CLASS.

(Orders 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15). Technici.

"This is the Class of makers or artisans. They deal in matter that is either no longer living, or that never lived. They alter the form, texture, or composition of the materials in which they work, so as to produce a great variety of goods, instruments, and machines. Their pay and profits are charged in the price of commodities; the wages of the workmen being advanced by their masters.

"This Class is grouped according to the materials, distinguishing those derived from the three kingdoms of nature.

"The first Order (10.) of the Class includes artisans, making products of various materials, derived from the three kingdoms, such as coaches, ships, workshops, factories, houses, and their furniture or other contents.

"Then follow the persons engaged in the textile fabrics (Order 11.) Wool, silk, cotton, flax, and hemp, are durable, and divisible; their manufacture admits of the sub-division of labour and the application of machinery. The workers in these materials are the essentially manufacturing class. In a Sub-order (4.) are the artisans who convert the manufactured fabrics, and some other matters, into dress.

"Human food, drinks, and stimulants, derived from the animal and vegetable kingdoms, occupy a distinct Order (12.), sub-divided into three Sub-orders.

"Then follow (13.) the persons chiefly or exclusively working and dealing in other animal substances than food (14.), those working and dealing in vegetable substances, and (15.), those working and dealing chiefly in minerals and metals. The first Sub-order of the latter Order (15.) includes the mining population of every kind; the other thirteen Sub-orders include the chief workers in the metals and minerals, beginning with coal and ending with steel."

ORDER 10. Persons engaged in Art and Mechanic Productions, in which Matters of various Kinds are employed in combination.

" 11. Persons working and dealing in the Textile Fabrics and in Dress.

" 12. Persons working and dealing in Food and Drinks.

" 13. Persons working and dealing in Animal Substances.

" 14. Persons working and dealing in Vegetable Substances.

" 15. Persons working and dealing in Minerals.

VI.—INDEFINITE AND NON-PRODUCTIVE CLASS.

(Orders 16, 17, and 18).

"The last Class includes the numbers returned in a vague way, so as to scarcely admit of classification among either the professional, the domestic, the commercial, the agricultural, or the industrial classes.

"It embraces the totally distinct Orders of general labourers (16.), persons of property returned as of no occupation (17.), and persons supported by the community (18.) Many of the persons in Orders 16 and 17 properly belong to the other classes."

ORDER 16. Labourers and others—Branch of Labour undefined.

" 17. Persons of Rank or Property not returned under any Office or Occupation.

" 18. Persons supported by the Community, and of no specified Occupation.

Other Persons of no stated Occupation or Condition.

The relation of the new to the old classification is briefly exhibited by the following Synoptical Table:—

ORDER XVII. Nearly identical with

CLASS XVI. Persons of RANK or PROPERTY not returned under any Office or Occupation.

ORDER XVIII. Nearly identical with

CLASS XVII. Persons supported by the community, and of NO SPECIFIED OCCUPATION.

In considering the occupations of the people in connexion with pauperism, the first class has been rejected, because, although it participates in the general welfare of the country, it experiences the vicissitudes of trade less directly than the others; and the last class, because it is indefinite, and therefore but little adapted to form any useful term of comparison within the field of pauper statistics. The ratio per cent. of persons aged 20 years and upwards ascribable to each of the six classes of occupations for all the Unions has, in the present instance, been computed for every Union by the Commissioners of the Census. The ratios of the four selected classes are printed opposite to the respective Unions in the following pages; at the same time, the special designation of the chief industries pursued in the various Unions according to the Census of 1851, has been retained in the place it originally filled in these Returns.

Ratio of Occupations.

The absolute, as well as the proportional numbers of the adult population under the Six Industrial Classes, are shown in the subjoined Table for each Division and for each Union-County, as published in the third volume of the Census of England and Wales.

No. 1.—REMARKS ON THE RETURNS OF PAUPERISM, 1ST JANUARY 1866.

THE present Publication contains the Tabulated Returns of 655 Unions and Single Parishes under Boards of Guardians; but in respect of two places, namely, the Incorporation of Shrewsbury and that of Montgomery and Pool, the Returns are limited to the number of In-door Paupers relieved.

Pauperism
1st January.

The aggregate population of the 655 places by the Census of 1861, is 19,885,921; and the total number of Paupers on the 1st January 1866, is—

No. 2.—REMARKS on the INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS of 1861.

THE publication of the Occupations Census of 1861 has rendered it necessary to effect a change both in the form and the matter of the "Industrial Statistics," which, since 1857, has formed part of the series of Papers periodically laid before Parliament by the Poor Law Board under the title of "Poor Rates and Pauperism."

Industrial Statistics.

An explanation of the classes under which the occupations of the people in 1851 were arranged has prefaced the previous numbers of this Series, and therefore need not be repeated. The classification of 1861 differs in several important particulars from that previously employed by the Commissioners of the Census. The new system can be best explained in the words of its author,* premising that, in Dr. Farr's Report on the "Classification of Producers," the lowest groups, termed "Sub-Orders," are marked with a small Arabic numeral (2); that, these Sub-Orders are gathered up into "Orders," marked by a larger numeral (2); and, that, the Orders are collected into "Classes," marked by a Roman figure (II.)

New classification
of the Occupations
of the People.

CLASSIFICATION OF PRODUCERS.

I.—PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

(Orders 1, 2, 3). Andrici.

"This great class includes those persons who are rendering direct service to mankind, and satisfying their intellectual, moral, and devotional wants.

"The three first Orders consist of civil servants, national or local; the army and navy; the learned professions, with their immediate subordinates; literary and scientific men, as well as artists in the widest sense.

"The first Order (1; 1) includes the members of the Government, and the civil service; (2) the police and other local officers; and (3) the East India and Colonial Service.

"The army (2; 1) and navy (2; 2) are in the service of the Government, and are intimately connected with it in all states. And the clergy in the Established Church, as well as the lawyers in the courts of justice, are in official subordination to the Sovereign; but the great majority of the members of these professions are neither nominated nor paid by the Crown. Like the medical, the literary, and the scientific professions, which were at one time included in the Church, and were supported by its livings, the clergy and lawyers assert their independence, and are, therefore, made separate Sub-orders. So are authors, artists, musicians, actors, teachers, and scientific men. Nearly all the members of the class are paid directly for their services; and these services have no intermediary, being rarely fixed in any commodity. The pay varies in each Order, and it is either proportional to the time (salary, wages, pay), the job (fees), or the quality and quantity of work done (piecework)."

ORDER 1. Persons engaged in the General or Local Government of the Country.

" 2. Persons engaged in the Defence of the Country.

" 3. Persons engaged in the Learned Professions or engaged in Literature, Art, and Science (with their immediate Subordinates).

II.—DOMESTIC CLASS.

(Orders 4 and 5). Oikici.

"The persons in this Class are all employed, if they are employed at all, in houses. Some supply simply service, others with it supply board and lodging (Order 5). They are paid wages (servants), or they are paid for the board and lodging and attendance which they supply. The publicans and beersellers are so much associated and so often confounded with hotel and inn keepers that they are retained in the same Order; although the Order dealing in 'drinks' may claim them. The wife and grown-up children (Order 4) perform at home for the bulk of the population the same duties as the persons in Order 5; but they are not paid directly in money for their services, as they form a part of the natural family; consequently they are distinguished in a separate Order. The very young children properly belong to the non-productive class, and they may there constitute a section; scholars and other children are learning the the elements of their future occupations; but until that occupation is determined they remain in the same Order as their mothers."

ORDER 4. Persons engaged in the Domestic Offices or Duties of Wives, Mothers, Mistresses of Families, Children, Relatives (not otherwise returned).

„ 5. Persons engaged in entertaining and performing Personal Offices for Man.

III.—COMMERCIAL CLASS.

(Orders 6 and 7). Agorici.

"The merchant buys any article like tea, abroad, transports it to England, and there sells it. He performs the like operation at home. But as a merchant he effects no change in any of the commodities in which he deals. He buys and sells, and is paid for his services by a varying but rated profit on the goods.

"The carrying order convey commodities, passengers, and messages by land or water, from one place to another. They also warehouse goods. They are paid for their services in fares, freight, and charges which bear some proportion to the weight, bulk, and other properties of the goods. They are all in Order 7, and are closely related to the Order preceding; hence the two Orders (6-7) together may be called the Commercial Class."

ORDER 6. Persons who buy or sell, keep or lend Money, Houses, or Goods of various Kinds.

„ 7. Persons engaged in the Conveyance of Men, Animals, Goods, and Messages.

IV.—AGRICULTURAL CLASS.

(Orders 8 and 9). Georgici.

"We now come to a great class which is employed in producing grain, fruit, grass, animals, and other products from the soil. They may be called growers; for their products grow and are obtained from the living kingdoms of nature. The heads of the Class are paid, not directly for their services, but indirectly in the price of the products which they sell in the market or elsewhere. Thus the price of a quarter of wheat includes the pay of the services of all the persons employed in its production as well as the cost of the tools and machines, including the land, by means of which it is produced and brought to market. Agricultural servants and labourers are paid in wages which the farmers advance. The persons engaged in gardens or woods are in separate Sub-orders.

"The men in Order 9 are employed in catching, training, or dealing in living animals of various kinds. They are the representatives of the hunters of the early stages of civilization, and may be considered an appendage to the previous pastoral and agricultural class, so forming Class IV., which thus includes hunting tribes, the pastoral clans and the agricultural people of the world."

ORDER 8. Persons possessing or working the Land, and engaged in growing Grain, Fruits, Grasses, Animals, and other Products.

„ 9. Persons engaged about Animals.

V.—INDUSTRIAL CLASS.

(Orders 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15). Technici.

"This is the Class of makers or artisans. They deal in matter that is either no longer living, or that never lived. They alter the form, texture, or composition of the materials in which they work, so as to produce a great variety of goods, instruments, and machines. Their pay and profits are charged in the price of commodities; the wages of the workmen being advanced by their masters.

"This Class is grouped according to the materials, distinguishing those derived from the three kingdoms of nature.

"The first Order (10.) of the Class includes artisans, making products of various materials, derived from the three kingdoms, such as coaches, ships, workshops, factories, houses, and their furniture or other contents.

"Then follow the persons engaged in the textile fabrics (Order 11.) Wool, silk, cotton, flax, and hemp, are durable, and divisible; their manufacture admits of the sub-division of labour and the application of machinery. The workers in these materials are the essentially manufacturing class. In a Sub-order (4.) are the artisans who convert the manufactured fabrics, and some other matters, into dress.

"Human food, drinks, and stimulants, derived from the animal and vegetable kingdoms, occupy a distinct Order (12.), sub-divided into three Sub-orders.

"Then follow (13.) the persons chiefly or exclusively working and dealing in other animal substances than food (14.), those working and dealing in vegetable substances, and (15.), those working and dealing chiefly in minerals and metals. The first Sub-order of the latter Order (15.) includes the mining population of every kind; the other thirteen Sub-orders include the chief workers in the metals and minerals, beginning with coal and ending with steel."

ORDER 10. Persons engaged in Art and Mechanic Productions, in which Matters of various Kinds are employed in combination.

„ 11. Persons working and dealing in the Textile Fabrics and in Dress.

„ 12. Persons working and dealing in Food and Drinks.

„ 13. Persons working and dealing in Animal Substances.

„ 14. Persons working and dealing in Vegetable Substances.

„ 15. Persons working and dealing in Minerals.

VI.—INDEFINITE AND NON-PRODUCTIVE CLASS.

(Orders 16, 17, and 18).

"The last Class includes the numbers returned in a vague way, so as to scarcely admit of classification among either the professional, the domestic, the commercial, the agricultural, or the industrial classes.

"It embraces the totally distinct Orders of general labourers (16.), persons of property returned as of no occupation (17.), and persons supported by the community (18.) Many of the persons in Orders 16 and 17 properly belong to the other classes."

ORDER 16. Labourers and others—Branch of Labour undefined.

„ 17. Persons of Rank or Property not returned under any Office or Occupation.

„ 18. Persons supported by the Community, and of no specified Occupation.

Other Persons of no stated Occupation or Condition.

The relation of the new to the old classification is briefly exhibited by the following Synoptical Table :—

In considering the occupations of the people in connexion with pauperism, the first class has been rejected, because, although it participates in the general welfare of the country, it experiences the vicissitudes of trade less directly than the others ; and the last class, because it is indefinite, and therefore but little adapted to form any useful term of comparison within the field of pauper statistics. The ratio per cent. of persons aged 20 years and upwards ascribable to each of the six classes of occupations for all the Unions has, in the present instance, been computed for every Union by the Commissioners of the Census. The ratios of the four selected classes are printed opposite to the respective Unions in the following pages ; at the same time, the special designation of the chief industries pursued in the various Unions according to the Census of 1851, has been retained in the place it originally filled in these Returns.

Ratio of Occu-
pations.

The absolute, as well as the proportional numbers of the adult population under the Six Industrial Classes, are shown in the subjoined Table for each Division and for each Union-County, as published in the third volume of the Census of England and Wales.

No. 1.—REMARKS ON THE RETURNS OF IN AND OUT-DOOR RELIEF.

HALF YEAR ENDED MICHAELMAS, 1865.

Number of Unions returned.

THE Returns of In-maintenance and Out-door Relief, printed at pp. 16-59, have been received from 655 Unions and single Parishes under Boards of Guardians; but two of that number, namely, Shrewsbury, and Montgomery and Pool, give the cost of In-maintenance only.

The amount expended in the 655 Unions and Parishes during the half-year was, for—

In-Maintenance.	Out-door Relief.	TOTAL.
£.	£.	£.
541,736	1,574,480	2,116,216

The population of the places referred to was 19,886,104, according to the Census of 1861; the entire population of England and Wales being 20,066,224.

Irremovable Paupers.

The sum expended for Irremovable Paupers, can be shown for 613 Unions and single Parishes only; as the other places keep no separate account of their disbursements in respect of this class of poor.

The 613 Unions and Parishes contain about 17/20ths of the entire population of the Kingdom; the sum expended in them for relief during the half-year was, in respect of—

TOTAL - - - £.	395,510	1,440,298	1,835,808

The cost of relief to the Irremovable Paupers was 36·2 per cent. of the cost of relief to both classes in these Unions during the half-year; but during the half-year ended at Michaelmas 1864, the ratio was 34·9 per cent., so that the proportion has augmented by 1·3 per cent., comparing the former period with the latter.

The State of Employment.

The extent of employment among the labouring population during the periods under consideration, is, to a certain extent, indicated by the official Tables of the declared value of the Imports and Exports of the United Kingdom.

The amounts for the half-years ended at 30th September were, in—

Comparative Expenditure in Divisions.

Comparing the expenditure for In-maintenance and Out-door Relief of the Michaelmas half-year, 1865, with that of 1864, it will be found there was an increase of 12,261 £., or 0·6 per cent.; and, it will be seen, by the next Table, that there was a decrease of expense in two Districts, out of the eleven into which the Kingdom is apportioned.

FREDERICK PURDY,
Principal of the Statistical Department.

No. 2.—REMARKS on the INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS of 1861.

THE publication of the Occupations Census of 1861 has rendered it necessary to effect a change both in the form and the matter of the "Industrial Statistics," which, since 1857, has formed part of the series of Papers periodically laid before Parliament by the Poor Law Board under the title of "Poor Rates and Pauperism."

Industrial Statistics.

An explanation of the classes under which the occupations of the people in 1851 were arranged has prefaced the previous numbers of this Series, and therefore need not be repeated. The classification of 1861 differs in several important particulars from that previously employed by the Commissioners of the Census. The new system can be best explained in the words of its author,* premising that, in Dr. Farr's Report on the "Classification of Producers," the lowest groups, termed "Sub-Orders," are marked with a small Arabic numeral (2); that, these Sub-Orders are gathered up into "Orders," marked by a larger numeral (2); and, that, the Orders are collected into "Classes," marked by a Roman figure (II.)

New classification
of the Occupations
of the People.

CLASSIFICATION OF PRODUCERS.

I.—PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

(Orders 1, 2, 3). Andrici.

"This great class includes those persons who are rendering direct service to mankind, and satisfying their intellectual, moral, and devotional wants.

"The three first Orders consist of civil servants, national or local; the army and navy; the learned professions, with their immediate subordinates; literary and scientific men, as well as artists in the widest sense.

"The first Order (1; 1) includes the members of the Government, and the civil service; (2) the police and other local officers; and (3) the East India and Colonial Service.

"The army (2; 1) and navy (2; 2) are in the service of the Government, and are intimately connected with it in all states. And the clergy in the Established Church, as well as the lawyers in the courts of justice, are in official subordination to the Sovereign; but the great majority of the members of these professions are neither nominated nor paid by the Crown. Like the medical, the literary, and the scientific professions, which were at one time included in the Church, and were supported by its livings, the clergy and lawyers assert their independence, and are, therefore, made separate Sub-orders. So are authors, artists, musicians, actors, teachers, and scientific men. Nearly all the members of the class are paid directly for their services; and these services have no intermediary, being rarely fixed in any commodity. The pay varies in each Order, and it is either proportional to the time (salary, wages, pay), the job (fees), or the quality and quantity of work done (piecework)."

ORDER 1. Persons engaged in the General or Local Government of the Country.

" 2. Persons engaged in the Defence of the Country.

" 3. Persons engaged in the Learned Professions or engaged in Literature, Art, and Science (with their immediate Subordinates).

II.—DOMESTIC CLASS.

(Orders 4 and 5). Oikici.

"The persons in this Class are all employed, if they are employed at all, in houses. Some supply simply service, others with it supply board and lodging (Order 5). They are paid wages (servants), or they are paid for the board and lodging and attendance which they supply. The publicans and beersellers are so much associated and so often confounded with hotel and inn keepers that they are retained in the same Order; although the Order dealing in 'drinks' may claim them. The wife and grown-up children (Order 4) perform at home for the bulk of the population the same duties as the persons in Order 5; but they are not paid directly in money for their services, as they form a part of the natural family; consequently they are distinguished in a separate Order. The very young children properly belong to the non-productive class, and they may there constitute a section; scholars and other children are learning the the elements of their future occupations; but until that occupation is determined they remain in the same Order as their mothers."

ORDER 4. Persons engaged in the Domestic Offices or Duties of Wives, Mothers, Mistresses of Families, Children, Relatives (not otherwise returned).

" 5. Persons engaged in entertaining and performing Personal Offices for Man.

III.—COMMERCIAL CLASS.

(Orders 6 and 7). Agorici.

"The merchant buys any article like tea, abroad, transports it to England, and there sells it. He performs the like operation at home. But as a merchant he effects no change in any of the commodities in which he deals. He buys and sells, and is paid for his services by a varying but rated profit on the goods.

"The carrying order convey commodities, passengers, and messages by land or water, from one place to another. They also warehouse goods. They are paid for their services in fares, freight, and charges which bear some proportion to the weight, bulk, and other properties of the goods. They are all in Order 7, and are closely related to the Order preceding; hence the two Orders (6-7) together may be called the Commercial Class."

ORDER 6. Persons who buy or sell, keep or lend Money, Houses, or Goods of various Kinds.

" 7. Persons engaged in the Conveyance of Men, Animals, Goods, and Messages.

IV.—AGRICULTURAL CLASS.

(Orders 8 and 9). Georgici.

"We now come to a great class which is employed in producing grain, fruit, grass, animals, and other products from the soil. They may be called Growers; for their products grow and are obtained from the living kingdoms of nature. The heads of the Class are paid, not directly for their services, but indirectly in the price of the products which they sell in the market or elsewhere. Thus the price of a quarter of wheat includes the pay of the services of all the persons employed in its production as well as the cost of the tools and machines, including the land, by means of which it is produced and brought to market. Agricultural servants and labourers are paid in wages which the farmers advance. The persons engaged in gardens or woods are in separate Sub-orders.

"The men in Order 9 are employed in catching, training, or dealing in living animals of various kinds. They are the representatives of the hunters of the early stages of civilization, and may be considered an appendage to the previous pastoral and agricultural class, so forming Class IV., which thus includes hunting tribes, the pastoral clans and the agricultural people of the world."

ORDER 8. Persons possessing or working the Land, and engaged in growing Grain, Fruits, Grasses, Animals, and other Products.

" 9. Persons engaged about Animals.

V.—INDUSTRIAL CLASS.

(Orders 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15). Technici.

"This is the Class of makers or artisans. They deal in matter that is either no longer living, or that never lived. They alter the form, texture, or composition of the materials in which they work, so as to produce a great variety of goods, instruments, and machines. Their pay and profits are charged in the price of commodities; the wages of the workmen being advanced by their masters.

"This Class is grouped according to the materials, distinguishing those derived from the three kingdoms of nature.

"The first Order (10.) of the Class includes artisans, making products of various materials, derived from the three kingdoms, such as coaches, ships, workshops, factories, houses, and their furniture or other contents.

"Then follow the persons engaged in the textile fabrics (Order 11.) Wool, silk, cotton, flax, and hemp, are durable, and divisible; their manufacture admits of the sub-division of labour and the application of machinery. The workers in these materials are the essentially manufacturing class. In a Sub-order (4.) are the artisans who convert the manufactured fabrics, and some other matters, into dress.

"Human food, drinks, and stimulants, derived from the animal and vegetable kingdoms, occupy a distinct Order (12.), sub-divided into three Sub-orders.

"Then follow (13.) the persons chiefly or exclusively working and dealing in other animal substances than food (14.), those working and dealing in vegetable substances, and (15.), those working and dealing chiefly in minerals and metals. The first Sub-order of the latter Order (15.) includes the mining population of every kind; the other thirteen Sub-orders include the chief workers in the metals and minerals, beginning with coal and ending with steel."

ORDER 10. Persons engaged in Art and Mechanic Productions, in which Matters of various Kinds are employed in combination.

" 11. Persons working and dealing in the Textile Fabrics and in Dress.

" 12. Persons working and dealing in Food and Drinks.

" 13. Persons working and dealing in Animal Substances.

" 14. Persons working and dealing in Vegetable Substances.

" 15. Persons working and dealing in Minerals.

VI.—INDEFINITE AND NON-PRODUCTIVE CLASS.

(Orders 16, 17, and 18).

"The last Class includes the numbers returned in a vague way, so as to scarcely admit of classification among either the professional, the domestic, the commercial, the agricultural, or the industrial classes.

"It embraces the totally distinct Orders of general labourers (16.), persons of property returned as of no occupation (17.), and persons supported by the community (18.) Many of the persons in Orders 16 and 17 properly belong to the other classes."

ORDER 16. Labourers and others—Branch of Labour undefined.

" 17. Persons of Rank or Property not returned under any Office or Occupation.

" 18. Persons supported by the Community, and of no specified Occupation.

Other Persons of no stated Occupation or Condition.

The relation of the new to the old classification is briefly exhibited by the following Synoptical Table:—

	ORDER XVIII. Nearly identical with	CLASS XVII. See Classification of 1851, against Order XI.

In considering the occupations of the people in connexion with pauperism, the first class has been rejected, because, although it participates in the general welfare of the country, it experiences the vicissitudes of trade less directly than the others; and the last class, because it is indefinite, and therefore but little adapted to form any useful term of comparison within the field of pauper statistics. The ratio per cent. of persons aged 20 years and upwards ascribable to each of the six classes of occupations for all the Unions has, in the present instance, been computed for every Union by the Commissioners of the Census. The ratios of the four selected classes are printed opposite to the respective Unions in the following pages; at the same time, the special designation of the chief industries pursued in the various Unions according to the Census of 1851, has been retained in the place it originally filled in these Returns.

Ratio of Occu-
pations.

The absolute, as well as the proportional numbers of the adult population under the Six Industrial Classes, are shown in the subjoined Table for each Division and for each Union-County, as published in the third volume of the Census of England and Wales.

No 1.—REMARKS ON THE RETURNS OF IN AND OUT-DOOR RELIEF.

HALF YEAR ENDED LADY-DAY, 1866.

Number of Unions returned.

THE Returns of In-maintenance and Out-door Relief, printed at pp. 16-59, have been received from 655 Unions and single Parishes under Boards of Guardians; but two of that number, namely, Shrewsbury, and Montgomery and Pool, give the cost of In-maintenance only.

The amount expended in the 655 Unions and Parishes during the half-year was, for—

In-Maintenance.	Out-door Relief.	TOTAL.
£.	£.	£.
632,233	1,586,806	2,219,039

The population of the places referred to was 19,886,104, according to the Census of 1861; the entire population of England and Wales being 20,066,224.

Irremovable Paupers.

The sum expended for Irremovable Paupers, can be shown for 611 Unions and single Parishes only; as the other places keep no separate account of their disbursements in respect of this class of poor.

The 611 Unions and Parishes contain about 17/20ths of the entire population of the Kingdom; the sum expended in them for relief during the half-year was, in respect of—

TOTAL - - - £.	459,626	1,448,834	1,908,460

The cost of relief to the Irremovable Paupers was 36·5 per cent. of the cost of relief to both classes during the half-year; but during the half-year ended at Lady-day 1865, the ratio was 36·2 per cent., so that the proportion has risen by 0·3 per cent., comparing the former period with the latter.

The extent of employment among the labouring population during the periods under consideration, is, to a certain extent, indicated by the official Tables of the declared value of the Imports and Exports of the United Kingdom.

Comparative Expenditure in Divisions.

Comparing the expenditure for In-maintenance and Out-door Relief of the Lady-day half-year, 1866, with that of 1865, it will be found there was a decrease of 819 £.; and, it will be seen, by the next Table, that there was a decrease of expense in three Divisions, out of the eleven into which the Kingdom is apportioned.

Poor Law Board, }
17 July 1866. }

FREDERICK PURDY,
Principal of the Statistical Department.

No. 2.—REMARKS on the INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS of 1861.

THE publication of the Occupations Census of 1861 has rendered it necessary to effect a change both in the form and the matter of the "Industrial Statistics," which, since 1857, has formed part of the series of Papers periodically laid before Parliament by the Poor Law Board under the title of "Poor Rates and Pauperism."

Industrial Statistics.

An explanation of the classes under which the occupations of the people in 1851 were arranged has prefaced the previous numbers of this Series, and therefore need not be repeated. The classification of 1861 differs in several important particulars from that previously employed by the Commissioners of the Census. The new system can be best explained in the words of its author,* premising that, in Dr. Farr's Report on the "Classification of Producers," the lowest groups, termed "Sub-Orders," are marked with a small Arabic numeral (2); that, these Sub-Orders are gathered up into "Orders," marked by a larger numeral (2); and, that, the Orders are collected into "Classes," marked by a Roman figure (II.)

New classification
of the Occupations
of the People.

CLASSIFICATION OF PRODUCERS.

I.—PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

(Orders 1, 2, 3). Andrici.

"This great class includes those persons who are rendering direct service to mankind, and satisfying their intellectual, moral, and devotional wants.

"The three first Orders consist of civil servants, national or local; the army and navy; the learned professions, with their immediate subordinates; literary and scientific men, as well as artists in the widest sense.

"The first Order (1; 1) includes the members of the Government, and the civil service; (2) the police and other local officers; and (3) the East India and Colonial Service.

"The army (2; 1) and navy (2; 2) are in the service of the Government, and are intimately connected with it in all states. And the clergy in the Established Church, as well as the lawyers in the courts of justice, are in official subordination to the Sovereign; but the great majority of the members of these professions are neither nominated nor paid by the Crown. Like the medical, the literary, and the scientific professions, which were at one time included in the Church, and were supported by its livings, the clergy and lawyers assert their independence, and are, therefore, made separate Sub-orders. So are authors, artists, musicians, actors, teachers, and scientific men. Nearly all the members of the class are paid directly for their services; and these services have no intermediary, being rarely fixed in any commodity. The pay varies in each Order, and it is either proportional to the time (salary, wages, pay), the job (fees), or the quality and quantity of work done (piecework)."

ORDER 1. Persons engaged in the General or Local Government of the Country.

" 2. Persons engaged in the Defence of the Country.

" 3. Persons engaged in the Learned Professions or engaged in Literature, Art, and Science (with their immediate Subordinates).

II.—DOMESTIC CLASS.

(Orders 4 and 5). Oikici.

"The persons in this Class are all employed, if they are employed at all, in houses. Some supply simply service, others with it supply board and lodging (Order 5). They are paid wages (servants), or they are paid for the board and lodging and attendance which they supply. The publicans and beersellers are so much associated and so often confounded with hotel and inn keepers that they are retained in the same Order; although the Order dealing in 'drinks' may claim them. The wife and grown-up children (Order 4) perform at home for the bulk of the population the same duties as the persons in Order 5; but they are not paid directly in money for their services, as they form a part of the natural family; consequently they are distinguished in a separate Order. The very young children properly belong to the non-productive class, and they may there constitute a section; scholars and other children are learning the the elements of their future occupations; but until that occupation is determined they remain in the same Order as their mothers."

ORDER 4. Persons engaged in the Domestic Offices or Duties of Wives, Mothers, Mistresses of Families, Children, Relatives (not otherwise returned).

" 5. Persons engaged in entertaining and performing Personal Offices for Men.

III.—COMMERCIAL CLASS.

(Orders 6 and 7). Agorici.

"The merchant buys any article like tea, abroad, transports it to England, and there sells it. He performs the like operation at home. But as a merchant he effects no change in any of the commodities in which he deals. He buys and sells, and is paid for his services by a varying but rated profit on the goods.

"The carrying order convey commodities, passengers, and messages by land or water, from one place to another. They also warehouse goods. They are paid for their services in fares, freight, and charges which bear some proportion to the weight, bulk, and other properties of the goods. They are all in Order 7, and are closely related to the Order preceding; hence the two Orders (6-7) together may be called the Commercial Class."

ORDER 6. Persons who buy or sell, keep or lend Money, Houses, or Goods of various Kinds.

" 7. Persons engaged in the Conveyance of Men, Animals, Goods, and Messages.

IV.—AGRICULTURAL CLASS.

(Orders 8 and 9). Georgici.

"We now come to a great class which is employed in producing grain, fruit, grass, animals, and other products from the soil. They may be called growers; for their products grow and are obtained from the living kingdoms of nature. The heads of the Class are paid, not directly for their services, but indirectly in the price of the products which they sell in the market or elsewhere. Thus the price of a quarter of wheat includes the pay of the services of all the persons employed in its production as well as the cost of the tools and machines, including the land, by means of which it is produced and brought to market. Agricultural servants and labourers are paid in wages which the farmers advance. The persons engaged in gardens or woods are in separate Sub-orders.

"The men in Order 9 are employed in catching, training, or dealing in living animals of various kinds. They are the representatives of the hunters of the early stages of civilization, and may be considered an appendage to the previous pastoral and agricultural class, so forming Class IV., which thus includes hunting tribes, the pastoral clans and the agricultural people of the world."

ORDER 8. Persons possessing or working the Land, and engaged in growing Grain, Fruits, Grasses, Animals, and other Products.

" 9. Persons engaged about Animals.

V.—INDUSTRIAL CLASS.

(Orders 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15). Technici.

"This is the Class of makers or artisans. They deal in matter that is either no longer living, or that never lived. They alter the form, texture, or composition of the materials in which they work, so as to produce a great variety of goods, instruments, and machines. Their pay and profits are charged in the price of commodities; the wages of the workmen being advanced by their masters.

"This Class is grouped according to the materials, distinguishing those derived from the three kingdoms of nature.

"The first Order (10.) of the Class includes artisans, making products of various materials, derived from the three kingdoms, such as coaches, ships, workshops, factories, houses, and their furniture or other contents.

"Then follow the persons engaged in the textile fabrics (Order 11.) Wool, silk, cotton, flax, and hemp, are durable, and divisible; their manufacture admits of the sub-division of labour and the application of machinery. The workers in these materials are the essentially manufacturing class. In a Sub-order (4.) are the artisans who convert the manufactured fabrics, and some other matters, into dress.

"Human food, drinks, and stimulants, derived from the animal and vegetable kingdoms, occupy a distinct Order (12.), sub-divided into three Sub-orders.

"Then follow (13.) the persons chiefly or exclusively working and dealing in other animal substances than food (14.), those working and dealing in vegetable substances, and (15.), those working and dealing chiefly in minerals and metals. The first Sub-order of the latter Order (15.) includes the mining population of every kind; the other thirteen Sub-orders include the chief workers in the metals and minerals, beginning with coal and ending with steel."

ORDER 10. Persons engaged in Art and Mechanic Productions, in which Matters of various Kinds are employed in combination.

" 11. Persons working and dealing in the Textile Fabrics and in Dress.

" 12. Persons working and dealing in Food and Drinks.

" 13. Persons working and dealing in Animal Substances.

" 14. Persons working and dealing in Vegetable Substances.

" 15. Persons working and dealing in Minerals.

VI.—INDEFINITE AND NON-PRODUCTIVE CLASS.

(Orders 16, 17, and 18).

"The last Class includes the numbers returned in a vague way, so as to scarcely admit of classification among either the professional, the domestic, the commercial, the agricultural, or the industrial classes.

"It embraces the totally distinct Orders of general labourers (16.), persons of property returned as of no occupation (17.), and persons supported by the community (18.) Many of the persons in Orders 16 and 17 properly belong to the other classes."

ORDER 16. Labourers and others—Branch of Labour undefined.

" 17. Persons of Rank or Property not returned under any Office or Occupation.

" 18. Persons supported by the Community, and of no specified Occupation.

Other Persons of no stated Occupation or Condition.

The relation of the new to the old classification is briefly exhibited by the following Synoptical Table:—

Ratio of Occupations.

The absolute, as well as the proportional numbers of the adult population under the Six Industrial Classes, are shown in the subjoined Table for each Division and for each Union-County, as published in the third volume of the Census of England and Wales.

No. 1.—REMARKS ON THE ANNUAL POOR RATE RETURN,
YEAR ENDED LADY-DAY 1865.

THE present Return is the fifty-eighth annual publication of the Poor Rate Returns. Series of Returns.

This Return is, in respect of the number of places which it represents, the most complete of the Statistics of Pauperism; for in it the sums levied and expended as Poor Rates throughout the whole of England and Wales are exhibited; excepting only some small Parishes, which are stated by the overseers either to have “No poor,” or to make no levy “yet.” Extent of the Return.

The Net Annual Value of Property assessed to the Poor’s Rate has been returned in respect of four parochial years. “The Gross Estimated Rental” is also returned for the last of these years. Valuations to the Poor Rates.

* The details of these Valuations will be found in the following Papers, printed by order of the House of Commons; viz., No. 235, “Real Property,” 1842; No. 735, “Poor Rates, &c.” 1848; No. 539, “Poor Rate Assessment,” 1852; No. 63, “Population, &c. of Parishes,” 1858; and No. 251, “Population, Inhabited Houses, &c.,” 1859. The “Gross Estimated Rental,” and the “Rateable Value” for each Parish is given with respect to the Parochial year 1856 in No. 491, “Poor Rates, &c.,” Session 1861.

Large proportion of Expenditure for purposes unconnected with Relief.

The greater part of the expenditure, described in the last Table as for "All other Purposes," consists of payments which have no connexion whatever with relief to the poor. This part of the Poor-Rate Expenditure, which is foreign to the object originally contemplated in the enactment of the rate, has greatly increased since the passing of the Poor Law Amendment Act in 1834, in consequence of the imposition of new and the augmentation of old charges. The next Table exhibits, separately, all the charges referred to, so far as the returns permit. The heaviest item is the disbursement in respect of the "County, Hundred, or Borough Rate, or Police Rate." The payments made by the Overseers to Highway Boards are shown as separate items for the first time in the Return of the present year.

Considerably

Considerably more than one-third of the whole Poor Rates now levied are expended for purposes unconnected with Relief to the Poor. Besides the charges here shown, there are some others paid out of the Rate, but which are not discriminated, such as the expenses incurred for sanitary purposes, and the cost of providing new Burial Grounds.

The principal heads of expenditure, which constitute "Relief to the Poor," are shown in the next Table, together with the average price of wheat for the three years.

Medical Relief

The column in the Return, which succeeds that of "Total Expenditure," contains the expense of Medical Relief only; this consists of salaries to the Medical Officers; extra Medical Fees paid to them under the General Consolidated Order; also, the cost (if any) of medical and surgical appliances, and drugs. The sums in this column are not additional to those given in Column 4, § A, of the Return; because, the various items of Medical Relief are included in sub-columns (e) or (f), as forming a portion of the "Relief to the Poor:" the "Medical Relief" is printed separately, as indicating an important and special subject of Poor Law administration.

The sums expended under this head during the last three years were as follows:

For 1862-63	-	-	-	-	-	£. 248,286
1863-64	-	-	-	-	-	253,204
1864-65	-	-	-	-	-	259,833

School Districts.

Twenty-six Unions and single Parishes, chiefly Metropolitan, are combined into School Districts; the contributions which each Union makes to the Treasurer of its district are included in the other items of relief, and, as such, entered in the proper columns of the Poor Rate Return; this, then, then, like the Medical Relief, does not represent any additional expenditure, having been heretofore properly included in the amounts printed opposite to the respective Unions concerned.

The sums contributed to the School Districts; and, the sums expended by each district during the parochial year 1864-65, are contained in the subjoined Table :—

Poor Law Board, }
4 May 1866. }

FREDERICK PURDY,
Principal of the Statistical Department.

REMARKS on the INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS of 1861.

THE publication of the Occupations Census of 1861 has rendered it necessary to effect a change both in the form and the matter of the "Industrial Statistics," which, since 1857, has formed part of the series of Papers periodically laid before Parliament by the Poor Law Board under the title of "Poor Rates and Pauperism."

Industrial Statistics.

An explanation of the classes under which the occupations of the people in 1851 were arranged has prefaced the previous numbers of this Series, and therefore need not be repeated. The classification of 1861 differs in several important particulars from that previously employed by the Commissioners of the Census. The new system can be best explained in the words of its author,* premising that, in Dr. Farr's Report on the "Classification of Producers," the lowest groups, termed "Sub-Orders," are marked with a small Arabic numeral (2); that, these Sub-Orders are gathered up into "Orders," marked by a larger numeral (2); and, that, the Orders are collected into "Classes," marked by a Roman figure (II.)

New classification
of the Occupations
of the People.

CLASSIFICATION OF PRODUCERS.

I.—PROFESSIONAL CLASS.

(Orders 1, 2, 3). Andrici.

"This great class includes those persons who are rendering direct service to mankind, and satisfying their intellectual, moral, and devotional wants.

"The three first Orders consist of civil servants, national or local; the army and navy; the learned professions, with their immediate subordinates; literary and scientific men, as well as artists in the widest sense.

"The first Order (1; 1) includes the members of the Government, and the civil service; (2) the police and other local officers; and (3) the East India and Colonial Service.

"The army (2; 1) and navy (2; 2) are in the service of the Government, and are intimately connected with it in all states. And the clergy in the Established Church, as well as the lawyers in the courts of justice, are in official subordination to the Sovereign; but the great majority of the members of these professions are neither nominated nor paid by the Crown. Like the medical, the literary, and the scientific professions, which were at one time included in the Church, and were supported by its livings, the clergy and lawyers assert their independence, and are, therefore, made separate Sub-orders. So are authors, artists, musicians, actors, teachers, and scientific men. Nearly all the members of the class are paid directly for their services; and these services have no intermediary, being rarely fixed in any commodity. The pay varies in each Order, and it is either proportional to the time (salary, wages, pay), the job (fees), or the quality and quantity of work done (piecework)."

ORDER 1. Persons engaged in the General or Local Government of the Country.

" 2. Persons engaged in the Defence of the Country.

" 3. Persons engaged in the Learned Professions or engaged in Literature, Art, and Science (with their immediate Subordinates).

II.—DOMESTIC CLASS.

(Orders 4 and 5). Oikici.

"The persons in this Class are all employed, if they are employed at all, in houses. Some supply simply service, others with it supply board and lodging (Order 5). They are paid wages (servants), or they are paid for the board and lodging and attendance which they supply. The publicans and beersellers are so much associated and so often confounded with hotel and inn keepers that they are retained in the same Order; although the Order dealing in 'drinks' may claim them. The wife and grown-up children (Order 4) perform at home for the bulk of the population the same duties as the persons in Order 5; but they are not paid directly in money for their services, as they form a part of the natural family; consequently they are distinguished in a separate Order. The very young children properly belong to the non-productive class, and they may there constitute a section; scholars and other children are learning the the elements of their future occupations; but until that occupation is determined they remain in the same Order as their mothers."

ORDER 4. Persons engaged in the Domestic Offices or Duties of Wives, Mothers, Mistresses of Families, Children, Relatives (not otherwise returned).

" 5. Persons engaged in entertaining and performing Personal Offices for Men.

III.—COMMERCIAL CLASS.

(Orders 6 and 7). Agorici.

"The merchant buys any article like tea, abroad, transports it to England, and there sells it. He performs the like operation at home. But as a merchant he effects no change in any of the commodities in which he deals. He buys and sells, and is paid for his services by a varying but rated profit on the goods.

"The carrying order convey commodities, passengers, and messages by land or water, from one place to another. They also warehouse goods. They are paid for their services in fares, freight, and charges which bear some proportion to the weight, bulk, and other properties of the goods. They are all in Order 7, and are closely related to the Order preceding; hence the two Orders (6-7) together may be called the Commercial Class."

ORDER 6. Persons who buy or sell, keep or lend Money, Houses, or Goods of various Kinds.

" 7. Persons engaged in the Conveyance of Men, Animals, Goods, and Messages.

IV.—AGRICULTURAL CLASS.

(Orders 8 and 9). Georgici.

"We now come to a great class which is employed in producing grain, fruit, grass, animals, and other products from the soil. They may be called growers; for their products grow and are obtained from the living kingdoms of nature. The heads of the Class are paid, not directly for their services, but indirectly in the price of the products which they sell in the market or elsewhere. Thus the price of a quarter of wheat includes the pay of the services of all the persons employed in its production as well as the cost of the tools and machines, including the land, by means of which it is produced and brought to market. Agricultural servants and labourers are paid in wages which the farmers advance. The persons engaged in gardens or woods are in separate Sub-orders.

"The men in Order 9 are employed in catching, training, or dealing in living animals of various kinds. They are the representatives of the hunters of the early stages of civilization, and may be considered an appendage to the previous pastoral and agricultural class, so forming Class IV., which thus includes hunting tribes, the pastoral clans and the agricultural people of the world."

ORDER 8. Persons possessing or working the Land, and engaged in growing Grain, Fruits, Grasses, Animals, and other Products.

" 9. Persons engaged about Animals.

V.—INDUSTRIAL CLASS.

(Orders 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15). Technici.

"This is the Class of makers or artisans. They deal in matter that is either no longer living, or that never lived. They alter the form, texture, or composition of the materials in which they work, so as to produce a great variety of goods, instruments, and machines. Their pay and profits are charged in the price of commodities; the wages of the workmen being advanced by their masters.

"This Class is grouped according to the materials, distinguishing those derived from the three kingdoms of nature.

"The first Order (10.) of the Class includes artisans, making products of various materials, derived from the three kingdoms, such as coaches, ships, workshops, factories, houses, and their furniture or other contents.

"Then follow the persons engaged in the textile fabrics (Order 11.) Wool, silk, cotton, flax, and hemp, are durable, and divisible; their manufacture admits of the sub-division of labour and the application of machinery. The workers in these materials are the essentially manufacturing class. In a Sub-order (4.) are the artisans who convert the manufactured fabrics, and some other matters, into dress.

"Human food, drinks, and stimulants, derived from the animal and vegetable kingdoms, occupy a distinct Order (12.), sub-divided into three Sub-orders.

"Then follow (13.) the persons chiefly or exclusively working and dealing in other animal substances than food (14.), those working and dealing in vegetable substances, and (15.), those working and dealing chiefly in minerals and metals. The first Sub-order of the latter Order (15.) includes the mining population of every kind; the other thirteen Sub-orders include the chief workers in the metals and minerals, beginning with coal and ending with steel."

ORDER 10. Persons engaged in Art and Mechanic Productions, in which Matters of various Kinds are employed in combination.

" 11. Persons working and dealing in the Textile Fabrics and in Dress.

" 12. Persons working and dealing in Food and Drinks.

" 13. Persons working and dealing in Animal Substances.

" 14. Persons working and dealing in Vegetable Substances.

" 15. Persons working and dealing in Minerals.

VI.—INDEFINITE AND NON-PRODUCTIVE CLASS.

(Orders 16, 17, and 18).

"The last Class includes the numbers returned in a vague way, so as to scarcely admit of classification among either the professional, the domestic, the commercial, the agricultural, or the industrial classes.

"It embraces the totally distinct Orders of general labourers (16.), persons of property returned as of no occupation (17.), and persons supported by the community (18.) Many of the persons in Orders 16 and 17 properly belong to the other classes."

ORDER 16. Labourers and others—Branch of Labour undefined.

" 17. Persons of Rank or Property not returned under any Office or Occupation.

" 18. Persons supported by the Community, and of no specified Occupation.

Other Persons of no stated Occupation or Condition.

The relation of the new to the old classification is briefly exhibited by the following Synoptical Table:—

Ratio of Occupations.

The absolute, as well as the proportional numbers of the adult population under the Six Industrial Classes, are shown in the subjoined Table for each Division and for each Union-County, as published in the third volume of the Census of England and Wales.

No. 1.—REMARKS ON THE RETURN OF INSANE PAUPERS,

CHARGEABLE ON THE 1ST JANUARY 1866.

Source of Information.

1. THE Statistics of Pauper Insanity contained in this Paper have been compiled from the lists of "Lunatics, Idiots, and other Persons of Unsound Mind," who were chargeable to the Poor Rates on the 1st January 1866. These lists are made out annually by the Clerks to the Guardians, and transmitted to the Poor Law Board, in compliance with the 16 & 17 Vict. c. 97, s. 64, and in the form prescribed by Schedule D. of that Statute.

Places returned.

2. Returns have been received from 663* Unions and Single Parishes under Boards of Guardians. The Population of these places, according to the Census of 1861, is 19,967,690. The number of Insane Paupers chargeable to the Poor Rates in those places on that day is shown below :—

Number of Paupers on 1st January 1866.	Whereof were Insane Paupers.	Namely :—
		Lunatics.	Idiots.
924,813†	39,827	29,617	10,210

Thus 4·3 per cent. of the Pauperism, on the 1st January last, is ascribable to Insanity ; the Lunatics being 3·2 per cent., and the Idiots 1·1 per cent.

Proportion of the Sexes.
